Aid Railroads Now, Roosevelt Decides

HOLDS CONGRESS IN SESSION FOR EMERGENCY ACT

Seeks to Expedite Reorganizations.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 10.—President Roosevelt suddenly decided today that something ought to be done immediately concerning the crisis confronting the railroad industry. To that end an emergency legislative program was proposed by the administration, and congress is to be kept in session until it is passed. Thus there is no hope of adjournment before the end of next week, congressional leaders declared.

Although Mr. Roosevelt declared at his press conference this morning that he had no emergency railway program and would make no recommendations to congress for action at this session, the administration's immediate legislative proposals became known this afternoon after a White House conference attended by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee.

Would Aid Reorganizations.

The program calls for amendments to Section 77 of the bankruptcy act to facilitate and expedite railway reorganizations, for the purpose of scaling down their capital structure and reducing their fixed charges, and for passage of the pending bill liberalizing RFC loans to the railroads for the purchase of equipment. Under this bill, the RFC would make loans from the lending authority of 1½ billion dollars recently approved, without certification by the interstate commerce commission as to whether the borrower is in need of reorganization. The I. C. C., however, would have to pass on the loans with respect to the ability of the borrowers to meet their fixed charges.

The purpose of the proposed amendment to the bankruptcy act, it is understood, is to shorten the time in which railroads can go through reorganizations for the purpose of reducing their fixed charges.

Broadens Courts' Powers.

Amendment would increase the power of the federal district courts, subject to the approval of the I. C. C., to limit the capital valuation of a railroad emerging from receivership. It would restrict the power exercised under present law by minority creditors to obstruct a composition approved by a majority of the creditors.

The administration program is regarded as temporary, emergency legislation which in no sense will solve the long range problems of the railroads. During the recess of congress Senator Wheeler's committee and the I. C. C. will make a study of the broader problems for possible action at the next session.

Senator Wheeler refused to discuss the administration's proposals after his conference with the President, but said:

"The indications are that there will be a minor railroad program and I don't see how congress can adjourn before the end of next week. There is a very serious problem existing in the railroad industry at present and, in my opinion, something ought to be done to cut down materially the fixed charges of the railroads.

Wheeler Willing to Aid.

"I'm willing to do everything I can to assist in the passage of such legislation as can be passed at this session of congress. Of course, no comprehensive program can be passed in such a short time. Some of these railroads get into receivership and never get out. Something ought to be done at this session to speed up reorganization."

President Roosevelt's sudden decision to urge emergency railroad legislation at this session surprised his leaders in congress. Only this morning Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky told RFC Chairman Jones that such legislation simply wasn't "on the ticket." Last January Senator Wheeler and other congressional leaders wanted to call a conference representing railway management and labor and the proper federal authorities for the purpose of devising a long range program. Mr.

HEADS OF C. I. O. ARE REDS, SAYS HAGUE ON STAND

Some Congressmen, Too, He Asserts.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Newark, N. J., June 10.—[Special.]—Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, telling his own story of the "civil rights" controversy raging over his acts, charged on the witness stand in federal court today that leaders of the Committee for Industrial Organization and several congressmen are communists.

The Jersey City mayor's dramatic appearance before a courtroom crowd, which greeted his story with mixed applause and hisses, was occasioned by the injunction suit brought by the C. I. O. and the Aberican Civil Liberties union.

The two groups are seeking to restrain the Hague administration from allegedly denying them their constitutional rights of free speech and assembly.

Democratic Vice Chairman.

Hague, mayor of Jersey City for twenty-four years, political boss of the state and vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, was called to the stand by his foes and asked to describe his stand on communism and the C. I. O.

"The heads of the C. I. O., outside of John L. Lewis, are noted communists, as the records will show," asserted the mayor. "If they take the stand, we will prove that." Then the mayor went on to link Representative Jerry O'Connell [D., Mont.], John T. Bernard [F. L., Minn.] and other congressional radicals with communism. The two congressmen he named are C. I. O. allies. O'Connell was escorted from a Jersey City field recently when he attempted to address a throng.

Hague declared the two congressmen went to "Red Spain" last summer with their expenses paid by the communist party. They have delivered speeches before communist gatherings and participated in Red parades, the mayor charged.

Defends Jersey City Police.

Actions of the Jersey City police during the last year in breaking up meetings, halting the distribution of circulars, and "deporting" various persons out of town were defended by Mayor Hague on the grounds of the un-American complexion of his adversaries. He narrated step by step his story of a communist-C. I. O. plea to invade Jersey City and measures taken to avoid rioting and bloodshed.

His face grim and his step firm, Hague marched into the courtroom of Judge William Clark shortly after the noon recess. A wave of hand clapping swept over the throng and an undertone of hissing also was heard. The mayor was conservatively dressed in a double breasted blue business suit, white shirt, and blue tie. A small pearl pin adorned the cravat.

The mayor displayed a poker face during the two hour firing of questions by Spaulding Frazer, Newark law school dean and one of the galaxy of C. I. O. lawyers. Only occasionally did Hague betray his pent up inner feelings when the going was hot and then he would twist a large ring on the little finger of his left hand.

Praises Ward Leaders.

Frazer, touching on Hague's political past and present, asked him about his ward leaders in Jersey City. The mayor named each one of the twelve, telling them off on his fingers, explaining that the one called "Doc" had never practiced medicine and that only one of the number, a contractor, did not hold office.

"I can truthfully say I raised every one of them," said Hague proudly.

"You're the head of all of them?" inquired Frazer.

"Yes, but I don't know for how long," replied Hague with a laugh. "They turn you out pretty fast in some cities."

Communism, however, was the principal issue at stake during the examination. Hague gave a lengthly interpretation of his view on communism, waving aside attempts of counsel to halt him at various points.

"Communism is followed by a man,

Jurors Debate in Deadlock on Crabb Slaying

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pekin, Ill., June 11 [Saturday].—[Special.]—A Circuit court jury debating the fate of James Warren Crabb II., on trial on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of his young wife, apparently was deadlocked early today. Shortly after midnight, after hours of deliberation without reaching a verdict, Judge Joseph E. Daily ordered the jury locked up in its private quarters with instructions that it must remain there until at least 9 a. m. today. Then the judge departed for his home in Peoria.

The jurors are in a room which contains bare beds but no bedclothing. Under the judge's orders they will not be permitted to use the beds unless a verdict is reached. If they do arrive at a verdict it will be ready in court at 9 a. m. today.

Betters Predict Hung Jury.

The case, in which Crabb, young son of a Delavan banker, is charged with the fatal shooting on March 1 of Betty Collison Crabb, his bride of a few weeks, went to the jury at 3 p. m. [Chicago time] yesterday.

For several days Tazewell county betters have been offering odds that there would be a hung jury, and today there were indications that the jury would perform that way.

Young Crabb's bride was mysteriously shot two hours after they returned to the home of his father, Willis W. Crabb, Delavan's reigning banker, after the first party Delavan frends gave in celebration of their wedding.

Members of the Crabb family insisted from the first Betty killed herself. The state charged James fired the fatal shot. The penalty for manslaughter is an indeterminate sentence of from one to fourteen years in the state penitentiary.

Confident of Acquittal.

While the jury deliberated, the defendant, a handsome youth of 22, waited with relatives in the office of the county judge, W. J. Reardon, one of the defense attorneys. Included in the group were his father, his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Monroe Crabb of Bloomington; his stepmother, Mrs. Catherine Steinmetz Crabb, his father's young second wife, and his aunt, Mrs. H. Leonard Jones of Champaign. They were confident of acquittal.

The jury Thursday heard five hours of closing arguments. Yesterday the third member of the Crabb defense counsel Attorney Reardon, summed up the defense. This was, succinctly, that Betty Crabb committed suicide. As for James Crabb's confession Reardon insisted James made it when doped.

In Special Prosecutor John E. Cassidy's rebuttal argument, a compact résumé of the state's case, devoid of emotion or histrionics, he referred to Reardon's argument as a "crude, cruel appeal to prejudice."

The prosecutor also argued that Betty could not have held the gun without leaving powder burns on her hands. The evidence showed no burns were present.

FRENCH ARMY ORDERS TO MOBILIZE IN CZECH CRISIS ARE REVEALED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 11 [Saturday].—Following Premier Edouard Daladier's statement before the financial committee of the chamber of deputies today that "three weeks ago we were only a few inches from war," Le Jour Echo de Paris reveals this morning that on the critical day of May 21 a mobilization order was drafted and remained on the premier's desk all day, to be signed if news of violation of the Czechoslovak frontier arrived.

In this connection the writer, Jacques Bardoux, gives details of France's military situation, stating that Germany's increased number of active divisions is to be balanced by new French units now in process of formation. According to Bardoux, "holes" in the French Maginot line have been closed and air defenses along the line have been built up, making impossible the transportation of German troops over the Maginot line by air. Bardoux also reveals that motorization of French troops has been completed.

A Foxy Customer Snaps a Bit but Soon Quiets Down

A red fox strolled into the office of the South Loop garage, 318 Federal street, yesterday afternoon and snapped at attendants. When a representative of the Illinois Humane society arrived to remove it, the fox snapped at him. But when taken to the society headquarters at 1145 South Wabash avenue, the fox quieted down and soon nestled its head on the back of a fat tabby cat and went sound to sleep.

$385 a Month Too Little; Pair Turn Hijackers

For two years Mrs. Claribel Mandelkow, 25 years old, has earned $85 a month as senior stenographer for the Works Progress administration. Her husband, Ray, 33, has earned an average of $300 a month as a tilesetter.

Mrs. Claribel Mandelkow.

Although they have no children, this was not enough money, Mrs. Mandelkow told detectives yesterday. She confessed that on April 24 she drove the family car while her husband and a companion robbed a freight truck driver of $600 cash and $400 worth of liquor and cigarets.

Associations Brings Arrest.

The Mandelkows were arrested as the result of their association with a second band of truck bandits. By coincidence the second gang last Tuesday night held up Oney L. Howell of 4042 31st street, a chauffeur for the Lake City Distributing company, the man the Mandelkows had robbed on April 24. But on Tuesday night Howell's truck was being trailed by members of the police cartage detail.

Police arrested Merrill Anthony of 15830 Turlington avenue, Harvey, and George Young, 3641 South Union avenue. Soon after these two were questioned, the Mandelkows were arrested in their smartly furnished apartment at 15635 Lexington avenue, Harvey, by Detectives Bernard M. Kennedy, John McGarvey and Ben Rossner.

Accused of Giving Warning.

In addition to the robberies, Mrs. Mandelkow is accused of warning two members of the Anthony and Young gang that police were seeking them. She admitted this was true. The WPA office where she was employed is in the rear of the Harvey police station.

She said her position with the WPA was not a relief job; that she was a hired civilian worker. Mrs. Mandelkow also offered to repay the money taken from Howell in the truck holdup if police would release her.

Her husband, according to police records, served six months in the Bridewell in 1932 for burglary.

Michigan Girl Answers Fake Ad; Disappears

Adrian, Mich., June 10.—[Special.]—Federal men and Michigan state police conducted a nation-wide search tonight for a school teacher, 22 years old, who disappeared mysteriously three days ago.

Lucile Wilson.

The missing girl is Miss Lucile Wilson, a brunette, who has taught school for three years at nearby Clark's Lake. She has helped support her widowed mother and was respected as a typical home girl.

She was last seen with Henry C. Vandercook, Adrian businessman, who had advertised in an Adrian newspaper for a governess. Vandercook, who has no children, is also missing. He left a brief note for his wife, to whom he has been married twelve years, stating he was going to New York.

Advertises for Young Woman.

Known incidents in the bizarre case began a week ago. Last Friday Vandercook, who is 35 years old, placed an advertisment in the newspaper for "a young woman to care for a 4 year old child on a six weeks' trip to Los Angeles." Vandercook has lived here five years, owns two houses in town, and has bought, worked, and sold several farms.

He explained, however, that he was inserting the ad for a friend, Cornelius Miller, a farmer living on R. F. D. 3. Postoffice officials said no such man was listed in their records.

More than 100 young women applied for the job. Among them was Miss Wilson, who had returned from her school two weeks ago to her home at Jasper, Mich., a village six miles south of here.

Calls for Her Alone.

Vandercook interviewed her, among half a dozen other girls. He visited her home Monday afternoon and told her he planned to take his wife and child to California and possibly to Hawaii. Miss Wilson was enthusiastic over the prospect and said she would go. Vandercook told her he would return that night and bring his wife to talk over their plans in detail.

He didn't come back until the following night, however, and then he was alone. He told Lucile he was ready to start the trip; that his wife was at home with her clothes packed.

Miss Wilson's brother, one of six brothers and sisters, helped put her bags in Vandercook's car. Miss Wilson had $20 and her pay check with her. They drove away and no one has been found who saw them afterward.

State police were called into the case by the report of one of the other applicants for the job. She said Vandercook took her on a twenty mile ride through the countryside saying he wanted her to meet his wife. At her insistence, she said, he brought her home unharmed but in leaving told her: "You're lucky to be alive! Dead people don't talk!"

DESCRIBES HOW HE STOLE CHILD FROM BEDROOM

Body of Boy Thrown Into Thicket.

Miami, Fla., June 10.—[Special.]—Franklin Pierce McCall, husky young truck driver, today confessed that he kidnaped and killed Jimmy Cash, 5 years old.

"The case is now completely solved," said J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-men. "We have a full confession from the sole participant in the crime."

McCall, who is 21 years old and the son of a minister, said he prepared the first of three ransom notes a week in advance and on the night of May 28 entered Jimmy's bedroom in Princeton, 25 miles south of here, and abducted the boy.

Discovers Boy Is Dead.

He said he tied one handkerchief over the boy's eyes and another over his mouth and hurried to his own nearby home. There, he said, he found that Jimmy was dead, but did not know what had killed him. Picking up the body, he ran to a woods and tossed it in a thicket.

Then, he said, he returned home and took the first ransom note to the home of a Negro, calling to him to deliver it to the boy's father, James B. Cash Sr., a prosperous business man.

After this, according to McCall's confession, he went home again and read a magazine until he heard the cries of alarm telling of the boy's disappearance. He joined the search and proceeded with the ransom negotiations, collecting the $10,000 paid by Jimmy's father.

All Except $5 Is Recovered.

McCall had previously confessed that he wrote the ransom notes and collected the ransom [all except $5 of which was recovered by federal agents], but had denied that he had a part in the kidnaping or was responsible for the boy's death. He was arrested last week, but his detention was not made known until the boy's body was found yesterday.

The inconspicuous but potent rôle taken by Princeton townsfolk in bringing McCall to justice became known today. In the absence of concrete clews, it was their homely knowledge of the youth, who had lived among them, that wove a net of circumstantial evidence about him.

The moment the crime was known the entire community became a detective force. Neighbors trained their faculties of observation—so acute in small towns, where every one's business is an open book—on each other in a minute scrutiny for something that might lead to a clew.

Recall Taste for Luxuries.

They recalled the young trucker's yearning for luxuries beyond his financial reach. They remembered he had played with little Jimmy and they reasoned that a kidnaper who was known to his victim might resort to murder. They knew that the abductor's tactics indicated a thorough knowledge of their countryside.

Countless expressions and attitudes of McCall's were noted as he brazenly helped the posse hunt for the kidnaper.

The amateur sleuths' theory was supported when the youth gave himself away by calling attention to the third note, which was delivered to a filling station operated by W. B. Cash, an uncle of the kidnaped boy. McCall said he had found the note, which was wadded into a ball, after it apparently had been slipped under the door. Neighbors wondered how a note which was wadded up could have been slipped under a door.

Hoover Summarizes Confession.

In a long statement Mr. Hoover summarized the eight page written confession he said McCall had made.

"He made a complete confession," said Hoover, "admitting the kidnaping of the child, the boy's death, and the placement of the body, as well as his previous statements that he wrote the ransom notes, collected the ransom, hid the money, and disposed of the shoebox in which it was paid.

"He said he wanted the [illegible] things of life for his wife and himself and had been unable to get steady employment. About two weeks before the kidnaping he conceived the idea of kidnaping some person in or about Prinecton. The reason he chose some one there was that he had no automobile and so had to handle the abduction within a narrow area.

Three Victims Considered.

"He considered three persons to kidnap:

"First was the son of Charles Chambers, whom he eliminated because the child always was with its mother and was never seen alone.

"Second was the son of Charles E. Eichenberger, who was finally eliminated because he was nearly McCall's age and was away at school.

Cuts Wire on Door.

"He prepared the first ransom note a week before the kidnaping and about 9:30 o'clock the night of May 28 entered Cash's store, asked Mrs. Cash the time, and saw that both Mr. and Mrs. Cash were there.

"He came out of the store and went to the back of the Cash residence and with a knife which we have recovered cut the wire and put his hand through and unlocked the door. He went to the bedroom and placed two handkerchiefs over the Cash boy's face, one over his eyes and one over his mouth.

"He lifted the child and walked out of the door through which he had entered and carried the child to his home, about half a mile away, taking about fifteen minutes to walk it.

"McCall said the child did not move at any time he held it and he thought it was asleep. He entered his home through a rear door and said he tried to awaken the child but found it to be dead.

Throws Body in Thicket.

"He picked it up and ran and then walked through the woods to the rear of his home to the glade which he knew and where there was thick underbrush. He had been hunting in that section. He threw the body into the thicket of scrub palmetto and ran back home, about half a mile away.

"McCall went inside and got the first ransom note and went to the home of a Negro, John Emanuel. He disguised his voice and called to Emanuel to take the note he was slipping under his door to J. B. Cash.

"When he saw Emanuel was not carrying out his instructions, he returned home and wrote the second note on a piece of wrapping paper removed from a piece of meat in the icebox. This he placed on the door of R. A. Cash's home. R. A. Cash is an uncle of the kidnaped boy.

Ransom Note Found.

"Back home, McCall read a magazine until a searching party arrived to search John Emanuel's home. He joined them and rode to Princeton. There the note on the uncle's door directed them back to the Negro's house, and McCall rode back with the party.

"That time the first ransom note was found. All went back to Princeton, where J. B. Cash read the note. McCall and others rode around until 3 a. m. Sunday searching.

"Sunday and Monday he also rode with the searchers. Monday he composed the third note and took it to the filling station of W. B. Cash, another uncle. There he asked for gaso line and himself discovered the note he had written.

Picks Up $10,000 Ransom.

"McCall then took up his position at the spot where the ransom was paid and waited for Cash to drive by. When he saw the father's car approach he flashed two flashes at him with a hand flashlight, the prearranged signal. Mr. Cash got out of his car, put the money beside the road, and returned home over the route outlined in the note.

"With the ransom, as directed, Cash delivered the three ransom notes.

"McCall went over, picked up the money and went to an orange grove and extracted $250. He then went to a spot in front of John Chambers' home and threw the money over a wall. He walked into the woods and tore up the shoebox, which was hidden under a rock. Then he went to a third place and burned the three ransom notes.

"We have photostatic copies of the three notes to be used as evidence. I cannot make their contents public.

Hides Cash in Oil Drum.

"The $250 McCall took to the home of Hal McLaughlin and stuffed it into an oil drum. McLaughlin had no connection with the case and was not aware of this act. McCall expected to get the money again easily without arousing suspicion.

"The kidnaper then took part in all the searches for the missing child.

"He said he did not plan to kill the child, but planned to hide it in an old house, where there are some very thick Australian pines, about five miles from Princeton.

"McCall made an extremely unjust and untruthful statement involving R. A. Cash. He said R. A. Cash was his accomplice, conceived the kidnap idea, carried out the actual kidnaping, and disposed of the body. We questioned Mr. Cash and completely exonerated him.

"McCall's later and complete confession, which was finished this morning after an all night interrogation, also eliminates Mr. Cash from any part in the crime.

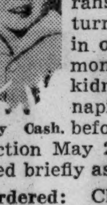
"We will now turn over all of our evidence to George A. Worley, state's attorney. Our agents are available as witnesses. Our facilities are available during the trial."

Move for Quick Prosecution.

Worley made arrangements tonight to speed McCall's trial. He said he would seek warrants charging murder and kidnaping, both capital offenses in Florida. A special grand jury will convene Monday to consider the indictments.

Funeral services for Jimmy were conducted today at Homestead, Fla., seven miles southwest of Princeton. Only relatives attended. The boy's mother was near collapse and was attended by a trained nurse. The body was brought to Miami for burial.

Four Children Slain by Kidnapers



Jimmy Cash.

Of seven children kidnaped in the last six years four have been murdered, including James B. Cash Jr. of Princeton, Fla., whose slayer confessed yesterday. Three others who were held for ransom have been returned to their families, in one case without any money being paid to the kidnapers. The six kidnapings which occurred before the Cash boy's abduction May 28 in Florida are described briefly as follows:

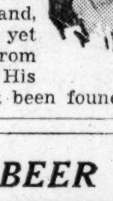
Murdered: Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., 20 months old, first son of Col. Charles and Anne Morrow Lindbergh, kidnaped the night of March 1, 1932, between 8:30 and 10 o'clock from his crib in Hopewell, N. J. Ransom of $50,000 paid April 2 through Dr. John [Jafsie] Condon in the Bronx, N. Y. Body found May 12 five miles from Hopewell. Bruno Richard Hauptman convicted of his murder and electrocuted April 3, 1936.

Returned: Margaret [Peggy] McMath, 10 years old, daughter of Neil McMath, a Detroit steel man, and Mrs. McMath, kidnaped May 2, 1933, from school in Harwichport, Mass. Held bound in cellar under shack in nearby cranberry bog for two days. Father paid $60,000 ransom and Peggy was returned. Kenneth Buck, an unemployed chauffeur, confessed the crime and was convicted and sentenced to twenty-five years' imprisonment.

Returned: June Robles, 6 years old, daughter of Fernando Robles, a Tucson, Ariz., cattle magnate, and Mrs. Robles, kidnaped April 25, 1934, as she walked home from school. Held chained in sheet iron pit for nineteen days. Demand for $15,000 ransom never met, despite nightly attempts by Robles to contact abductors. No one ever was brought to trial, G-men having announced on May 1, 1935, that her kidnaper was dead.

Returned: George Weyerhaeuser, 9 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weyerhaeuser Jr., members of a timber family, kidnaped May 24, 1935, during noon recess at school. Kept shackled in auto truck by day and in a closet at night. Father paid $200,000 ransom on May 30 and the boy was released early June 1 in a forest near Issaquah, Wash. Harmon M. Waley and his wife, Margaret, and later William Mahan, convicted of crime.

Murdered: Charles Mattson, 10 years old, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Mattson of Tacoma, Wash., kidnaped Dec. 27, 1936, by man who forced way into Mattson home while the doctor and his wife visited neighbors. Body found on Jan. 11, 1937, in snow covered woods nearby, beaten to death. Kidnaper demanded $28,000 ransom, which Dr. Mattson tried vainly to pay. Kidnaper never apprehended.



Murdered: Peter Levine, 12 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Levine, New Rochelle, N. Y., kidnaped Feb. 24, 1938, from school. Ransom of $60,000 demanded by abductor never paid, despite Levine's attempts to establish contact. Boy's body found May 29 on shore at Davenport Neck, Long Island, N. Y. Kidnaper not yet N. Y., about a mile from the victim's home. His kidnaper has not yet been found.

DEFENSE RESTS CASE IN POLICE SCANDAL TRIAL

CRIMINAL COURT.

James Smiley Sims, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; James Brown, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge John C. Lewe.

Leroy Johnson, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph Sabath.

The defense completed its case yesterday in the Town Hall police scandal trial of two detectives, Earl Flannery and Frank McKune, charged before a jury in Criminal court with allowing two prisoners to escape. Judge Rudolph Desort then adjourned the hearing until Monday, when the case is expected to go to the jury.

The two policemen are accused of permitting the escape of Kenneth Peters and a man known as Tip, a fugitive, after they had been turned over to the detectives by two uniformed policemen for supposedly trying to rob a handbook employé last Feb. 26. This was denied by both Flannery and McKune, who under questioning of their attorney, James M. Burke, asserted there had been no robbery.

Earlier in the day the trial was thrown into a momentary uproar when Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford charged the two detectives had planned the robbery and supplied the guns. After legal arguments he was permitted to put the questions to Peters, who, however, denied the charges. For his part in the scandal Peters was tried last month, convicted of assault, and fined $100.

His Ravings Lead Police to Body of Slain Girl

Wildwood, N. J., June 10.—[Special.]—From the ravings of Millard Garrison, 62 years old, who seemed to be mentally unbalanced because of something he had seen, police today gleaned information which led them to the discovery of the nude body of a young woman, slain by a shotgun blast. State police found Garrison's house locked and broke in. They found on Garrison's bed the body of Miss Hannah Bateman, 26 years old, of Dividing Creek, near here. Garrison was held in Cape May. No charge was made against him immediately.

FOAM ON BEER NOW BECOMES A CIVIC ISSUE

The foam on Chicago's beer has become a subject for investigation by City Sealer James O'Keefe and the department of weights and measures. Beer drinkers have been complaining that their schooners, steins, and glasses are adorned with too much collar and not enough beer.

Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] thinks something ought to be done about it and he introduced a resolution in the city council asking that the inquiry be authorized. Ald. Rowan hastens to explain that righteous tavern keepers frown on sharp practices, but that there are others who do not.

RAPIST INDICTED FOR SLAYING OF THREE WOMEN

Three indictments charging Robert Nixon, Negro rapist, with murder were returned yesterday before Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington in the Criminal court. Judge Harrington set the hearing for Monday.

Nixon's victims were Mrs. Florence Johnson, wife of a city fireman; Mrs. Florence Castle Thompson of the Devonshire hotel, and Miss Anne Kuchta, a student nurse at the Chicago hospital. All were beaten to death. Earl Hicks, colored accomplice of Nixon, was named in an indictment as an accessory to the murder of Mrs. Johnson.

Nixon also confessed that he raped Miss Virginia Austin in a loop hotel last August, but he later repudiated the confession. Thomas McCall, an engraver, was convicted of the rape and was sentenced to prison for five years. The state's attorney's office said yesterday it is attempting to find Miss Austin in an effort to clear up the case. She travels about the country as a doll demonstrator.

SEEK 12½ MILLION FROM PWA FOR 4 PROJECTS IN CITY

Airport Terminal, New Bridges Head List.

A 12½ million dollar program of public works for Chicago, including a new terminal building at Chicago airport, new bridges, and a giant new convention hall at Navy pier, to be paid for from federal funds, will be sought as the result of action by the city council yesterday.

The council authorized Commissioner of Public Works Oscar Hewitt to negotiate for Public Works administration loans and grants to the amount of $12,485,000.

The public works program, if PWA grants and loans can be obtained, will be fourfold. First is the proposed building program at the airport to cost $1,760,000. The new terminal will be a necessity when the field is expanded to twice its present size.

Will Remodel Navy Pier.

The second project is for the remodeling of Navy pier, where it is planned to roof over an areaway between two wings and provide for a huge convention hall at the outer end of the pier. This would cost about 1½ millions. The city will seek a loan from the PWA of 55 per cent of the cost, amounting to $825,000, and a grant for the rest. The Association of Commerce, Commissioner Hewitt told the council, has promised its efforts to get sixteen of the largest conventions in the country to make use of it. Rentals on the pier would be pledged to repay the loan.

The third project is the building of a warehouse and dock at Calumet harbor at a cost of $600,000. The city's share of the cost, $330,000, as above, would be obtained by loan from the PWA and repaid by rentals and dock fees.

Seek Eight New Bridges.

The fourth project includes eight new bridges, painting of other bridges, and the repair of roadways on viaducts throughout the city at a total cost of $8,625,000. The new bridges and the amounts of their cost to be financed from the two sources are:

Bridges.	PWA Loan to Be Repaid by City.	PWA Grant.
South Canal street	$726,000	$594,000
Fullerton avenue	275,000	225,000
Dearborn street	875,000	715,000
Diversey boulevard	577,500	472,500
North Halsted street	550,000	450,000
Harrison street	660,000	540,000
East 130th street	368,500	301,500
Van Buren street	632,500	517,500
Total	$4,664,500	$3,315,500

Cost of bridge painting was estimated at $100,000, of which the city will provide, by loan, $55,000, and the PWA, by grant, $45,000. Expense of repairs to roadways on viaducts was placed at $45,000 of which the city's share will be $24,750 and the PWA's $20,250.

JUDGE HALTS USE OF NEW POLICE PROMOTION LIST

Judge Donald S. McKinlay in Superior court yesterday issued an order restraining the civil service commission, the mayor, and the police commissioner from promoting any of the policemen named on the sergeants' list issued Thursday. The order is effective until next Friday, when there will be a hearing on the mandamus suit brought by 120 policemen on an old eligible list voided in 1933.

Attorney John S. Flannery, representing the 120 policemen, contended that the old list remains in effect because sixty men named on it were promoted to sergeancies in 1935 by court order. Some of those then promoted, he said, were in lower positions on the old list than the 120 policemen he represents.

Attorney Flannery said several of the policemen who are plaintifs in his mandamus action are among the first 150 names on the new list. He maintains, nevertheless, that they should have been promoted to vacancies that existed long ago.

Maj. John R. Brooke II., held at Fort Benning, Ga., while slaying of wife, Elizabeth, is investigated.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Mrs. Elizabeth Brooke, wife of army officer, who was beaten to death.

Fort Benning, Ga., June 10.—(AP)—An early solution of the death of Mrs. John R. Brooke Jr. was predicted today, but no details of the case against her husband, an army major, were made public.

Maj. Brooke, 44 years old, grandson and namesake of the late Maj. Gen. John Rutter Brooke, remained in military custody in the post hospital, where he has been since shortly after his wife's body was found in their home Wednesday. He was visited today by his parents, Col. William Brooke, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Brooke, of San Antonio, Tex.

Funeral plans were being made for Mrs. Brooke today while two federal bureau of investigation agents made a minute survey of the home where military police say the mother of three children was fatally beaten.

United States District Attorney Hoyt Davis predicted a quick solution of the case but joined military police and G-men in refusing to reveal grounds on which Maj. Brooke is held.

COP LEAPS FROM AUTO TO BULLDOG RUNAWAY HORSE

"Tally Ho!" shouted pedestrians as a milk horse, drawing an empty wagon, broke into a gallop at Broadway and Grace street yesterday morning. Sergt. William Hoban leaped on the running board of a passing automobile and gave chase.

At the leasurely pace of ten miles an hour permitted by the rush hour trafic, Sergt. Hoban followed the horse north, passing two stop signs, into Sheridan road. At Montrose avenue, Sergt. Hoban drew alongside, jumped on the horse's neck, and pulled him to a stop.

Sergt. Hoban rode a pony as a boy.

2 OUT OF EACH 13, 19,700,000, GET GOVERNMENT AID

Number on Relief Rolls Hits New High.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 10.—[Special.]—Two out of every thirteen persons in the United States received some form of public aid—federal, state or local—during the month of March, the social security board reported today.

The board estimated that the number of unduplicated households receiving one or more types of public relief during March was 6,300,000. The total number of persons sharing such aid was estimated at 19,700,000 out of the total estimated population of 130 million.

The number of households and the number of persons receiving aid was higher in March than in any month for which estimates have been made. Prior to July, 1936, the government made no estimate of unduplicated receivers of relief.

Previous High 18 Million.

The March total of persons exceeded the previous high, that established last February, by 1,300,000 persons. Before February the previous highs were 18 million persons in January and March of 1937. The low in the period since estimates have been made was set in September, 1937, when 13,200,000 persons were receiving relief.

The board estimated that 10 billion 500 million dollars was spent by state, local, and federal governments on public assistance from January, 1933, to March, 1938. The highest monthly expenditure was reached last March when approximately 241 million dollars was paid out for all public relief, exclusive of administrative expense and the expense of transient care.

The next highest outlay was in March, 1936, when the total was 237 million dollars. The low was 168 million dollars in September, 1937.

WPA Gets Largest Sum.

Of the 241 million dollars expended in March, the largest amount for any one program, 130 millions, more than 50 per cent of the total, was expended as earnings to persons employed under the Works Progress program. Approximately 50 millions went for general relief, 41 millions for old age assistance, aid to dependent children, and aid to the blind; 18½ millions for the CCC, and almost 3 millions in subsistence payments to farmers.

The Social Security board statistics related only to the receipt of direct or indirect relief. It did not embrace farm subsidy payments, the federal housing program, and other planned economy measures under which a large number of persons share in the federal easy money program.

The March expenditure of 130 million dollars in the WPA is the second largest monthly expenditure in the history of the organization. In March, 1936, before a heavy share of the relief load was returned to the states, WPA spent 151½ million dollars in a single month.

The large amount spent last month was held to be a direct result of the continued business recession. It was pointed out that compared to March, 1937, it has been estimated that 2,450,000 fewer people were at work on nonagricultural jobs, excluding the WPA and other federal and state emergency projects.

Award Tribune Medals to Evanston High Cadets

Three gold and two silver CHICAGO TRIBUNE medals will be awarded tonight to five outstanding R. O. T. C. cadets of the Evanston Township High school unit, instructed by Capt. Paul Jones. The presentation will be made at an annual military dinner in the high school dining room.

LINDBERGHS SETTLE ON TINY ISLE, GUARDED BY HIGH, ROCKY CLIFFS

TREGUIER, France, June 10.—(AP)—The high, rocky cliffs and isolation of tiny Illiec Island, the new home of the Lindberghs just off the Brittany coast of France, is regarded by authorities as sufficient for their protection. Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh and their two sons were established there today.

The police chief seemed offended that the question of the Lindbergh's safety was raised. "In the first place," he said, "there are no gangsters in Brittany; in the second place, if there were, they would be in jail."

Illiec Island is large enough only for its castle, formerly the home of the opera singer, Mme. Adelina Patti. It is near St. Gildas Island, home of Dr. Alexis Carrel, American scientist with whom Lindbergh developed the mechanical heart.

MOVES TO BRING CASH WINDFALL TO COUNTY TILL

The first move to bring Cook county a windfall of several million dollars was taken yesterday when Chief Justice Grover C. Niemeyer of the Superior court ordered Victor Schlaeger, clerk of the court, to turn over to County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer approximately $45,000 held in trust for legal claimants in 288 funds. All the funds have been held for longer than the seven years required by law. Some of them date as far back as 1872.

The court also will issue an order directing the treasurer to make the money available for public use by transferring it to the county's general fund. Similar proceedings will be undertaken in the Circuit and Probate courts, which also have been holding large escrow funds for a longer period than the law requires. Treasurer Lindheimer has asked all the courts to issue orders transferring the money to the county's general balance.

Baby Giant Panda Arrives by Air for New York Zoo

Newark, N. J., June 10.—[Special.]—New York's own baby giant panda, named Pandora, arrived on a United Air Lines plane at Newark airport this afternoon in the arms of Dean Sage Jr., a trustee of the Bronx zoo. With him in the plane was W. Reid Blair, director of the zoo. To a layman the chief characteristic of New York's panda is wooliness. Her color is brown, but she has black eyes and black legs.

RAINFALL HITS ALL-TIME HIGH; CROPS PERILED

28 Day Period Wettest in Chicago History.

Heavy rain that fell in the Chicago area yesterday morning and afternoon raised the average fall since May 14 to an all-time record. The 28 day period was the wettest in the history of the Chicago weather bureau, according to C. A. Donnel, chief forecaster.

And while there is no letup in sight for today, according to Donnel's assistant, J. R. Lloyd, official forecaster for the month, the prediction for tomorrow is generally fair.

Northern Illinois Crops Periled.

The prospect of additional thundershowers, which will affect a wide area around Chicago, was received with deep concern by farmers in most counties in the northern half of Illinois. Since the middle of May this area has been battered by heavy and almost continuous rains.

The corn crop already is imperiled, several farmers replied to a survey conducted yesterday afternoon. Cultivation has been blocked, water is standing in the fields, and the weeds are getting their greatest start in years.

Mr. Donnel's researches into records of the Chicago weather bureau showed that 18 of the last 28 days have had a rainfall of .01 of an inch or more. The next wettest period was of 16 days in 1889, with 1880 and 1927 tied for third place with 15 days each of equal dampness.

Only 7 Days Entirely Dry.

In addition to 18 days on which .01 of an inch was recorded there were three days when a trace of rain was shown and only seven that were entirely dry. The total rainfall for the first ten days of June has been 3.16 inches, compared to a normal fall of 1.18.

The fall which began late Thursday night and continued until after dawn yesterday was recorded as .33 of an inch by the meter atop the University of Chicago and as .70 of an inch in the loop. The heavy afternoon rain measured .40 of an inch at the university and .60 of an inch in the loop.

5 KNOWN DEAD, MANY HURT IN TEXAS TORNADO

Clyde, Tex., June 10.—(AP)—A tornado struck this tiny west Texas town tonight, killing at least five persons, leaving possibly several more dead, and injuring 30 or 40 others.

Twenty-five homes were destroyed as the storm cut a swath 200 yards wide across the town of 700 inhabitants. All available ambulances, nurses, doctors, and fire equipment were rushed here from Abilene, 15 miles west.

The storm tore off one side of the high school building. The grammar school was being used as a hospital. The twister caught a freight train, scattering box cars along the right of way.

"The tornado could be seen for miles," said a resident. "It was eight miles from town when I spotted it. It was so solid it looked like a vast column of brown earth sitting in a big brown bowl."

Storm Strikes Alton.

Alton, Ill., June 10.—(AP)—A severe windstorm broke transmission lines tonight and darkened the Alton business district, uprooted trees and telephone poles but caused no property damage.

PRESIDENT NETS CHUCKLE OUT OF WPA FISH STORY

President Roosevelt heard yesterday in Washington about the plight of Chicago net fishermen who were denied the right to cast their nets in the lake off Jackson park.

As told to the President at his press conference, the story was that workers on a nearby WPA project would stop and lean on their shovels to watch every time a net was pulled in. This idleness so annoyed city officials that they revoked the fishermen's permits. And now, the story concluded, the fishermen may have to go on the WPA.

The Chicago park district replied later in the day that the fishermen never had had permits; the district doesn't issue any. And the fishing was stopped because the fishermen pulled up pegs that held guide lines marking out WPA projects under construction.

But this explanation didn't reach the ears of President Roosevelt, who chuckled and said his sympathies were all with the fishermen.

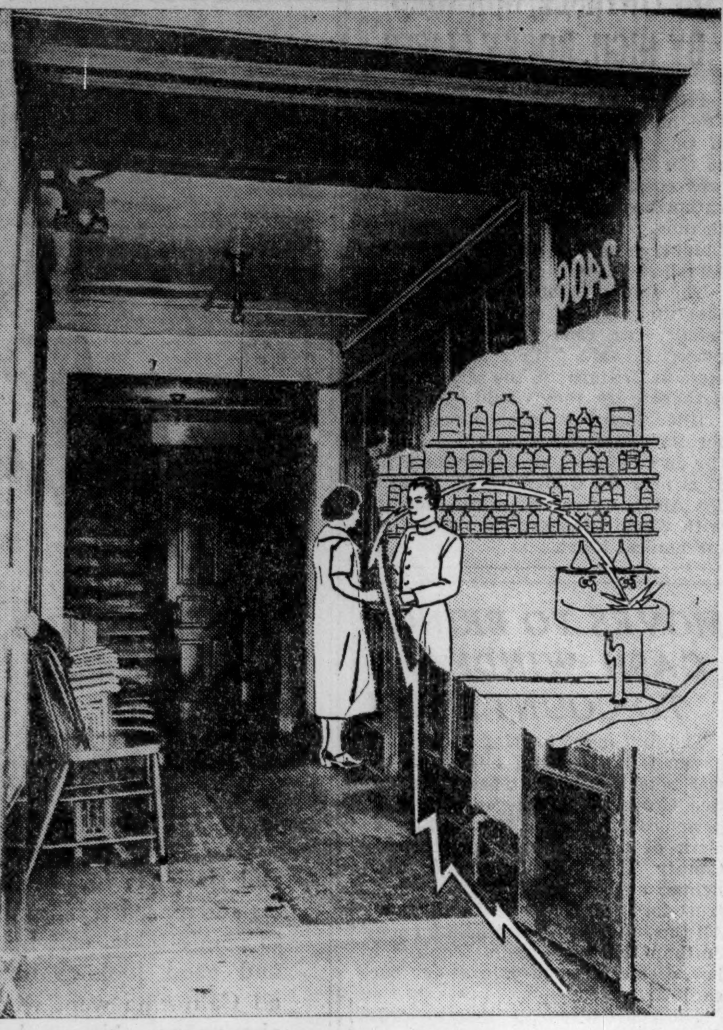
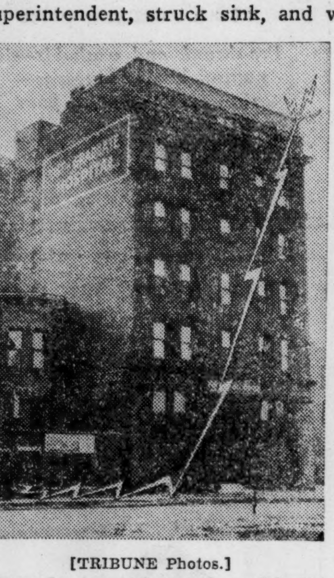
Trace Course of Lightning Bolt



Bolt of lightning shot into dispensary beside Post-Graduate hospital, 2400 South Dearborn street, passing between a patient and superintendent, struck sink, and was grounded by drain pipe.



[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Three Feel Shock

During the height of the rain and thunderstorm yesterday lightning struck the cornice on the southwest corner of the six story Postgraduate hospital at 2400 South Dearborn street. Frank Johnston, a clerk, standing at a first floor front window, said he felt the tingle of heat in one arm as the lightning streaked diagonally down the side of the building then flashed south along the hospital and into the front door of the one story adjoining dispensary.

Mrs. Olivia Kennedy, 56 East 47th street, colored, a patient, was standing in front of the prescription window at the rear of the hall. The lightning flashed between her and Supt. Samuel B. Barnett, who was behind the counter, and crashed with a puff of smoke and fire into the sink at his rear, dislodging two funnels.

The drain pipe of the sink grounded the lightning. In the basement light fuses were blown out and two men working with electric drills on the boiler were shocked.

40 BABOONS SET FREE ON ISLE AT BROOKFIELD ZOO

Forty baboons about one-third grown were turned loose yesterday on the monkey island at the Brookfield zoo. About thirty-five more will be put on the island the last of the month. Those liberated yesterday, all males, were received from West Africa. They weigh from 12 to 15 pounds now and will grow to 45 or 50.

Last year the 350 rhesus monkeys on the island proved unsatisfactory because they were not as active out of their natural forest environment as the baboon, which is accustomed to the rock and cave habitat provided at Brookfield.

Also received at the zoo yesterday were three aoudads, which are a species of horned sheep from North Africa.

DIES IN LOOP OFFICE.

Elmer F. Gustafson, 46 years old, 5656 North Mason avenue, died yesterday of a heart attack in the Royal Typewriter company, 427 Randolph street, of which he was office manager.

OAK PARK DOESN'T LOVE A LOVER—WHEN HE SPEEDS

For several weeks residents in the northwest section of Oak Park have complained of a young man, driving a long gray car equipped with yellow fog lights, who raced through the streets at night, turned corners at high speed, and endangered pedestrians and motorists, besides making a lot of noise. On Tuesday the motorist, Walter Lebo, 20 years old, of 1643 North Parkside avenue, was arrested. Last night Justice of the Peace Gilbert Volke told Lebo he considered him a menace and fined the youth $200. Lebo said he spent so much time in Oak Park because his girl lived there.

BIDS REJECTED, $472,413 SAVED ON PAVING JOBS

Contractors Reduce Price 20 Per Cent.

Bids on twenty-eight street paving projects opened yesterday by the county board were found to be $472,413.59 less than those submitted on the same projects and rejected three weeks ago by the state highway commission as too high.

The new bids totaled $1,722,571.69 as compared with the first total of $2,194,985.28. The contracts are expected to be let by the board next Friday. There was a total of 230 bids entered on the twenty-eight projects.

Although the old bids were $400,000 under the estimates of the county's engineers, the state highway commission refused to approve them. Yesterday's bids were more than $800,000 under the estimates.

Gas Tax to Provide Funds.

The county will pay its share of the new construction out of gasoline tax receipts. It therefore must have the approval of the state before the contracts are let.

Daniel Ryan, chairman of the county board's committee on roads and bridges, said engineers will reëxamine the bids to see that there are no errors. He remarked also that, in view of the low bids, engineers will have to be careful to see that the contractors do not attempt to escape exact specifications. Engineers of the county highway department said the second bids were much lower because each bidder knew how cheaply his competitor was willing to do the work.

Reductions Average 20 Pct.

A good many of the first successful bidders were again successful yesterday, but at reductions amounting on the average to more than 20 per cent. In about half the cases, however, bids by other companies were lower than the new bids by competitors.

The board also opened bids for 102,000 barrels of cement to be used on twelve of the projects in which the public works administration does not participate. [The PWA furnishes 45 per cent of the funds for 16 of the projects.] Twelve companies submitted identical bids of $2.39 a barrel.

How Bidders Change Tune

The following contrasting bids, selected at random from those submitted to the county board on twenty-eight paving projects, illustrate how $472,413 was saved because the state highway department rejected the original bids, forcing the county board to call for new bids on the projects. The table shows the location of each project, the names of the bidders, the amounts of the first and second bids, and the saving in each case:

PROJECT.	FIRST BID.	NEW BID.	SAVING.
Devon-av. from Harlem to Milwaukee-av.	Chicago Heights Coal Co., $133,944.34.	Arcole Const. Co., $110,280.60.	$23,663.74
26th-st. from Harlem to East-avs.	Chicago Heights Coal Co., $104.959.43.	Central-West Const. Co., $82,337.08.	22,622.35
Narragansett-av. from Cuyler to Gunnison.	Arcole Const. Co., $67,741.81.	Arcole Const. Co., $54,188.08.	13,553.73
State-st. from 119th to 123d-sts.	Standard Paving Co., $56,849.90.	Standard Paving Co., $44,895.66.	11,954.24
Ridge-av. from Devon-av. to Howard-st.	Midwest Const. Co., $144,632.31.	Midwest Const. Co., $105,512.59.	29,129.72
First-av. from 12th to 22d-sts.	Standard Paving Co., $64,236.30.	Western Const. Co., $49,466.41.	14,769.89

Similar savings were made on the second bids received on the twenty-two other projects.

Food for Thought: Noise Annoys, Market Closed

An open air food market in South State street between 70th and 71st streets was abolished yesterday by the city council because residents of the neighborhood complained of the early morning noise made by trucks and hucksters. A wholesale market south of 71st street was not affected.

FEDERAL JURY GETS CHARGES OF COLLUSIVE BIDS

Twenty witnesses were taken before the federal grand jury yesterday in its investigation of charges that collusion and conspiracy figured in awarding bids for plumbing in the three federal housing projects in Chicago. George P. Jones, assistant United States attorney general, has been here a month with a special staf of investigators.

When the investigation was ordered charges were made that an association of Chicago plumbing contractors worked with the plumbers' union to force up bids that were submitted. Jones, who expects the grand jury phase of the inquiry to last several days, said yesterday he will ask indictments charging collusion and conspiracy to defraud the government of amounts in excess of $50,000.

2 KENTUCKY BROTHERS FAIL TO POST BONDS AS MINER'S SLAYERS

Harlan, Ky., June 10.—(AP)—Verline Fee, 29 years old, and his brother, Clyde Fee, 27, waived preliminary hearing today and were bound over under $5,000 bond each on a charge of murder in connection with killing last night of Lester Smithers, 30, union miner. Arraigned before County Judge C. E. Ball they were returned to jail when unable to post bond. The murder warant against Verlin Fee was signed by Deputy Sherif C. N. Nolan and the warant against Clyde Fee by Millard Smithers, a miner, father of the slain man. Neither brother would comment on the case. Verlin appeared in court with his face badly battered.

8 ARMY FLYERS DIE IN ILLINOIS BOMBER CRASH

Big Plane Falls and Burns in Electrical Storm.

Delavan, Ill., June 10.—[Special.]—Eight army airmen were killed here today when a wing of their big bombing plane was torn off in the air as they were about to make a forced landing in a farm meadow. The plane crashed from about 400 feet and burned, scattering wreckage and the bodies of seven of its crew over a quarter of a mile of field.

For an hour before the crash the airplane had been flying through rough air currents, according to reports by its crew to the air corps radio station at Chanute field, Rantoul, Ill. Presumably the pounding it had taken in flying through several thunderstorms had weakened the structure, and the pilots had brought it low to find a field in which to land.

Plane Scourged by Squall.

While they were circling a mile and a quarter northeast of Delavan a line squall [an extremely violent type of thunderstorm] appeared. The bomber was just beginning its glide toward a field when the terrific swirling winds of the squall struck it. The wing fluttered away and the plane plunged to the ground, where its fuel tanks exploded into flame.

Three of the dead were commissioned officers: Capt. Richard B. Reeve, 36 years old, Milwaukee, Wis.; First Lieutenant Norman H. Ives, 31, Los Angeles, Cal., and Second Lieutenant Thomas Langben, 27, Galveston, Tex.

The enlisted men killed were Staf Sergeant Edward F. Murah, 32 years old, of Denver; Corporal William H. Housley, 30, Stillwater, Okla.; Private Max W. Myser, 21, Villa Grove, Ill.; Private George L. Huntsman, 23, Kankakee, Ill., and Private Philip J. Truitt, 23, Galax, Va.

Parachutes Partially Opened.

Parachutes attached to four of the bodies were partially opened. An army investigating board composed of Maj. Roy W. Camblin, Capt. Hugo P. Rush, and First Lieutenant Samuel Stephenson, all from Chanute field, said this did not indicate that any of the crew had jumped. The 'chutes probably were opened by the impact, they explained.

After examining the scene and talking to a dozen farmers who saw the crash, Capt. Rush said he was reasonably certain that one of the wings had come off the big bomber in the air. He said one of the wings had been torn away at the root and that it fell between 300 and 400 yards from the rest of the machine.

"The crash must have been caused by weather," said Capt. Rush. "The plane might have been hit by lightning, as some of the witnesses think, but planes have been hit before with little damage being done. We think the fire occurred after the crash."

Farmer Describes Crash.

Carey Youle, the farmer in whose meadow the plane fell, said he saw the ship circling the town just before the squall struck. He said the wing separated from the cabin just as the high wind and rain hit the airplane.

"It hit the ground and then it was a sheet of flames," he said.

Russell McCloud, a hired man on the Youle farm, also told of seeing the wing separate from the fuselage as the ship came down. Floyd Glenn, whose farm is across the road from Youle's said he was running to shelter before the squall drenched him when he heard the motors.

"They sounded as if the plane was in a dive," he said. "I looked around and there was a crash that shook the ground. Off across the road I could see flames. The wreckage was roaring like a blast furnace when I got there. The bodies lay all around, and only one was still in the cabin."

Plane Circles Area.

Several other farmers told of hearing the motors and seeing the plane circling. Some said that the airplane had dipped down two or three times as if the pilots were about to land, but each time the ship climbed away.

Maj. Camblin said that the plane, a Douglas B-18 bomber, had arrived at Chanute field yesterday and had left at 10:25 o'clock this morning [Chicago time] headed for Lowry field, Denver, Colo., the home station of all the men aboard it.

The flight was considered routine, he said, adding that First Lieutenant Ives was the pilot and Second Lieutenant Langben the co-pilot. In their radio communications after leaving Chanute field they said they were flying at 6,500 feet in heavy rain and very rough air. The field station attempted to communicate with them again at 11:05 o'clock, but the calls never were acknowledged.

The B-18 is a military version of the DC-3 commercial air line planes. It has a wing span of 95 feet and the fuselage is 78 feet long. It is built entirely of metal and the two engines are Wright Cyclones, each developing 1,220 horse power. Its range is about 3,000 miles and its cruising speed around 190 miles an hour. The army has about 100 of these bombers in service and more on order.

Eighth Since Jan. 1.

The crash today was the eighth serious accident to service aircraft since Jan. 1. Between Jan. 5 and March 30 the navy lost thirty-one airmen and seven of the new twin engined navy patrol bombers in Pacific ocean maneuvers. Like the accident today, the causes of all these crashes are mysteries.

One of the navy boats fell into the surf near Honolulu and two others crashed while flying in fog. Nothing is known about the other four machines, as no trace of them ever has been found. The navy's findings in investigations of its crashes will be made public soon.

Officers Killed in Plane Crash

(Story in adjoining column.)

Drawing shows formation of a line squall such as contributed to the crash of the plane. The storm is caused by the advance of a mass of cold air displacing warm air. The cold air advances in a wedge shape, the point of the wedge hundreds of feet off the ground. The cold air falls from the front of the wedge, as indicated by the arrows, displacing warm air behind and below. The warm air is forced upward from both behind and in front of the point of the wedge, forming the typical light gray clouds of the squall. Down drafts of cold air and up drafts of warm air sweep side by side. As the squall passes, the warm air above, now in its logical position, and the cold air below form the rain clouds which usually deluge the wake of the squall.

CHARGE DIXMOOR FINANCES ITSELF WITH SPEED TRAP

State Finds Village Has Little Other Income.

Richard B. Austin.

This conclusion was reached yesterday by Richard B. Austin, assistant state's attorney, as he questioned Rudolph Scherenzel, former treasurer of the village, during an investigation into an alleged speed trap.

Scherenzel, who resigned the treasurership May 10 after a quarrel with the village mayor, Charles Special, produced figures showing Dixmoor collected $3,734 in 1937 and $3,046 up to May 10, 1938, from trafic fines. Nearly all of them were levied by Police Magistrate Charles A. Braun.

Few Taxes Are Paid.

"Fines appear to be the chief source of income of the village," Austin said. "Virtually none of the residents pay taxes. We are interested in knowing why a village of 400 persons keeps three police, although it has only one street—Dixie highway."

Scherenzel admitted that most of the residents do not pay taxes. At a hearing last week witnesses testified they had received cards from Magistrate Braun permitting them to drive their cars without licenses for a fee of 50 cents a week.

How Collections Rose.

Scherenzel's figures showed that of the $3,734 in fines in 1937, Magistrate Braun imposed $3,679 of them. From Jan. 1 to May 10 this year, Magistrate Braun imposed $3,046 in fines, and his rate of fines per month was increasing steadily when Scherenzel left office and the statistics ended.

Scherenzel told the state's attorney's office he resigned as treasurer because he was unable to collect his annual salary of $500. The three policemen, however, were regularly paid, he said.

Meanwhile, Dixmoor police continued to arrest motorists for alleged trafic violations. Numerous complaints were received yesterday by county highway police from autoists who had been picked up and fined during the day.

Dixmoor, a village south of Blue Island and north of Harvey, virtually supports itself with trafic fines, prosecutor charged yesterday after investigation disclosed that few residents pay taxes.

ALDERMEN URGED TO FORCE TRANSIT COMPANIES' HAND

Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th] urged the city council yesterday to take the initiative in forcing the three transportation systems [surface lines, elevated company and motor coach company] to pay for the use of the streets after the temporary franchise of the surface lines expires June 30. A resolution requesting preparation of the necessary ordinances was referred to the committee on local transportation.

The original street car franchise expired in 1927. Since 1930, the companies have paid nothing to the city. Both the elevated lines and the motor coach company are without franchises and make no payments for operating rights. Several aldermen have threatened to vote against another extension of the surface lines' temporary franchise because of the delay in settlement of the traction problem.

Mayor Kelly yesterday signed the ordinance which authorizes the construction of three loop subways with the aid of a grant from the Public Works administration. The project, costing $28,000,000, has been tentatively approved by Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes.

GERMANY SEIZES VIENNA CATHOLIC STUDENT RICHES

VIENNA, June 10.—(AP)—The state police today announced confiscation of the property of Austrian Catholic student organizations, which unofficial estimates valued at $1,200,000. This followed the formal dissolution last night of more than twenty Austrian student societies at a meeting in which university students with great ceremony doffed their colorful society regalia for the last time.

"From now on you must fight only for Hitler," a government spokesman told the students, whose societies were much concerned with duelling.

CRASH KILLS BOY; 3 BURNED TRYING TO RESCUE HIM

Raymond Rivard, 14 years old, of Kankakee, was burned to death yesterday when an automobile driven by his father, Alphonse, caught fire after a head-on collision with another car containing two University of Illinois students on route 49 north of Kankakee.

The students, Norman B. Lewis Jr., 22, of 616 Bonnie Brae road, River Forest, and Philip L. Reddy Jr., 23, of 1299 North Green Bay road, Lake Forest, were burned slightly trying to save the boy. The elder Rivard also was burned and injured.

His vision obscured by the heavy rain last night, Fred Koch, 43 years old, 4858 Berteau avenue, a landscape gardener, was injured seriously when his automobile crashed head on with an Elston Avenue street car at North avenue. Earl Anderson, the motorman, and several passengers on the street car were shaken.

Milton Chalifoux, 228 East Huron street, a musician, and Miss Marie Caulfield, 22 years old, of 232 East Huron street, were slightly injured when his automobile hit a light pole in the center of outer drive at 11th street while allegedly fleeing from an accident at 35th street and the drive. Chalifoux was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and released on $200 bond pending his appearance in Safety court Monday.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 365 persons had been killed by automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 282 were killed in Chicago, where 7,766 were injured in the same period.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

"WHAT YEAR ARE YOU?"

By CALEB

IN THE soft, white light of a June moon a lone figure sat on a bench beneath a spreading elm as the clock in Memorial Tower boomed the solemn news of two o'clock.

Across the campus the note of an impromptu male quartet sounded, and somewhere a group of youngsters laughed suddenly, briefly. Frogs in the marsh along the distant river bank wove a pulsing background across the night pattern of sound.

Commencement. Across a confused rush of thoughts and memories the sound of white-haired Prexy's voice came back in unrelated fragments . . . "Famous sons . . . Proud of her men who have gone out . . . Failure not in their lexicon . . . World on their shoulders . . . True culture of service and devotion . . ."

A hundred feet away someone struck a match and the yellow spot it made served to focus the thoughts of the man under the Wishing Elm's wide branches. Suddenly he was listening to Prexy's words again—but Prexy's hair was still black. The diplomas said 1918. He, himself, was twenty pounds lighter, twenty years younger—and twenty times as sure of himself and the world about him. He had heard Prexy use much the same words—only, then, "those who have left these halls" had been only an empty phrase to him—a bit stuffy and thoroughly uninteresting.

Now he was one of those who had left. What did he mean to himself and to the lads who were packing trunks and striking out alone as he had done? For a moment he conceived his old ideals to be tangible things. "Let's see; how much depreciation on them would good business practice dictate? Fifty per cent in twenty years? Sixty? Eighty?"

And then, suddenly, he saw how wrong that was. He discovered that under the outer layers of dirt from the world, his ideals lay untarnished, unchanged and undiminished in force.

Suddenly he rose from the bench and walked firmly across toward his old fraternity house. He said half aloud, "Tomorrow I'm going to get out those old ideals, brush 'em off, polish 'em up—and use 'em! I'll show these youngsters they haven't any corner on ideals. Come on, Class of 1918—let's go!"

CHINESE DESTROY BIG CITY; LEAVE RUINS FOR JAPS

Defenders of Chengchow Tear Down Buildings.

SHANGHAI, June 11 [Saturday].—(AP)—Japanese bombs and the Chinese "scorched earth" policy had reduced Chengchow today from a once prosperous railway center to a city of ruins.

Chinese still held the city, junction point of the east-west Lunghai and north-south Peking-Hankow railways, against the Japanese drive for the position to strike south against Hankow, one of China's provisional capitals.

The exact status of the battle for the center remained uncertain, however, as the two sides gave conflicting reports.

Japs Claim Railway Is Cut.

Japanese said they had severed the Peking-Hankow railway at three points south of Chengchow, cutting off Chinese retreat toward Hankow and facilitating attacks on the railway junction.

They asserted the most effective destruction of the railway line was accomplished by blowing up an iron bridge between Chengchow and Sincheng, thirty miles to the southeast.

The operations against the railway were reported to have been carried out by a picked group of engineers who blew up the Lunghai near Tanghsan, in Kiangsu province, on May 14 and since have traveled 150 miles west to dynamite the Peking-Hankow road.

Chinese Say Japs Are Halted.

Chinese reports, on the contrary, said heavy fighting was in progress, with flanking attacks along the Lunghai effectively halting the invaders.

They said their forces had recaptured Paisha station, 13 miles east of Chengchow, after a twenty-four hour battle.

Chengchow itself was reported almost a complete ruin as the Chinese carried out their "scorched earth" policy of leaving as little as possible for their enemy.

Japs Drive up Yangtze.

In Anhwei province, east of Hankow, the Japanese intensified their naval offensive on the Yantze river in an effort to blast their way up the stream to the provisional capital.

Chinese said thousands of shells from gunboats and destroyers were being rained on Chinese positions, on both sides of the river, more than 200 miles from Hankow.

Japanese naval planes were aiding the warships, which were estimated variously at from twenty to forty in number. The latter figure was believed to include small supply boats and auxiliary craft.

Pitting their own warplanes against this new menace, Chinese asserted they sank one Japanese warship at Kweichih, within thirty miles of Anking, capital of Anhwei. Anking is 215 miles from Hankow and 370 miles from Shanghai. They said the vessel was struck squarely amidships and a number of the crew drowned.

DEL PRADO HOTEL STRIKE SETTLED; MEN REINSTATED

Settlement of the four months old strike at the Del Prado hotel, 5507 Hyde Park boulevard, was announced yesterday by Robert J. Hilliard, attorney for the management. The hotel agreed to reinstate the same crew of engineers and firemen who walked out Feb. 3, and to deal only with American Federation of Labor unions. The unions agreed to disband the picket line and to assist in the resumption and continuance of normal deliveries at the hotel.

William G. Murray of the Illinois department of labor conciliated the differences between the unions, which were represented by James M. Kennedy, Frank Woods and George McLane, and the hotel management.

During the strike Lloyd Rourke, a laundry truck driver who was employed by the hotel, was killed with a baseball bat on Feb. 10 while making deliveries.

New army poster with "streamlined" girl.

Remember the slightly formal young woman with the hazel eyes and rather plain figure who used to grace those join-the-army signs? You won't be seeing her any more. She has gone into oblivion along with the 1903 rifle and the Conestoga wagon. And the gal who has taken her place—wait till you see her!

She's a red head with blue eyes and a streamlined figure. She uses rouge and lipstick and wears no stockings. She makes it very, very difficult to pass those join-the-army signs without a second look.

But Chicago recruiting officers refused to comment. They said all they knew was that the new posters had arrived from the recruiting service at Governor's Island, New York, and that the streamlined lady adorned them. They added that they were mighty glad to see her.

JAPANESE BOMBS CRIPPLE CANTON WATER SUPPLY

New Suffering Faces Terrified City.

HONGKONG, June 10.—(AP)—Japanese bombing planes tonight rounded out two weeks of daily bombardments of Canton or its environs with an attack on the outskirts of the teeming South China metropolis.

The raiders withheld their bombs when they passed over congested areas, but the distant thunder of bombardment showed they attacked the fringes of Canton where the waterworks and other utilities plants are located.

Waterworks Is Damaged.

The attack brought chilling fear to the city's residents, who had witnessed raids which in two weeks caused 3,000 deaths and injury to 5,000 persons.

A delayed report on an attack last night showed that a new power plant under construction was nearly destroyed. The waterworks also was damaged, causing a sharp curtailment in the supply and acute suffering in the sweltering city.

One hundred twenty men and women students of the American endowed Lingnan university, bombed Wednesday, arrived here today by train after frightening experiences en route.

Train Wrecked by Japs.

Their train was wrecked by Japanese bombers at Sheklung, thirty miles from Canton, Wednesday night. There were 300 other passengers in the coaches.

At sight of the bombers, they related, they scattered into the rice fields and remained there for four hours in the rain.

U. S. Fleet to Summer in Captured Chinese Ports

SHANGHAI, June 10.—(AP)—Units of the United States Asiatic fleet will make the Shantung province ports of Tsingtao and Chefoo their summer stations, as for several years past, Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander in chief, announced today. Since last summer both ports have been captured by the Japanese navy. The cruisers Augusta and Marblehead will summer at Tsingtao and two destroyer divisions at Chefoo. One destroyer division will go to the Philippines.

BRITISH CABINET READY TO ACT ON SHIP BOMBINGS

Public Increases Clamor for Retaliatory Steps.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 10.—With Spanish rebel warplanes continuing to attack British ships, and protests increasing against the apparent inactivity of the British cabinet, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today decided to cut short his Whitsuntide vacation. He will return to London on Sunday to confer with Viscount Halifax, foreign minister, on the complications arising from the situation in Spain.

A meeting of the cabinet ministers will be called Monday to decide the future British policy, and announcement of what action the government proposes to take for the protection of shipping in Spanish waters will be made in the house of commons Tuesday. Laborites were preparing to demand full debate if they consider the government statement unsatisfactory.

Three More Ships Are Sunk.

Three more British ships were sunk off Spain today by air pirates, and pressure on the British government to take drastic action is becoming correspondingly stronger. Extremists were advocating that a British warship be sent to Cadiz to shell that rebel-controled city as the most effective method of ending the attacks on merchant vessels.

Such action is unlikely, political sources indicate, since it might jeopardize the facade of nonintervention which Chamberlain is anxious to maintain.

Apart from presiding at the cabinet meeting Monday, Prime Minister Chamberlain, it was disclosed tonight, will see United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy. The ambassador is expected to have talks with Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, and other ministers before returning to the United States next week to see his eldest son graduate from Harvard.

New Turn in Volunteers Parleys.

The British plan for withdrawing foreign soldiers from Spain took a new twist tonight when it was disclosed that the French government agreed to impose control of the Franco-Spanish frontier as soon as the nonintervention committee reached an agreement on the proposed scheme, instead of waiting until the arrival in Spain of the commissions charged with the task of counting the "volunteers."

6 CHINESE FOUND GUILTY AS DRUG RING OPERATORS

Six Chinese who were arrested in Chicago a year ago when government agents raided a narcotic ring's headquarters in several cities were convicted yesterday by a jury in the court of Federal Judge John P. Barnes on charges of violating the narcotics act.

The defendants were Lee Moy Duck, 2240 Wentworth avenue; Sam Moy Sing, 1636 Addison street; Loe Lee, Washington, D. C.; Wong Geng Po of Boston, and Soo Hoo Him and Hung See Too, both of New York. They were seized at 1636 Addison street, where federal agents found 40,000 pills containing heroin.

Five others arrested at the same time were freed on a directed verdict of not guilty. Judge Barnes said he would rule today on a motion for a new trial.

Filipinos Return to Homes as Mayon Volcano Subsides

LEGASPI, P. I., June 10.—(AP)—Refugees driven from homes near the base of Mayon volcano when it became active eight days ago began returning today as the eruptions subsided. President Manuel L. Quezon ordered a survey of damage to public works, plantations, and villages and promised relief needs would be cared for fully.

TWO HELD AS BURGLARS.

Joseph Puoliot, 5441 Harper avenue, and Harry Richardson, 935 East 53d street, both 17 years old, were held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Gibson E. Gorman on charges of looting a tavern.

Surrender Refused

Harry W. Gahagan (right) and his lawyer, Thomas O'Malley Jr., leaving sherif's office.

Harry W. Gahagan, real estate dealer, yesterday admitted defeat in his two year fight to avoid paying a $200 fine and serving a 20 day Bridewell term for drunken driving. Accompanied by his lawyer, Attorney Thomas O'Malley Jr., Gahagan dropped into the County building office of Sherif Toman and offered to surrender to William Milota, assistant sherif. He was politely refused.

It was very nice of him, Milota said regretfully, but the court's mandate had not yet been received at the sherif's office, apparently delayed by a plea Thursday before the pardon board. And so if Mr. Gahagan and Mr. O'Malley would drop in again, say tomorrow? They said they certainly would, since Gahagan has passage booked for Europe on July 1 and wanted to be sure and catch the boat.

Gahagan, whose defense when arrested in June, 1936, was that he thought pursuing police were holdup men, had carried his fight through the Appellate and Supreme courts and finally to the pardon board. He lives at 5555 Sheridan road.

British Elect Conservative to Vacated Commons Seat

STAFFORD, Eng., June 10.—(AP)—The government retained its Stafford seat in the house of commons today in a by-election caused by the elevation of William G. A. Ormsby-Gore, former colonial secretary, to the peerage. G. E. P. Thornycroft, a conservative, defeated the labor candidate, F. G. Lloyd, by 4,408 votes, a slight increase over the conservative margin in the last Stafford election. Ormsby-Gore became Baron Harlech, inheriting the title on the death of his father.

SPANISH REBELS PUT FOE IN TRAP BY DARING TRICK

Fascists Within 10 Miles of Castellon.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], June 10.—(AP)—Spanish rebel forces cut the strategic highway between Lucena del Cid and Castellon de la Plana in a two hour battle today and drove toward the rich capital of Castellon province.

Several hamlets were captured by the Fascists, who cut the road ten miles northwest of Castellon, their objective in the campaign against Valencia, key seaport of government Spain proper. At sundown, Lucena, 16 miles northwest of Castellon and an important lead and iron center, was under the fire of rebel riflemen.

Franco's victory in the battle for control of the highway followed a daring maneuver by rebel Galician troops, who risked being cut off by government soldiers in a smash down the valley of the Rambla de la Viuda—the River of the Widow—without protecting their flank.

Loyalists Appear in Trap.

The sound of battle from these troops reached government forces in the Useras sector to the north, who, fearing they were surrounded, retreated after holding their lines against the two hour rebel attack.

Government troops holding the town of Useras clung to their trenches, but appeared to be surrounded and outnumbered.

Rebel air raiders in planes of German or Italian manufacture continued their methodical bombing of four Mediterranean ports and destruction of three British and French ships.

The bombers, two of which have teamed up, finished off the British freighter Thorpehaven, bombed three days ago at Alicante, and the French merchantman Brisbane, ablaze off Denia since it was first bombed yesterday.

Sink Spanish Schooner.

They also sank a schooner of Spanish registry and, bent on crippling or stopping foreign shipping to government Spain, raided again the ports of Gandia, Alicante, Denia, and Castellon de la Plana.

The British freighter Isadora, first attacked yesterday, sank following a new raid on Castellon de la Plana when a bomb tore a big hole in its side.

Dick Grace, Stunt Flyer, Marries His Secretary

Hollywood, Cal., June 10.—(AP)—Dick Grace, 40 years old, veteran film stunt pilot, was married tonight to his secretary, Chrystine Frances Malstron, 35. More than 100 flyers, film players, and film aviation technical men attended the ceremony, which Superior Judge Arthur Guerin performed at a hotel.

JAPANESE WORKERS ARE ASKED TO CARRY THEIR OWN LUNCHES

TOKIO, June 10.—(AP)—As a means of saving time and money, government employés are being urged to eat homemade lunches in their offices.

Posters asking economy of all Japanese during the Chinese war plaster government buildings and show the amounts that could be saved if each worker brought from home a simple lunch consisting of rice balls and pickles.

Restaurateurs were made unhappy, since government employés proverbially are big eaters.

ITALY SNEERS AT U. S. SINCERITY IN BOMB PROTESTS

ROME, June 10.—(AP)—Virginio Gayda, frequently the editorial mouthpiece of the Fascist government, asserted today that while the American government protested against the bombing of civilians in China, the United States was selling bombing planes to the Japanese.

"In America they talk of bombardment of open cities offending the principles of humanity," Gayda wrote in Il Giornale d'Italia. "But the Japanese reply that at Canton—as in the case of the cities of Red [government] Spain bombed by Nationalist [rebel] aviation—there are arms factories and arms stores."

Gayda added that "it is not without interest" that the United States was selling bombing planes to the Japanese and at the same time protesting against attacks on civilians.

OPEN NEW LANE ON LAKE SHORE DRIVE MONDAY

The new east lane of Lake Shore drive from Melrose street to Irving Park boulevard will be opened to trafic Monday, while the center lane will be closed during construction of pedestrian subways. The work, expected to take two weeks, will complete the widening of the drive, Otto K. Jelinek, trafic engineer of the Park district, said yesterday. Normal trafic will not be affected while work on the subways is in progress, but during the rush periods some detours will be used.

SENATE, HOUSE GROUPS AGREE ON WAGE BILL

Southerners Accept 25 Cents Hour Minimum.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 10.—[Special.]—Senate and house conferees on the controversial minimum wage and maximum hour legislation informally reached an agreement today on a compromise that provides for great flexibility as to industries, but permits no geographical differentials within an industry. The compromise is expected to be formally approved at tomorrow's session.

Although southern senators have threatened to filibuster against the adoption of any conference report not containing sectional differentials to preserve the competitive advantage of the low wage paying south, they agreed to the compromise reached today because of its elastic provisions in the field above 30 cents an hour.

7 Year Ceiling Full of Holes.

The compromise provides for a nation-wide minimum wage of 25 cents an hour the first year and 30 cents the second year. The asserted goal of the act would be a nation-wide minimum wage of 40 cents an hour after seven years, but the seven year ceiling is full of holes.

In the field above 30 cents an hour, minimum wages would be established by industry boards, like the old code authorities of the NRA, subject to the approval of an administrator in the department of labor. The boards would represent, equally, the employers, the employés, and the public.

In proposing minimum wages between the 30 cent floor and the 40 cent ceiling the boards could take into consideration various economic factors, such as conditions within the industry, prevailing wages determined by collective bargaining agreements, standards of health, the cost of living, and the possible curtailment of employment opportunities.

The boards could not, however, establish minimum wages containing territorial differentials within an industry. An industry wage would have to be uniform for the entire country.

Subject to Exemptions.

The seven year deadline for the imposition of a nation-wide 40 cent minimum wage would be subject to exemptions, by industries, whenever the boards recommended and the administrator found, as shown by a preponderance of the evidence, that such a rate would not be economically feasible. Whether the industry boards could function during the first two years and establish minimum wages higher than 25 or 30 cents an hour, or would have to wait until the third year to propose minimum wages between 30 and 40 cents, is a detail that must be determined tomorrow.

The compromise follows substantially the provisions of the house bill with respect to maximum hours—that is: a nation-wide maximum work week of forty-four hours the first year, forty-two hours the second year, and forty hours thereafter.

One of the northern senate conferees said the compromise was infinitely better than the senate bill, which provided for a five man board for the political regulation of wages and hours. The power of the administrator, this conferee declared, will be limited to approving or disapproving minimum wages proposed by the industry committees.

DEFENDS A. F. OF L. MILK DRIVERS IN INJUNCTION SUIT

Steve Sumner, 88 years old, head of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, local 753, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, took the stand yesterday to defend his organization against charges made by three cut-rate dairies and the Amalgamated Dairy Workers' union, local 819, affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization. The dairies and the C. I. O. union seek an injunction to restrain the A. F. of L. union from what they call strong-arm tactics in restraint of trade.

Sumner, testifying at a hearing before Master in Chancery Charles A. McDonald, traced the growth of local 753 from its organization in 1902, spoke of its refusal to be intimidated by racketeers at the end of prohibition, and declared that he disliked the C. I. O. because it was headed by John L. Lewis and was found "to wreck labor." One milkman's union in Chicago, he added, was enough.

HOUSE IS URGED TO HOLD INQUIRY ON RADIO BOARD

Committee Gives Bill Right of Way.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 10.—[Special.]—The house rules committee today approved plans for an investigation of the radio industry and the federal communications commission. The committee acted favorably upon a resolution calling for inquiry into charges of the existence of a monopoply in the industry and favoritism to networks by the FCC.

The committee action came shortly after four of the seven members of the commission appeared before the committee to protest against charges that they had been susceptible to lobbying and have been favoring radio chains. The charges were made by George H. Payne, Republican member of the commission.

Right of Way in House.

The rules committee approval gave the right of way on the house floor to the resolution of Representative Lawrence J. Connery [D., Mass.] calling for the appointment of seven house members to study charges and allegations of the existence of a monopoly in radio broadcasting which affects the public interest.

Chairman Frank R. McNinch and Commissioners Norman Case, Eugene O. Sykes, and Thad Brown, in answer to questions by rules committee members, said they had no connection with any broadcasting chain or station.

Commissioner T. A. M. Craven was present and, Chairman McNinch said, was on his feet to make the same statement, but the committee went into closed session before he spoke.

Charges Special Interest.

Mr. Connery placed in today's congressional record reports that Commissioner Brown was "interested in the success of the National Broadcasting company" and Mr. Sykes "is credited with having a very wholesome interest in the affairs of the Columbia Broadcasting company."

Both commissioners specifically denied these accusations before the committee.

Commissioner Paul A. Walker was ill and unable to be present, his colleagues said. None of the commissioners would comment on the absence of Commissioner Payne, who told the committee last week the commission was "susceptible" to "outside interests."

During the brief committee session Chairman O'Connor asked Mr. McNinch if he wasn't aware that two or three big radio chains have been favored at the commission in assignment of licenses. Mr. Ninch denied the accusation.

"Of course, they don't need many more licenses if they control 95 per cent of the air already," Representative O'Connor replied.

INJURY IN FALL FATAL.

Mrs. Carrie Cordenbrok, 74 years old, 920 Sherman avenue, Evanston, died yesterday in St. Francis hospital of complications resulting from a fractured shoulder incurred when she fell in her home June 1.

One Formal Speech

Washington, D. C., June 10.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt said today he plans only one formal speech during the cross country trip he will take in July. That will be given at Marietta, O., in connection with observance of the anniversary of the opening of the northwest territory.

However, he admitted he will make several extemporaneous speeches en route. Most of these are expected to be for the purpose of indorsing his friends who are candidates for offices or to vent his displeasure upon administration foes.

The President will leave Washington July 7. On successive days he will be at Marietta, O., Memphis, or St. Louis, Oklahoma City, Fort Worth, Tex., Wichita Falls and Amarillo, Tex., Pueblo, Colo., Yosemite National park, and on July 15 or 16 he will be in San Francisco. From there he will embark on a fishing cruise to the Galapagos Islands and will return to the east coast by way of the Panama canal.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 10.—The high point in celebration of the eighth anniversary of King Carol's return to Rumania was reached today when a group of cyclists arrived from the village of Rev—where the exile arrived from Paris by plane—with a flask of water commemorating the fact that it was a peasant woman of that village who offered the king his first drink of water on Rumanian soil.

The field on which the plane landed has been offered by its owner to the orthodox bishop of Oradea, who has announced his intention of establishing a monastery there.

Meanwhile Cornelia Zalea Codreanu, leader of the outlawed Iron Guard, a Fascist organization, was taken to prison to begin serving a sentence of ten years at hard labor. He was convicted of treason following a plot to seize King Carol.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, June 10.—A copper cylinder containing George Washington De Long's own record of the arctic expedition on which the American explorer and most of his party perished fifty-seven years ago has been found by soviet scientists on Henrietta Island, which De Long discovered and named.

Henrietta Island is one of the De Long archepelago north of eastern Siberia, far within the arctic circle. It was near there that De Long's ship Jeannette was crushed in the ice and sank on an attempt to reach the North Pole via the Bering sea in 1881.

The copper cylinder's cap had come loose and water had reduced the rolled-up record written in De Long's own hand to a mass of pulp. The lettering was still visible and it is hoped that with expert treatment much of the record can be deciphered.

CHARGE SKY IS LIMIT IN RELIEF TAX PROPOSAL

Business Leaders Ask Defeat of Bill.

Representatives of a number of leading Chicago and Illinois business and trade associations, at a meeting in the Union League club yesterday, assailed the proposed Illinois bill which would empower cities and towns to license business as a means of raising relief funds.

Cornelius Lynde, attorney for the Chicago Association of Commerce, outlined the reasons why business and industry is opposing passage of the bill. Among the chief objections to the bill, he said, are that it would give municipal governments the power to raise unlimited amounts of money and that it would add to the tax burden of business and industry in a depression time when they are already being taxed too heavily.

No Limit on Amount, Time.

"Theoretically the purpose of the bill is to raise funds for relief," Lynde said. "The city of Chicago is said to be seeking to raise $3,000,000 for relief. In the bill which is to be presented to the legislature we can't find any limitation as to the amount of the money to be raised, or any time limitation.

"The only limit mentioned in the bill is limitation of expenditure of funds collected under it to relief purposes. But we all know how easy it would be for the legislature to change this."

James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, who presided at the meeting, asserted that the bill is of serious concern to every business and industry in the state. If any new taxes are to be added for relief purposes, he said, they should be imposed broadly over every element in the state.

Plan Protest Trip.

Representatives of the business associations are to go to Springfield next Tuesday to make a protest against the bill before the house revenue committee. Among the groups represented yesterday were the Illinois Retail federation, the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, the Illinois Manufacturers' association, the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Associated Employers of Illinois, and the Chicago Live Stock exchange.

A resolution condemning any increase in property taxes as a means of raising additional relief funds was adopted yesterday by the city council.

LYONS CHARGES DEMOCRATS TRY TO BUY CONTROL

G. O. P. Senate Candidate Rakes Administration.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Granite City, Ill., June 10.—[Special.]—American voters, through referendums in Pennsylvania, Oregon, and Iowa rapidly are manifesting their conviction that the Roosevelt administration is attempting to purchase control of the government to perpetuate itself, Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, charged here tonight.

The administration is cognizant of its sagging prestige, Lyons declared, and has entered into a terrorist campaign in a desperate effort to regain control of congress, and to punish those national legislators who have opposed its schemes.

The senatorial nominee and three of his running mates on the state ticket—Senator Simon E. Lantz, for congressman-at-large; William R. McCauley, for state treasurer, and Wiley B. Garvin, for superintendent of public instruction—came half way across the southern part of Illinois late today from Marion, where they spoke this afternoon.

Points to Defections.

"If it is true, that you can judge a man by the company he keeps, then you can also judge him by the company he doesn't keep," Lyons said. "Look today at the men in Washington who are abandoning the administration—Carter Glass, Byrd, Wheeler, Bailey, and Burke, all lifelong Democrats of high standing and worth.

"They are being driven away. They can't stomach an administration which calls itself 'Democratic' but which adopts the tactics of foreign dictators and violates every creed of decency by allocating the people's own money to purchase control of the government—in the name of relief.

"Is it any wonder that men of courage, sincerity, and honesty, are forced to withdraw their support from such a régime?" Lyons asked.

Can't Buy Votes, He Says.

"The Roosevelt administration has found it can not scare American voters; it will soon find that it cannot buy American voters."

The rally at Marion brought Republicans from all over the coal fields to hear Lyons' attack upon the President for his failure to recognize the mining industry in Illinois by placing an Illinois man upon the bituminous coal commission.

"This failure," he said, "adequately illustrates the unjustness of the administration. Illinois is the third largest coal producing state in the nation, with pay rolls and investments running into millions of dollars, yet there is no one on the commission to protect the livelihood of thousands of miners, and the employés of the railroads and the allied industries."

The engineer's cabin on the New York Central Lines' new Twentieth Century streamlined train has nearly as many gauges, controls, valves, and dials as one of the commercial airline planes, it was disclosed yesterday when the new engines, soon to go into regular service, were inspected at the 63d street yards. W. C. Newburg, general terminal foreman for the railroad, said the cabin has more than 100 different control valves and dials.

Most of these control the steam which powers the engine, the air which operates the brakes, the whistle, the sand which is sprinkled on the tracks when they are slippery, and the engine's bell. The new engine has an automatic stoker which feeds coal into the firebox under air pressure. The stoker is built so that it spreads the coal evenly. A special blower keeps the fire burning at a pre-determined rate.

CORN BELT MEN INCORPORATE TO FIGHT AAA RULE

Indianapolis, Ind., June 10.—[Special.]—The Corn Belt Liberty league, a nonprofit organization formed in opposition to governmental control of agriculture, was incorporated in Indiana today. The objects of the league, as stated in the articles of incorporation, are to preserve the independence of the American farmer; to promote a fair program of taxation for agriculture; to establish an agricultural program that will fit economic conditions, and to preserve the constitutional rights of those engaged in agriculture.

R. Lowell McDaniel, Wilkinson, is named resident agent in Indiana. McDaniel is vice president of the national organization. His assistant in Indiana organization work will be John G. McKee of Tippecanoe county.

James Roosevelt Declines to Run for Lieut. Governor

Boston, Mass., June 10.—(AP)—James Roosevelt, son and secretary of the President, tonight rejected a citizens committee's request that he run for lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, declaring: "I feel that I have an obligation above all else to remain at my duties in Washington." Arriving by plane from Washington for the week-end, he made his statement in the form of a letter to Charles Maliotis, Democratic state committeeman, who led a James Roosevelt-for-lieutenant governor movement.

Dean of Marengo Council Honored on 84th Birthday

F. R. Ocock, senior member of the city council of Marengo, in McHenry county, was honored yesterday by his colleagues on his 84th birthday. He has been an alderman for 27 years and has attended 647 meetings, missing none in the last 26 years. On Aug. 15 Mr. and Mrs. Ocock will celebrate their 64th wedding anniversary.

Wanderer Carries Dog

Worry about relief, either as a recipient or as a taxpayer, is no concern of Andrew Boehm, 26 years old, hobo, who yesterday paid the police at the East Chicago avenue police station a return visit [voluntarily] on his second transcontinental hitchhiking trip in the last year. Boehm says his home is in Portland, Ore., but right now he's contemplating a trip to Germany to visit his mother. If he manages it, he will take his dog, Happy, whose tricks help win a meal or a dime now and then. When Happy gets tired he rides looped around his master's neck.

HAGUE, ON STAND, SAYS C. I. O. HEADS ARE COMMUNISTS

Several Congressmen Also, Mayor Asserts.

who is a subject of Russia, or a radical opposed to American principles and institutions, seeks to overthrow all government except the soviet and is against all kinds of religious beliefs," said the mayor.

"Is Jerry O'Connell a communist?" asked Frazer.

"I think he's ten communists," Hague shot back.

Then Frazer took up the petition signed by twenty-six congressmen on Dec. 4, 1937, demanding that Hague explain his action in Jersey City.

"That's a radical statement coming from a bunch of radical congressmen," declared Mayor Hague.

"What right have they got to come into Jersey City and tell us how to run things? They ought to stay down in Washington and tend to their business."

The petition, according to Hague, had been prepared by Morris L. Ernst, C. I. O. counsel, who was "sicking" the congressman on him.

Effort "To Stop Hague."

"Ernst said in the press the reason they wanted to stop Hague was to keep this feeling from spreading to other cities which would be disastrous for the C. I. O.," declared Hague.

Mayor Hague said he had been associated with labor organizations for 25 years and had never had any trouble with the American Federation of Labor.

"I never had any invasion threatened until Harry Bridges, head of the C. I. O. Seamen's union, ordered 500 of his strong arm men to enter Jersey City about a year ago," he went on. "They would have destroyed our shipping industry.

"Then later William J. Carney, state director of the C. I. O. in New Jersey, announced he would bring 3,000 men into Jersey City, law or no law. That's threatening an invasion." This last was a reference to a scheduled distribution of C. I. O. handbills in Jersey City to test an ordinance prohibiting such circularization.

Ordinance Later Voided.

The ordinance subsequently was voided with the opinion of the United States Supreme court holding a similar local law of Griffen, Ga., unconstitutional.

The attempt of more than 100 C. I. O. organizers to distribute their literature on Nov. 29, 1937, resulted in the arrest of thirteen persons and deportations of others out of Jersey City.

LEWIS ACTS TO SETTLE DISPUTE IN AUTO UNION

Detroit, Mich., June 10.—(AP)—John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial organization, intervened tonight in affairs of the United Automobile Workers' executive board, which is split by a dispute endangering Homer Martin's control of the board.

Martin, U. A. W. president, announced, after conferring with Lewis at Washington today, that board members have been summoned to meet Sunday at the United Mine Workers' headquarters in Washington.

In a statement telephoned to Detroit Martin accused Richard T. Frankensteen, former assistant president of the union, and his associates of trying to revive factionalism.

The board a few weeks ago voted confidence in Martin and the other officers and approved a "harmony program" submitted by Martin to end factional disputes.

Indiana Woman Recovers from Bite of a Spider

Jeffersonville, Ind., June 10.—[Special.]—Recovered from the bite of a spider which attacked her when she sat upon it in her automobile, Mrs. Lewis Jackson, 50, returned from a hospital to her home near here today.

BROOKS WARNS OF RISING PERIL TO U. S. LIBERTY

Addresses Convention of Young Republicans.

Kansas City, Mo., June 10.—[Special.]—A direct, carefully calculated campaign is being waged today to destroy the American form of government, American institutions, ideals, and traditions, and substitute for them a rule modeled on the totalitarian governments of Europe and Asia. This was charged here tonight by Wayland Brooks, Illinois Republican leader, at the Young Republicans' convention.

"All this started in Russia," Brooks declared in the principal address of the evening session. "During a tremendous social and economic upheaval a man cried: 'Give me power and I will provide jobs, protect the people, maintain security, and lead us out of war.'

Cites Loss of Liberty.

"They gave him the power, and liberty went with the power. They call it communism there. It spread to Italy and a man cried out there: 'Give me the power and I will provide security and jobs, maintain order, and give a more abundant life to all.'

"They gave him the power, and liberty was seized away from the people. They call it Fascism there.

"When Germany's burdens became too great to bear and her people cried out in agony a man called to the Germans saying: 'Give me the power and I will maintain property rights, security, provide jobs, and give you all a more abundant life.'

"They gave him power, and liberty for the individual ceased to exist. They call their own brand of centralized control Naziism.

Points to Similarity.

"Now the plague has spread to the United States and once more one man cries: 'Centralize the power and we will provide security and jobs and the more abundant life.'

"This scheme is not called communism or Fascism or even Naziism. Instead they call it New Dealism, but they are all sisters under the skin. Once all the powers of government are concentrated under one leader, liberty and democracy are lost."

In the days when knighthood was in flower and kings were supreme, Brooks declared, not one of them enjoyed the luxuries that are enjoyed by the average American citizen today.

"And government did not create this luxury," he asserted. "The government merely maintained order and protected individual initiative. The American business man can claim credit for virtually everything that prolongs life and makes our country a safer and finer place in which to live.

Urges American System.

"The abundant life cannot be legislated into being. It comes from hard work, intelligence, and enterprise. America has been great in its abundant life, has been full of hope, because here a man has been free to labor and to succeed.

"America wants to go forward, but the people have been told so forcefully that the American system has failed and must be changed that those who have the facts must present them quickly so the true story can be known.

"The Republican party was born to preserve the American kind of government and to extend freedom. It has always stood for opportunity and free enterprise. It will hold to these principles now and in the future."

WIFE DIVORCED FROM PUBLISHER J. M. PATTERSON

Mrs. Alice Higinbotham Patterson was granted an uncontested divorce from J. M. Patterson, publisher of the New York Daily News, by Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady of Lake county yesterday, on a charge of desertion. Mrs. Patterson gave her residence as a farm on Milwaukee avenue, two miles south of Libertyville.

According to the bill, drawn by Attorney Clay Judson of Chicago, the Pattersons were married in Chicago on Nov. 19, 1902, and the act of desertion took place on Oct. 15, 1928. At the hearing before Judge Dady, Mrs. Patterson testified that her husband had left their home to go to New York and had not offered to make another home for her. She said he had provided adequately for her after the desertion.

Attorney Weymouth Kirkland, who represented Mr. Patterson, said that a substantial settlement for Mrs. Patterson has been arranged and will become effective in ten days.

VAN NUYS TO SET UP INDEPENDENT POLITICAL GROUP

Washington, D. C., June 10.—(AP)—Senator Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.] said today he would leave for Indiana this week-end to set up an independent political organization to back him for reëlection.

He said he would give his organization a name, now unselected, to comply with state law. He also would be required, he explained, to get 8,000 signatures on a petition if his name were to appear on the ballot.

Many names had been suggested for the organization, he said, including the "Independence" party and the "Constitutionalists."

To Mariellen's Friends: She Needs No More Gifts

Flowers and gifts still are being sent to Mariellen Gothard, 12 years old, by readers of THE TRIBUNE who thought to brighten her days in Women's and Children's hospital, where she was a heart disease patient. Her mother, Mrs. Charles Gothard of 2311 Warren boulevard, wants the givers to know they brought Mariellen happiness, but asks that they send no more presents. Mariellen died May 27.

BOOKS

Christina Stead Fashions Novel on Vast Pattern

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"House of All Nations," by Christina Stead. [Simon & Schuster, $3.] Published Wednesday.

Christina Stead.

Whatever its other distinctions, "House of All Nations" will seem the longest novel of the year, no matter how many more than its 787 pages lie between other covers. This is because it is so complex, so intertwined in detail, that it can not be "skipped," either in chunks of chapters or in sentences. It takes days, literally, of reading and it is concerned exclusively with money. Resign yourself to its length and its one track theme, or miss its fascinations, among which are these:

1. It is written by an Australian, in a style which is as nineteenth century French as if it had been translated out of the great Comédie Humaine by Balzac himself. And yet it has a present day American spice of phrase. Its prose is like a rather heavy plum pudding with a meringue top.

2. One hundred and twenty-six characters people its pages. They are from every corner of Europe and the two Americas. The author has performed the amazing trick of making the French as different from the Balkans and the Armenians and the English as the Argentines are unlike the New Yorkers and the Turks and the Belgians, each one a type and an individual.

3. There are, at the most, three estimable characters in the whole book, the rest utterly hard hearted and calculating, all concerned with the making or the hoarding or the spending of money. The hero is an unscrupulous gambler who acknowledges his unscrupulousness and consistently expects nothing more from any one. And Christina Stead has made the whole greedy, self-seeking group highly entertaining.

4. The author has recorded the most complex international financial pattern, until the untutored reader's mind sometimes reels with the weight of detail, but she has leavened it with quips that would be wisecracks if they were concerned with any subject except the one nobody ever jokes about—money.

G. B. Stern Presents Another Dog Fantasy.

"The Ugly Dachshund," by G. B. Stern. [Macmillan, $1.75.]

G. B. Stern, who wrote one of the most delightful of all contemporary books about dogs, "The Dark Gentleman," has done another short chronicle of a group of dogs and their masters, the "Legs." This is the story of a dog, brought up with a litter of dachshunds, who was bewildered at his nonconformance to their standards, and who understood that he was a Great Dane only when a mate was imported of his own breed.

The dogs talk to one another, one of them with a French accent, all in imitation of human chatting, which many readers will find instantly an emetic. But the relationship of the dogs to their Master Legs has the same delightful quality that characterizes "The Dark Gentleman." Otherwise, Miss Stern has not duplicated the unforgettable charms of that little classic.

Neil Swanson Writes New Historical Novel.

"The Forbidden Ground," by Neil H. Swanson. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.]

Neil Swanson, who has proved his skill as a miner of historic gold in "The First Rebel" and his art of turning historic ore into fictional ornament in "The Judas Tree," has written another novel based on little known historic facts of the American revolution.

Far into the wilds of northern Minnesota that war took its way, as Mr. Swanson proves by documents which he unearthed. The course of adventure goes from Fort Pitt [the scene of "Judas Tree" in the French and Indian war] through De-Troit and on into the unknown lands of what are now the Minnesota-Canada border.

Love and war and the thrilling intrigues of each fill these pages. Mr. Swanson gives us adventures in the best swashbuckling manner, plus convincing historical authenticity.

Czech Reminiscences.

Quiet humor from Czechoslovakia characterizes the reminiscences of Amelie Posse-Brazdova, a Swedish woman who was married to the Czech painter, Brazda. "Further" [Dutton, $3.50] continues her story begun in "Sardinian Sideshow."

For Readers of Mysteries

"Comets Have Long Tails," by Madeleine Johnston. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.]

This first mystery book by a Chicago writer is a good one, well written, human in its quality, and full of suspense, excitement, and a mass of snarled clews. Instead of having the puzzle solved by a detective, Mrs. Johnston creates a veteran newspaper man whose assignment is to ferret out the criminal who strangled White Flower, the lovely Chinese ward of Mrs. Roger Allison.

Before the tale is finished another young oriental is murdered, and a nurse, who figures in the plot, is garroted. Suspicion is thrown on just about every one, and in the end you're amazed to learn the person you never even considered is the guilty one.

Here's Must Reading for the Mystery Fan.

"Murder on Safari," by Elspeth Huxley. [Harpers, $2.]

Here's a first rate mystery with an African big game hunt as a background, a locale which the author, a cousin of Aldous Huxley, knows like the palm of her hand. There is the ring of authenticity in the description of the country, the natives, the animals.

If the de luxe expedition seems a bit too de luxe—with electric lights in all the tents, an electric refrigerator, and crates of champagne—luxury nevertheless adds spice to the story. Lady Baradale, whose money is financing the jaunt, loses $30,000 worth of jewels which she has taken along on the Safari. Vachell, superintendent of the nearest C. I. D. bureau, sets out to find the thief. A murder follows. Every one in the party seems to have a motive and might be guilty. And there's a big surprise at the end.

Cruise Ship Is Setting for Trio of Murders.

"The Grey Mist Murders," by Constance and Gwenyth Little. [Crime Club, $2.]

A round the world cruise ship is steaming out of the harbor at Tahiti on its way back to the United States when a murder is committed in an unoccupied de luxe cabin. The victim is Sally, an attractive and flirtatious young American.

The girl in the next stateroom is Carla Bray, and it is she who tells the story. Strangely enough, it is in her own lower bunk that another member of the cruise is strangled to death. In spite of the efforts of young Robert Arnold, who boarded the ship at Tahiti, and of Mr. Ogilvie, the purser, and of Capt. Lang, the criminal eludes capture. It is not until gossipy Mrs. Jennings is killed that the tangle is finally unsnarled.

E. W.

New Talent Enters the Mystery Field.

"Cradled in Murder," by Rudd Fleming. [Simon & Schuster, $2.]

Rudd Fleming offers to mystery readers a brand new talent, literate, intelligent, and extremely satisfying. His first entry in this field, "Cradled in Murder," marks him as a comer.

J. H. T.

"The Affair of the Ginger Lei," by Clifford Knight. [Dodd-Mead, $2.]

A canny slayer is at work in this detective story. The first victim dies of what apparently were natural causes, and there is difficulty in finding a motive for two other murders. Against a background of sailing vessels and lush Hawaiian scenery two sleuths go to work. The clews are present, but well hidden to insure the solution being a startling one.

Two Books Tell Absorbing Tales of the Old South

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

"The Handsome Road," by Gwen Bristow. [Crowell, $2.50.]

"Blow for a Landing," by Ben Lucien Burman. [Houghton-Mifflin, $2.50.]

Into the deep summer of northern Louisiana in the late 1700s went the New Englanders to plant indigo and build an empire. From their struggles and achievements grew a civilization as strange and wonderful as any the world has ever seen.

In the early nineteenth century cotton replaced indigo. The planters' wealth grew fabulous. Their temperaments changed under the hot sun. Gone was their New England frugality. They became the nobility of which cotton was the king. They were the southern aristocracy.

Gwen Bristow's recreation of this empire that sprawled along the rolling Mississippi is a remarkable piece of historical writing. In this book, the second of a trilogy, the florid civilization comes to full bloom and is destroyed. Two women set the tempo. For the one from Ardeith plantation the war means destruction. To the one from Rattlestrap Square it means hope.

"The Handsome Road" is absorbing and alive and gives great promise of Miss Bristow's future as a novelist.

"Blow for a Landing" is dedicated to two men through whose eyes Ben Burman has seen and come to understand the shanty boat folk of the lower Mississippi river. Mark Twain saw the shanty people fleetingly from the pilot houses of swift sidewheelers, but he never came to know them. From him, therefore, we get only the briefest glimpses of them.

But Burman rode into their country aboard the friendly little steamboat Tennessee Belle, of which Dick Dicharry is owner and captain and Charlie Barker is a pilot. Capt. Dick's shrewd humor and Capt. Charlie's kindly understanding gave Burman the introduction that enabled him to live among and interpret the Willow Joes, the Paw and Maw Pennys, the Birdie Mays, and the showboat people that go into this fascinating story.

Under Burman's touch the river lives, even as it did in "Huckleberry Finn." He paints true and terrifying pictures of its rampages and he has captured that something indefinable that is the river itself. Besides being a thrilling story, this novel is refreshing Americana.

Farming, Landscaping and Gardening Advice Offered in This Group

A Philadelphia business man, Henry Tetlow, decided that, instead of feeding his farm, his farm should feed him, and tells about farming after business hours for profit and pleasure in "We Farm for a Hobby and Make It Pay" [Morrow, $2].

If your problem is not farming but attractive home landscaping, "Planning and Planting Your Own Place," by Louis Van de Boe [Macmillan, $4.50], will be of help whether it is a small urban plot, a large suburban place, or a country estate.

If it is not practical advice, but garden lore, that interests you, "The Gardener's Day Book," by Richardson Wright [Lippincott, $2.50], contains anecdotes and humorous advice. "The English Garden," by Ralph Dutton [Scribners, $3], will form a contrast to "Chinese Gardens" by Dorothy Graham [Dodd Mead, $5].

NAZIS ROUND UP JEWISH DOCTORS FOR LABOR GANGS

Lawyers Also Are Forced to Work on Roads.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 10. — New raids against Jews in almost all German cities; measures to throttle Jewish business, and arrest of Jewish lawyers and doctors in Vienna, who are being compelled to work on roads, have started a new panic among Jews in Germany. Foreign consulates in Berlin and other cities are being swamped with applications from Jews seeking to emigrate.

The number of gentiles who fear that the new measures being used against the Jews may be applied against other non-Nazi groups also is increasing, judging by the number of Germans seeking information about emigration in the offices of foreign organizations.

Urge Speedup in Emigration.

The Nazi Institute for Study of Jewish Problems complained today that only 15,000 Jews had emigrated from Germany in 1937.

"If emigration continues at this rate," the institute said, "it will take 30 years before the last of the Jewish faith have left Germany."

The institute estimated that 140,000 Jews have left Germany since the Nazis assumed power in 1933.

Official revenue figures show that the "emigrants' tax" netted the German government more than $32,000,000 in 1937. Since most of the emigrants that year were Jews, it is assumed they paid an average of about $2,000 as a tax on their property for permission to leave Germany. They were not allowed to take along the balance of their property, but were compelled to deposit the money obtained through liquidation of their holdings in German banks. Under a recent ruling these funds cannot be transferred even if the Jews sell these frozen marks under their value.

Push Drive on Czechs.

Foreign experts on international law, who conferred on the legality of the measures the Nazis used to drive German born Jews from Germany asked German legal experts how Germany would feel if the countries which have German minorities decided to bring pressure to bear to force them to leave.

The Nazis replied that the German minorities could turn to their strong fatherland for help, whereas Jews born in Germany have no country willing to defend them.

The Nazi press, meantime, is using its heaviest propaganda artillery against Czechoslovakia. Newspapers today were filled with charges that Czechoslovakia is "merely a province of soviet Russia" and that the "bolsheviks control the Czech armament industry."

The public appears to be indifferent to the anti-Czech campaign. News dealers complain that even the juciest headlines about alleged Czech atrocities fail to encourage passersby to spend four cents for a paper.

PHYSICIAN ROBBED OF $15.

Dr. Jesse R. Gerstley of 5477 Hyde Park boulevard, a staf physician at the Michael Reese hospital, was robbed of his wallet containing $15 last night by two men at Congress street and Michigan avenue.

Bandit Is Shot

Millard Brewer held daily revolver practice for a year in the basement of his hamburger shop at 224 Chicago avenue. Early yesterday, for the first time, he put his practice to good use.

A man and woman entered the shop, ordered coffee, and drank it hastily. The woman departed, and her companion drew a pistol, forcing Brewer to surrender $8 from the cash register. As the bandit ran out Brewer grabbed his revolver from beneath a counter and fired. The robber staggered to an automobile and drove away with his woman pal.

Half an hour later their car rammed into a taxicab in front of 2133 Washington boulevard. A police squad seized the couple, who gave their names as Emmett Parks, 1237 North La Salle street, and Catherine Spirk, 3356 Monroe street. Parks, wounded in the back, was reported in a critical condition last night in the County hospital.

Persians Reach Egypt to Confirm Royal Engagement

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, June 10.—With the arrival in Egypt today of an official Iranian [Persian] delegation headed by Mahmoud Jam, prime minister, to confirm the engagement of Shahpur Mohammed Riza Pahlavi, crown prince of Iran, to Princess Fawzia of Egypt, one of the most important political alliances in the history of Islam is about to be completed. The Princess Fawzia, 17 years old, is the eldest sister of King Farouk, while the prince, 19 years old, is the oldest son of Riza Kahn Pahlavi, shah of Iran.

WOMAN TELLS HOW IT FEELS TO BE INSANE

Former Patient Describes Thought Processes.

San Francisco, Cal., June 10.—(AP)—The inside story of insanity—what a person thinks about when raving—was revealed to the American Psychiatric association today by a woman scientist who had been insane but recovered.

When dangerous, she disclosed, she had been mentally only an unhappy child seeking privacy for her grief. When in a stupor and refusing to talk, she was again a child wanting comfort and afraid to ask for it.

Recollections Are Unusual.

The scientist who was able to remember, something that seldom happens, was described as a doctor of philosophy in psychology. She was in Bellevue hospital and a private psychiatric hospital in New York for 2½ years with a psychosis that followed pneumonia.

The report of her story was made today by J. A. Kindwall, M. D., of Clifton Springs, N. Y., and Elaine F. Kinder, Ph.D., of Letchworth Village, Thiells, N. Y.

The patient recalled her thoughts by going back to the hospitals after her recovery, talking to the nurses and doctors, and reading newspapers and records of the period of her confinement. The story she recalled bit by bit covered 500 typewritten pages.

Newspaper File Gives Clew.

An old hospital newspaper file made her remember what happened when she was regarded as dangerous. While insane she had read of the accidental death by shipwreck of a group of her close friends and coworkers. Her reaction to the news was a series of animal-like howls and she became violent.

"During the days and nights that followed," she said, "the resentment and bitterness of that experience continued. At times everything that was said seemed an insult and every nurse who came near me seemed an enemy with diabolical intent. I seethed with hatred."

One of her treatments was occupational therapy. She was in the cooking class.

"I tried to follow what the instructor was saying," she wrote. "I kept hearing her voice, caught phrases, separate bits of what she said, and found myself wondering why all this seemed difficult. As work progressed, a change came.

Process Becomes Ritual.

"The ingredients of the cake began to have a special meaning. The process became a ritual. Egg whites must be folded in and from left to right; for each new thing that had to be done there were complicated reasons."

Then the realization came to her that she was in a mental hospital. She knew the doctors were trying to cure her.

"I knew that the hospital was doing the best it could," her story said. "Nevertheless, suspicion was there, too."

When she was on the road to recovery she recalled her resentment at being one of nature's guinea pigs on which doctors were trying to find a remedy for insanity.

CZECHS PREPARE TO VOTE BEHIND RING OF MACHINE GUN NESTS

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, June 10.—(AP)—Maj. Rudolf Broz of the army general staf today assured the nation that Czechoslovakia bristles with machine gun nests awaiting any invader. He gave a broad outline of Czechoslovak defenses in a radio broadcast as the government prepared large scale precautions against disorder Sunday in the third and last of a series of municipal elections.

On the diplomatic front, Stephan Osusky, Czechoslovak minister to Paris, arrived for hurried conferences with Foreign Minister Dr. Kamil Krofta, Premier Milan Hodza, and President Eduard Benes. Dr. Vojtech Mastny, minister to Berlin, was en route home for similar conferences.

The opinion was expressed freely by observers in higher circles, who have watched the recent negotiations, that no good would be accomplished by meeting the autonomy demands of Konrad Henlein's Sudeten German followers.

Liquor Dealer is Robbed of $1,850 by 2 Bandits

Harold Clamage, owner of several taverns and a wholesale liquor store, was robbed of $1,850 yesterday by two bandits who forced his car to the curb in front of 1420 Bosworth avenue. Clamage, who lives at 4306 Monroe street, told the police he was returning from a bank with the money.

SEEK WAY TO CUT PERSONALTY TAX ON STOCKS, BONDS

Other States' Rates Lure Chicago Funds.

Valuations on stocks and bonds may be reduced in the 1938 personal property assessments, now being made, property assessments, now being made, as a result of competitive tax situations in other states, Assessor John S. Clark indicated yesterday.

John S. Clark.

The 1937 personal property taxes, now being collected, were the first based on appraisals made with information gathered from federal income tax returns. Use of the returns made it possible to increase by millions of dollars the amount of intangible personal property carried on the assessment rolls. as a result of competitive tax situations in other states, Assessor John S. Clark indicated yesterday.

The 1937 personal property taxes, now being collected, were the first based on appraisals made with information gathered from federal income tax returns. Use of the returns made it possible to increase by millions of dollars the amount of intangible personal property carried on the assessment rolls.

As a result of the use of the income tax returns Assessor Clark was informed that a number of holding companies and trust funds might be moved away from Chicago because of increases in their taxes. In making his present assessments, he sought the aid of an advisory committee, which is trying to determine what valuations may be applied without driving taxable property from the city.

Income Taxes in 30 States.

"Other states are competitors for this property in a negative sense," Clark explained. "What we are seeking to find out is what taxes intangible property would have to pay if it left Chicago.

"In 30 or more states, it would be subject to a state income tax. The advisory committee has found that the average state income tax is about 6 per cent of total income. Our ad valorem rates on personal property under last year's assessment took about 12 per cent of income."

Under the 1937 assessment stocks and bonds were assessed at 20 per cent of their face value. Applying the equalization factor, 37 per cent of this figure was then taken, producing an assessment equal to 7.4 per cent, and a tax equal to about 6.5 mills on the dollar.

Representatives of trust companies and bank trust departments have told the advisory committee that they believe a tax of 2.5 mills, or $2.50 on each $1,000 full value, is the limit that intangible property can be expected to pay without being led to seek havens in other cities. This, Clark said, is somewhat less than the same securities would have to pay in income taxes, on the average, in other states.

Confer Over Trust Funds.

The advisory committee, consisting of J. L. Jacobs, Douglas Sutherland, Homer Buckley, George O. Fairweather, Joseph Keenan, Col. A. A. Sprague and William H. Struckman, conferred yesterday with Roy O. Osgood, vice-president of the First National bank, who is spokesman for the institutions handling trust funds. Mr. Clark and members of his staf were also present.

Clark said that valuations to yield a 2.5 mill tax rate might not be objectionable if banks would cooperate with county officials in collecting such a tax on their deposits. Bank deposits are taxable under Illinois law, but it has never been possible to tax them because banks have refused to disclose the amount of their depositors' balances.

In Cleveland, Clark said, a 2 mill tax on bank deposits produces about $3,000,000 a year in revenue, and is paid by the banks, which enter it as a charge against depositors.

A PEANUT FOR THE BEHEMOTH.

For three hours the national house of representatives on Thursday was in an uproar over $20,000. The reporters record that members got up to a point of emotional frenzy before they voted and that after the vote the defeated minority arose and walked out. The beneficiary of the $20,000 is Alphonse Roy, Democrat, of New Hampshire, now by grace of the vote a representative for the remaining few days of this session of congress. The Democratic majority in the house bounced out the Republican congressman, Arthur B. Jenks, who has represented this New Hampshire constituency nearly all of the two year term to which he was elected in 1936.

The election was closely run and the winner had only 17 votes to the good. Roy carried the contest into the house of representatives and last summer a house committee of eight went to the village of Newton in New Hampshire—a nice place in the summer—and questioned the entire voting population. Upon the merits of the case the view of an independent can be accepted. Representative Boileau, Wisconsin Progressive, said that the Farmer-Labor and Progressive groups in the house had studied the record carefully and upon the evidence every one of them thought Jenks was entitled to retain his seat. Seven of the Progressives and five Farmer-Laborites voted for the Republican and joined the walkout.

Possibly there is not very much in these angles to the case which need delay the observer. Partisanship has committed such minor outrages before, throwing a man out because a majority liked the color of another man's politics or of his eyes, as a legislative body has power to do at its own unrestricted pleasure. But there was an extraordinary interest taken in the $20,000 which Mr. Roy will be paid for the entire two years of service he did not give. If he had been unjustly deprived of his place in congress he was entitled to the salary.

Senator Brown, Democrat, of New Hampshire, is a candidate for renomination in the primaries in September. He appeared for Mr. Roy and he enlisted Senator Joseph Guffey of Pennsylvania. They went to work on the house Democrats and succeeded in reopening the case, which once before had been settled by a vote of 2 to 1 in favor of the Republican. As an open secret it is said that the $20,000 is to be used as a campaign fund in New Hampshire this fall, not only to help Alphonse Roy against Jenks again in their district but to help Senator Brown himself get his renomination.

Through the stained glass windows of the New Deal only a dim light has fallen upon the political turpitude of the politicians who have skirmished and maneuvered about in the odor of sanctity to commit more political larceny than could be possible of achievement in any régime conforming to the old barroom rules of political practice. The pretentious moralities of the New Deal have produced fewer saints and more sinners than one could reasonably expect to find in an administration not suspected of any intent except to make the most of political opportunity and get everything it could for the boys without running into the district attorney, the federal grand jury, and a disastrously adverse public opinion.

Some day, when investigations have had a chance to get at the record, it may be found that political morality in the United States has reached a new low in the last few years. The old line politician, if he had nothing else, had at least a decent regard for public opinion and there were many things he would not countenance because he knew that the damage would be far in excess of the profit.

Apparently the stained glass windows have destroyed even this sense of caution. It is now the prevailing political opinion that the intentions of the New Deal are so highly regarded as noble and beyond criticism that the politicians operating in the light of the effulgence can do anything they please and get away with it because no one will believe evil of them.

PUBLICITY FOR UNION ACCOUNTS.

The wife of Claude F. Peters, a former official of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union, in her suit for divorce charges that he has seven bank accounts and owns an apartment building worth $100,000 and a great many other things, including $3,000 in government bonds and a $10,000 summer home.

When a woman is seeking a divorce her testimony regarding her husband's property and income may often be discounted, but even if that is done in this case it looks as if Mr. Peters did very well, indeed, in his job with the union. His wife says the job paid him $7,500 a year. In 1922 Peters was convicted, along with nine other officials of the janitors' union, and sentenced to the penitentiary on charges of extortion, but was obligingly pardoned by Gov. Small.

These few facts about Peters, sketchy as they are, offer another indication of how desirable it would be for unions to publish certified financial statements. That would give the rank and file a better idea than the members in most unions now have of where their money goes. If union officials knew that the books would be subject to independent audit a good many abuses which have brought some labor organizations into disrepute would be corrected.

TAX-FREE HOUSING.

Only the alertness of a down-state Democratic senator, Karraker of Jonesboro, stopped the passage shortly after midnight Thursday of three bills which would affect adversely every home owner in Chicago.

The bills, which had not been distributed among the senators, and which were even yesterday not available in Chicago, would exempt federal housing projects from local taxation. A donation, a mere token payment, would be all that could be collected on such homes for the support of schools, streets, police, and fire protection, and the other services of local governments. Senator Ward justified the measures on the ground that Washington said Illinois must pass the bill or there would be no more federal housing money spent in Illinois cities.

These are vicious bills, which would undermine the whole institution of private property. Any one who, with his own money or with what he is able to borrow, builds a house to be rented, or has done so in the past, has to pay all of the expenses, of which taxes are frequently the biggest item. Private owners cannot compete when there are other buildings which are exempt from this major cost item.

To exempt more property now is backsliding. Every effort has been made to get away from the mistakes of the past in granting to some, immunities from taxes which others have to pay. The President himself has gone on record against tax exempt securities. He said that tax exempt bonds, for example, provide an island on which people may hide with their means and avoid taxes. His subordinates cannot consistently insist that states shall exempt certain homes from taxation, as islands where people may live and enjoy the services of local government while being exempted from the obligations to pay a proportionate share of their cost.

And there are other objections to the bills. Senator Karraker has found that the federal government is "buying up land for projects of all sorts and taking it out of taxation." This increases the burden on the owners of private property, for they will not only have to pay their fair share but will have to assume the share of the burden from which other real estate is to be excused.

The government's socialized housing schemes are bound to affect real estate values adversely. The government has provided 2,400 homes in Chicago in its three completed projects. The number of homes which the Home Owners' Loan corporation has taken back and is trying to sell is of almost an exactly equivalent number. When the number of homes is increased by the government the price and the rents of houses already available must be affected

If the government is to continue to undercut landlords who do not enjoy tax exemption no one will care to own real estate. Property owners are not the only ones who have an interest in defeating the tax exemption bills. Local governments are sustained by revenues, largely based on property valuations. These bills threaten the bread and butter of every local government employé.

ONLY A HUNDRED MILLIONS.

When speaking of railroads in the aggregate it is the custom to use the government's language—billions. The roads owe 11 billion dollars; the public holds [the bag for] 7 billions of stock; the roads take in a little more than 6 billions in a year and pay out in expenses alone nearly 6 billions, etc.

But a great deal less than a billion; in fact, one hundred million dollars a year of fresh net revenue, if it could be found, would go a long way toward solving the railroad problem. That much would not put the roads on easy street, but it would make it possible to run the business without looking in the reception hall every few minutes to see if the sherif has arrived.

A hundred million dollars is nearly twice the amount remaining on the average for net income of the railroads for the last three years [net income is the technical term for what is left after paying expenses and interest charges]. In each of the three years before that there was no net income at all, the red figure averaging about 50 million dollars a year. So the vexatious question, what about the railroads, simmers down to a quest for the missing hundred million.

An answer has been discovered. In the new light railroad cars lies genuine hope for the railroads. Philip Hampson reported in THE TRIBUNE the other day, using the newly developed high tensile steels, an average sized freight car is now available weighing 6 tons less than the standard cars made of ordinary steel. It has been estimated that if such cars were substituted for the cars now rolling operating costs would go down by 100 million dollars a year.

If the railroads cannot buy the cars now companies can perhaps be formed to lease them to the railroads. But obviously neither the railroads nor any one else will build these modern cars if the government, by rates and regulations, prevents the lines from earning profits, or if it by taxation confiscates all the profits.

Editorial of the Day

WHAT! NO TAMPERING?

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

A privilege almost as sacred as if it were imbedded in the bill of rights is impiously assailed at Albany. A delegate in the state constitutional convention proposes to make it "unlawful" for any one to tamper with a legislative clock!

Generations of legislative clock tamperers will rise up to blast the proposal. The Albany suggestion strikes at one of democracy's most cherished habits. An untamperable timepiece is as unthinkable as a three legged quadruped.

At a solemn moment near the end of a legislative session a resolution is unanimously adopted to adjourn sine die at a stated hour three weeks hence. Legislators wink at each other, knowing how little it means. Comes the hour. The clock is stopped. Perhaps the assembly recesses from day to day for a week or two while the hands of the faithless clock still point to the hour named in the resolution. The "legislative day" may be anywhere from twenty-four hours to five weeks.

And now a restless and irreverent age would put a stop to this time honored hocus pocus by writing into the state's basic law a prohibition against more than a twelve hour day at lawmaking. The suggestion merits a protest from the society for the preservation of senseless customs.

Crypts and Scripts.

How the conversation turned to funerals and epitaphs we don't know, but George Jessel, in town for a personal appearance with Norma Talmadge at the Chicago, volunteered his own. He and Jimmy Walker, former New York mayor, have made a solemn pact to make the address at the funeral service of each other. Jessel offers as his epitaph, "I left the world as I entered, whining, embittered by it all."

This gloomy talk led on to a discussion of the fact that the body of the late Valentino, whose "The Son of the Sheik" is now being shown throughout the country, lies in a borrowed crypt. Originally it was placed in the crypt of June Mathis. Her crypt received his body—her script gave him to the world, if you don't mind the pun. Miss Mathis adapted "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," Valentino's first big success. When she died his body was removed to another borrowed crypt.

Jessel is still working on his biography, "Twenty-five Cents 'Til Two o'Clock," which brings in personalities as varied as Max Baer and Calvin Coolidge, Fritz Kreisler and Man Mountain Dean. Jessel first appeared in Chicago in 1911, and when he showed here the second time it was at the Majestic, and the late Sarah Bernhardt was on the bill. His theatrical career started when he was less than teen age, and he, Walter Winchell, and another lad were billed as the Imperial Three under the names Leonard, Lawrence, and McKinley. Jessel was McKinley, Winchell was Lawrence.

One of Jessel's gags is that Chicago is a great show town—they're not giving away furniture in the theaters yet. But one big theater chain gave away packages of cigarets the other evening.

DELPHINIUM.

They appear like tall blue-uniformed sentinels
Guarding the ramparts of a fortress,
The turquoise tint of a tranquil sea;
The azure of a mountain haze at twilight;
The glistening blue of butterfly wings;
Regal blue velvet of an emperor's mantle;
The sapphire heavens of a summer night,
All flashing brightly in the gold of the noonday sun,
As a passing breeze musters them for action.

Thomas Carter Law.

CUFF NOTES—The first sidewalk café of the town is—believe it or not—Barney's Market club, at Randolph and Halsted, which has set out tables with checked cloths amid the hustle and bustle of the market section. . . . A talent scout for Paramount, in town yesterday, saw a photograph of Joan Bersbach in Paul Stone's studio, where he was photographing possible movie "material," and thought she was the loveliest creature he ever had seen. He was interested, too, in Joy Hawley, the Northwestern syllabus queen. Also in Louis Sudler. . . . A Goodman theater student, Bernadine Baysten, is going east next week for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer tests.

All of which brings to mind that a bachelor apartment on Elm street is being closed. The maple furniture, the beige and chocolate hangings, the crystal and chrome bar equipment will be sold, and Arthur, the oriental house boy, will have to find another job to help him along through music college. Today Truman Bradley signs his contract with M-G-M, the latest of Chicago's radio personalities to be taken over by the movies.

It happened on the south side, in the vicinity of East 69th street, says Carl V. Stratton. WPA workers who have been replacing bad sections of the sidewalk stopped for one of their much publicized breathing spells. A child addressed a colored worker, saying, "What are you waiting for?" He answered candidly, "For fou' thi'ty."

‡

Space for the Dissatisfied—

You are flattering yourself when you think the critics have washed their hands of the Line. They've just gotten tired of spending stamps, and skip your column. What's wrong? So many nonsensical stories. . . . This criticism won't be published, like many others, so rave on, MacBeth.

Alma Kelly.

And for the Sarcastic.

The Line is . . . feminine. It lilts, squeals, and comes downstairs pigeontoed.

Lawrence Hamilton.

A man attending the American Association of Industrial Physicians and Surgeons at the Palmer house was watching a film of a thyroid operation. He couldn't take it and fainted. A nurse near by rushed to his aid. "Is there a doctor in the house?" she is supposed to have asked.

INFRA DIG.

(Use a niblick.)

Now Leon swings so sweetly,
And Jimmy putts so neatly,
And the dean is off the fairway not at all;
But for me no help from heaven
Can change nine, or eight, or seven,
Be it written on the scorecard large or small.

With Leon, dean, and Jimmy
It is just a case of gimme;
When we settle bets I never make the haul:
I am definitely quitting—
Which means I will be hitting

Kenneth A. Morse.

Every time we write a paragraph for this column that appears too long, but is difficult to shorten, we remember a story Arnold Gingrich, editor of Esquire and associated magazines, once told. The English author H.·E. Bates had submitted a two-part manuscript of 6,000 words. It was too long for Esquire to handle, good as it was. After another careful reading it was discovered that it could be used if the first part were entirely discarded and two words inserted in the second, half of the manuscript. The two words were "Easter Sunday."

Another famous author sent in a manuscript that was too long. He was touchy about any changes, but finally agreed to a little deletion, subject to his approval. Gingrich cut out only one paragraph and returned the manuscript for the author's sanction. The paragraph was 3,000 words long. The author—Theodore Dreiser.

DRUGS MAY REACT ON SKIN.

HISTORY fails to record the period when mankind has not sought surcease from pain, and no one of us is in position to sense adequately the frightful suffering that must have filled the world before the discovery of anesthetics. Poppy juice [opium] and extract of mandragora root—even alcohol—deadened the senses and were gratefully accepted potions. But we now know that opium used over a period of time is as deadly as it is seductive, for addiction may make of life a living hell.

In the meantime, for minor aches and twinges, coal tar chemicals have brought reasonable comfort to millions. The latest of these compounds is barbituric acid with its various derivatives, sold under the trade names of allonal, luminal, and amytal—all similar but not identical.

Are these substances perfectly harmless and may we take them freely? They cannot be used regularly without an element of danger. While only a small proportion of the population will be influenced adversely, nevertheless many cases of skin eruptions or of destruction of white blood cells have been noted. Some authorities record that two out of every one hundred persons taking luminal [phenobarbital] show signs of cutaneous intolerance. Regardless of the kind of preparation, there seems to be no immunity to these reactions. Even acetyl salicylic acid [aspirin] provokes an intense itching in some instances.

The nature of these responses is not clearly understood. In fact, when one is in good health no trouble may be observed after the ingestion of a single dose. Nevertheless, should resistance drop or an intercurrent ailment appear, the behavior of the cuticle may be as annoying as it is prompt. Again, one who employs one of these medicaments over a long period of time may become sensitive to it. This resembles the phenomenon of hay fever, wherein a person who has been exposed to ragweed for many years without discomfort may develop a sudden allergy. This does not explain, however, why a single dose, harmless to the vast majority, will bring on toxic symptoms now and then. We hide our ignorance under the statement that it is due to an idiosyncrasy—an individual peculiarity.

What are these eruptions like? Many will be the typical hives [urticaria], and the lesions will exhibit themselves within an hour or two. For the most part the wheals will be scattered and, other than swelling or itching, there will be no untoward effects. Stopping the medicine usually relieves the symptom. A few cases, however, of severe swelling of the mucous membrane have been observed.

Then there is the form characterized by light red patches, in which the itching is intense and the swelling about the eyes may be so extensive as to close them. As a rule there is a rise in temperature and occasionally the episode is mistaken for the breaking out of measles, as the patient both looks and feels measly.

The so-called fixed type of eruption comes and goes in exactly the same spot. One patient who had used allonal suffered from an inflammatory area on the epidermis following each dose. As long as the drug was resorted to the eruption persisted, and even a fractional quantity after abstinence for several weeks would bring about its reappearance.

As a rule, no treatment is required other than a mild lotion to allay surface irritation.

We must not forget that one of the causes of the occasionally fatal affliction agranulocytosis is the prolonged administration of one of the remedies under discussion. The malady is characterized by a sharp drop in the number of white cells in the blood, the bacteria-fighting soldiers of the body. Even so simple a coal tar drug as amidopyrine [pyramidon] has been known to bring on a collapse of these defensive cells. Should barbiturates be prescribed routinely for insomnia or any other disorder, a cautious physician will check the blood count frequently.

INFECTION MAY LINGER.

T. P. writes: About three months ago I had a streptococcic sore throat from which I recovered. However, I still run a temperature of 99 to 100. Is this a normal occurrence after such an infection?

REPLY.

Some traces of your original trouble remain. Rest all that you can and remain under the care of your physician.

HABITUAL USE HARMFUL.

J. S. writes: Is soda, taken moderately, harmful?

REPLY.

Even a moderate amount of soda used habitually is likely to be harmful. But a small quantity taken occasionally, such as in the face of an oncoming cold, is helpful.

SEND FOR LEAFLET.

F. P. writes: Will you please give some information on bad breath?

REPLY.

There are many causes and hence many remedies. Send a stamped, addressed envelope for leaflet on this subject.

CLOSING ESTATE.

Rockford, Ill., June 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died twenty years ago and my mother has been dead four years. The youngest in our family of eight is about 48 years old. My only sister is administrator and mother's estate is not yet settled. Several of the heirs are badly in need of their share.

1. Can my sister be forced to settle this up?

2. Does she not receive compensation each year she has charge of it? I owe this sister $200.

3. Can she take it from my share? I want to pay her but [4] if I had my share to invest I could pay her.

E. G. G.

1. Unless there is some excuse for the delay, we suggest that you ask the clerk of the court to bring pressure to bear on her to close the estate.

2. We are not in a position to say. In general, an administrator's fee would not be increased by delay.

3. Yes, by appropriate court proceedings.

4. Your creditors can insist that you pay them instead of speculating with the money.

THE LIBERAL LANDLORD.

Chicago, June 10.—I see letters lauding the true American spirit of those living in the federal housing projects here — the Jane Addams, the Lathrop, and others. Anyhow they are lucky; they are $282.45 ahead of my family in taxes and home expenses for the year of 1937.

With this saving in money there are many things they should appreciate. They say that a camera doesn't lie. Fine; take a camera and go to a housing project and take pictures. What do you find? Good automobiles parked at the curb; children well dressed and the people well dressed. Then go to a small residence neighborhood where people are paying $5 to $6 a week to help support these housing projects, and here you will find older automobiles not parked in the street but in garages on the rear of the lots; papa, mamma, and the children not so well dressed.

And they call this a New Deal. Either people are blind or don't look at both sides. It is time the small home owner woke up.

CARL WOLMER.

BAD STREET CAR SERVICE.

Chicago, June 3.—A few days ago I took my first street car ride since they laid off 500 of their employés. And from what I went through in order to get home proved to me that at the present time the street car service is terrible. Please understand that I am not referring to the employés but to the people responsible for that big layoff. I rode all the way from the loop to about 6000 north and because I remained a gentleman I did not at any time have the slightest chance of getting a seat. It was in the afternoon.

I am not the only one who thinks the laying off of 500 conductors and motormen not only proved harmful to the service but also added to our list of unemployed.

Why don't they put these men back to work and give us adequate service?

HOWARD D. COLLINS.

DIOGENES LIVES HERE.

Chicago, June 8.—If I remember correctly, I read a good many years ago that there was a fellow with a lantern looking for an honest man in Athens. Well, in the middle of the day today, I found an honest man in Chicago.

We were going to attend the ball game today at Cubs' park and there was hardly any parking space, when a man in the middle of the street pointed to the alley. He asked us if we would like to park in a two car garage which he owned. I said we did. Well, he said, you'd better not park now because tickets are all sold out. Maybe you had better find out if you can get tickets first and, being of Yankee and Scotch descent, I thought it best to do so. That's what I call a genuine, honest man.

C. B. ALDRICH.

"SWELL FELLOW," PLEASE NOTE.

Chicago, June 8.—To the swell fellow, who was driving east on Monroe street heading toward Hamlin avenue Monday evening, the pedestrian you knocked down and out is still in a state of coma. The doctors fear permanent disablement due to striking the curb sharply in his attempt to avoid getting hit by your beautiful car.

He happens to be the sole supporter of a family of five. You might keep this in mind—that he might have been walking around today had you stopped and aided him. You probably gained a few seconds in getting where you were speeding to; you took a few years from a person headed toward a great career.

Thanks for the helpful "push" you gave my brother.

A HELPLESS ONE.

TO THE RESCUE OF THE PRUNE.

Chicago, June 2.—The pitiful plight of the pristine prune, as your editorial writer so poignantly pictured it today, moves this reader to offer project A to rescue this sweet succulent from breakfast table oblivion.

It's quite true that the breakfast prune can't cope with the orange juice in popular favor. But the prune has its place. It can step out of the kitchen into the automobile. In all our peregrinations, Saturdays, week-ends, or vacations, we feel incompletely equipped unless we carry a box of prunes. We eat prunes as we ride hither and yon over Du Page county or over Florida or Mexico.

Prunes are the most delicious thirst quenchers and general life savers to be consumed anywhere at any time. They don't get squashy like bananas, they're not runny like oranges, or thirst-creating like candy, or dusty in the throat like crackers, or hard on the jaws like gum—they are, in short, the perfect traveling companion. They don't spill out, or fall on the floor or stick up the fingers. They stay put in their box till needed, clean and correct, as any traveler should be.

Put a box of prunes in every motor car and the prune crop will take care of itself.

AUDREY OF GLEN ELLYN.

A WORD FOR THE SELF-RELIANT.

Chicago, June 7.—When our President told 148 families in Arthurdale "I am proud of you" he was uttering purest bunk. Proud for what? Your and my tax money to the tune of over two millions has been spent to make things better for 148 families. If that is the yardstick cost to make us proud of several million families in the U. S. A., what are we going to use for money?

Let us rather be proud of those who are taking care of themselves.

A TAX PAYER, YET.

WANTS MORE OF HENNING.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 6.—One of my Sunday evening enjoyments has been listening to the "Capitol Comments" of your commentator, Arthur Sears Henning, in Washington. I heard with regret last night that these broadcasts are to be discontinued until next session.

Having spent eighteen years in Washington, twelve years as an officer in the senate, I feel justified in saying that Mr. Henning is a power for the cause of Republicanism that should not be discontinued.

B. E. AVERY.

JUST WAIT TWO YEARS.

Chicago, June 8.—Our President says if people think he will amend the Wagner act they are cockeyed. He's telling us. Well, two more years of F. D. R. and there won't be enough people working to make an amendment necessary; it would affect so few.

C. RALPH.

BELL SCHOOL'S APPEAL.

Chicago, June 5.—During this year the Bell school student council has organized a patrol to protect our building against vandalism and glass breakage. Fifteen squads of boys took turns patroling the building and grounds each afternoon from 3 to 6 p. m. As a result glass breakage and destruction were reduced so much that the students who devoted their time to this act of citizenship felt well repaid.

Now that late spring has arrived the adults of our neighborhood are playing ball in our school yard. To them, we make the following plea:

Please take just as good care of our school as the children who attend the Bell school. If you play ball, bat the ball away from the building, not toward it.

And please don't tramp down our nice bushes and lawns. The Bell school children have planted many of these bushes to make our school beautiful and we are very proud of them.

ETHEL WEIGELT,
3730 North Oakley Avenue.

LOVELY, EVEN IF NOT A MIRAGE.

Chicago, June 8.—I wonder if you have ever seen a mirage. Well, I was driving north on Skokie highway Monday night in a driving rain that came down in buckets.

On reaching route 183, that runs into Antioch, the sky out west was clearing into a perfect arch, with the sun setting in the center, and the sky a beautiful blue. Around the sun, hanging lazily, were purple clouds and other light gray ones, making you vision a desert with camels walking, and then hills coming up and all sorts of imaginable scenes. On driving west on route 183 it seemed we were riding into the desert.

On top of all this, the rain was still pouring and next to the mirage a rainbow formed that seemed to be miles high, making this scene something you could only dream of.

OBSERVER.

USEFUL JOB FOR WPA.

Chicago, June 3.—Chicago has outgrown its present sewerage system. Why not have the WPA do something that will benefit all home owners? Flooded basements are so discouraging.

The WPA has been grading new school property near my home for nearly two years. The wheelbarrow parade is disgusting. Each man has two to three shovelfuls of dirt which he walks around two blocks to dump. Let them finish the jobs quickly and go at the sewerage question.

If all home owners who suffer from flooded basements would appeal to the press I think something would be done for us.

ARTHUR ROGERS, RETIRED RECTOR, DIES IN EVANSTON

Funeral Rites Monday in St. Mark's Church.

Rev. Arthur Rogers.

The Rev. Dr. Arthur Rogers, rector emeritus of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Evanston, and well known throughout the country, died yesterday in the home of his son, Horatio, 1322 Davis street, Evanston. He was 74 years old and had lived in retirement in Newport, R. I., and in Evanston since 1930 after completing forty years in the ministry.

Funeral services will be held in St. Mark's church at 4 p. m. Monday, with the Rev. Dr. Harold Bowen, rector, officiating.

Native of Rhode Island.

Dr. Rogers was born in Providence, R. I., and was graduated from Brown university and Cambridge Theological seminary, Cambridge, Mass. He was granted an honorary doctorate in divinity from Brown university in 1909.

He served churches at Central Falls, R. I., and Westchester, Pa., before going to Evanston, where he was rector at St. Mark's from 1913 until his retirement.

Author of Several Books.

Dr. Rogers was the author of several books, including "Men and Movements in the English Church" and "Prophecy and Poetry."

He is survived by four sons, Horatio and Arthur Jr. of Evanston, Paul of Newport, R. I., and Samuel Rogers, professor of English at the University of Wisconsin in Madison. His wife, the former Cornelia Arnold of Providence, R. I., died several years ago.

CHARGES MISUSE OF WATERWORKS FUNDS IN HARVEY

A suit charging misuse of the funds of the Harvey municipal waterworks was filed yesterday in Federal court in behalf of John G. Getz Jr. of Detroit, Mich., who owns $240,000 of the suburb's $350,000 waterworks bonds. Defendants named are the city of Harvey, Frank W. Bruggemann, mayor; W. L. Voss, treasurer; George P. Fisher, commissioner of public property; R. E. Mallstrom, superintendent of waterworks, and the four waterworks commissioners.

Charging that large sums were either diverted, lost, or embezzled, the suit asks an accounting of $287,000 alleged to have been earned by the sale of water to adjoining municipalities. Appointment of a receiver for the water system and retirement of the bond issue also are asked.

Informed of the suit, Mayor Bruggemann issued a statement denying any wrongdoing in connection with the funds.

WHEN JOSEPH TAKES A DRIVE THINGS HAPPEN

First, a delivery truck driven by Joseph Savino, 19 years old, sheared off a telephone pole and damaged a street light post when he swerved to avoid hitting another truck.

Then a passerby smoking a cigaret, carelessly dropped a lighted match into a pool of gasoline from Savino's damaged car and the machine burst into flames.

N. Y. DRESS SHOP HEAD CONVICTED FOR SMUGGLING

New York, June 10.—[Special.]—A federal jury today deliberated for three hours and then returned a verdict of guilty against Guy Guerin de Font-Joyeuse, manager of the French dress shop at Marcel Rochas, Inc., charged with conspiracy and smuggling French made dresses into this country.

De Font-Joyeuse faces a maximum penalty of two years in a federal penitentiary for each of the two counts and a fine of $15,000.

His attorney, Maurice Leon, appealed to Judge William Bondy for an arrested sentence, arguing that the indictment had failed to state facts constituting a crime.

Marcel Rochas, owner of the shop, also was named in the indictment, but is in France.

Midst Mint of Money, Paris Workers Stage a Sitdown

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 10.—French mint employés today staged a sitdown strike in protest against legally decreed overtime work and had to be cleared out by police. It was to fill emergency orders that the men had been asked to work overtime, which is permitted by Premier Edouard Daladier's recent decree aiming to speed up production. Eighty-five new workers sufficiently skilled for this kind of work had been added, but the number was not sufficient, so the overtime plan was adopted.

DIES AT 58 AFTER FALL.

Son of Henry C. Lytton Sues for Trust Accounting

Walter Lytton of Highland Park yesterday filed a suit against his father, Henry C. Lytton, pioneer State street merchant, asking for an accounting of a $600,000 trust fund his father set aside for him in 1929. The younger Lytton avers that it has been dissipated until it has a value now of only $60,000. His sister, Mrs. Gertrude Benzinger of Brunner, Switzerland, filed a suit recently as a result of which the father was ordered to deposit $300,000 worth of stock in a trust fund he had set aside for her.

SOCIAL AGENCIES INSIST HOSPITAL POST BE FILLED

The Council of Social Agencies of Chicago yesterday addressed a letter to Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, urging that the county commissioners take speedy action in selecting the most competent executive that can be found to fill the vacant wardenship of the Cook County hospital.

Over the signature of President Ernest S. Ballard, the letter stated that the council had urged this course last December. Council officials have heard, the letter continued, that efforts to secure a competent administrator are meeting with opposition from some commissioners.

One reason for the delay is that the citizens' advisory committee has not yet transmitted to the board its formal recommendation in favor of Dr. Benjamin W. Black, noted health officer, who is superintendent of Alameda, Cal., county's four public hospitals.

MEDICAL QUACK FOUND GUILTY AND FINED $150

J. Edd Weidenfeller, 1103 East 63d street, who was arrested last summer in a drive on quacks, was found guilty yesterday of practicing medicine without a license. Judge Albert E. Isley of Newton, sitting in the County court, fined Weidenfeller $150 after a trial in which he waived a jury and pleaded not guilty.

At the hearing Assistant State's Attorney Jacob Sheer called witnesses who testified that Weidenfeller said he was entitled to practice medicine, although he is licensed only as a naprapath. An investigator for the department of registration and education testified that Weidenfeller prescribed medical treatment following an examination on June 26, 1937.

ACCUSED OF FATAL STABBING.

William Lyons, colored, 520 East 36th place, was held by the Stanton avenue police yesterday for the fatal stabbing of Harvey Garrett, also colored, of 340 East 43d street, at 36th street and Vincennes avenue.

OBITUARIES

Lewis G. Helm.

Funeral services for Lewis G. Helm, 88 years old, pioneer Arlington Heights business man who was born in a log cabin on the banks of the Des Plaines river, near Wheeling, will be held at 3 p. m. today in the Methodist church in Arlington Heights. Mr. Helm died last Monday in Arcadia, Cal., where he had spent the winters for several years. As a boy of 12 he enlisted in the Union army, but was sent home when officers discovered his age. He was in the lumber and coal business in Arlington Heights for nearly half a century. Surviving are two sons, Fred, of Arcadia, and Howard of Arlington Heights, and a sister, Mrs. Alice Cook of Winnetka.

Dr. Henry C. Becker.

Dr. Henry C. Becker, veterinarian and a member of the city health department for 30 years, died yesterday in his home at 24 West 109th place. He was 76 years old. As chief of the country division of the dairy products department Dr. Becker was responsible for inspection of dairy farms supplying milk to the city. He is survived by two brothers, Dr. Sebastian Becker and Maj. Albert V. Becker, a member of the state industrial commission. The funeral will be held at 2 p. m., Monday, in the chapel at 214 East 115th street. Burial will be in Cedar Park cemetery.

Charles H. Eldridge.

Funeral services for Charles H. Eldridge, 73 years old, executive secretary of Sigma Chi fraternity for the last six years, with offices in Chicago, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 5203 Lake Park avenue. Mr. Eldridge died Thursday in his home at 6111 Kimbark avenue. He was born in Indiana and was graduated from Purdue university in 1885. Surviving are his widow, Grace, and three sons, Rollin M., Richard B., and Charles H. Eldridge Jr.

John B. Rayn.

John B. Rayn, 64 years old, formerly general freight agent of the Rock Island railroad in Chicago, died yesterday in Duluth, Minn., where he moved a year ago to become general agent for the same lines. Mr. Rayn began his railroad career as a stenographer in 1895 with the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad. He joined the Rock Island Lines in 1902. His widow and a son, Hollis B. Rayn, survive. Funeral services will be held Monday in Minneapolis, Minn.

Robert Branand.

Robert Branand, father of Attorney Robert Branand Jr., died yesterday in his home at 603 Clinton place, River Forest, at the age of 92. Mr. Branand, formerly of Nashville, Tenn., had been retired from business for many years. Two other sons and three daughters also survive. The funeral will be held at 10 a. m. Monday in his home. Burial will be in Mount Carmel cemetery.

Louis Schmidt.

New York, June 10.—[Special.]—Louis Schmidt, 82 years old, violinist and composer who half a century ago toured the country when he was a concert master under Theodore Thomas, founder of what now is the Chicago Symphony orchestra, died today at his home in Queens.

William H. Crum.

Springfield, Ill., June 10.—(AP)—William H. Crum, 68 years old, insurance lawyer and former president of the Illinois Elks' State association, died last night after a long illness. He formerly was employed in the state insurance department, later acting as counsel for several insurance companies.

Arthur Alonzo Schomburg.

New York, June 10.—[Special.]—Arthur Alonzo Schomburg, 64 years old, Negro scholar and curator of the Division of Negro Literature, History and Prints in the 135th Street branch of the New York Public Library, died here today.

Waves His Handkerchief at Giraffe; Lands in Jail

New York, June 10.—[Special.]—Because he waved his handkerchief in the face of Pauline, a giraffe in Central park zoo, John Shaughnessy, 50 years old, must spend five days in jail. The giraffe seized the handkerchief and swallowed it.

Sandys Birket Foster.

Funeral services for Sandys Birket Foster, former Chicagoan, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the Rosehill cemetery chapel. Mr. Foster, who was 67 years old, died Wednesday in his home in Rock Beach, Rochester, N. Y. Born in England, Mr. Foster came to America in 1893, joining the Chicago auditing firm of Price and Waterhouse. Four years later he moved to Rochester when an English syndicate bought the Bartholomay Brewing company. Later he became president of the company, but during prohibition dismantled the plant and turned it into a milk, butter and ice cream plant. Surviving are his widow, Katherine H., and two daughters.

Constance Fletcher.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, June 10.—News was received here today of the death in Venice of Miss Constance Fletcher, American born novelist and dramatist, better known in the world of letters as George Fleming. She was 80 years old. Miss Fletcher, who had lived in Venice since childhood, gained literary acclaim at the age of 18 with her first book, "A Nile Novel," and enhanced her reputation when she forsook fiction for the drama. Here her most notable success was an adaptation of Kipling's "The Light That Failed," which had a long run in England and America.

Leonard S. Manly.

Leonard S. Manly, 61 years old, for forty years assistant to Dr. Ludwig Hektoen, director of the John McCormick Institute, died yesterday in the Presbyterian hospital. Mr. Manly was well known in medical research circles and was considered to be the oldest medical technician in the city. He resided at 2240 Monroe street. Surviving are his widow, Hattie, a daughter, Mrs. Bernice Humphner, and two sons, Thomas and Dr. Wilbur Manly. Funeral services will be held Monday at 10:30 a. m. in the chapel at 2346 Madison street, with burial in Elmwood cemetery.

M. B. M'PARTLAND, RAIL OFFICIAL, DIES IN ST. LOUIS

M. B. McPartland.

M. B. McPartland, 1125 Lunt avenue, general superintendent of motive power, Rock Island railroad lines, died yesterday morning in St. Louis, according to word received here. He was 56 years old. His widow and six children survive. After his graduation from Purdue university in 1905 Mr. McPartland engaged in railroad work in Cuba and in Mexico before coming to Chicago. In 1910 he was general foreman of the Rock Island's 47th street yards, after which he went to California with the Western Pacific, residing in Sacramento for fifteen years. He returned to the Rock Island and to Chicago in June, 1936. Death occurred while he was on a business trip.

DEMAND CITY PAY HIGHER PRICE FOR BREAST MILK

Eight colored mothers who supply milk to the board of health for distribution to undernourished infants demanded a pay increase yesterday in the city hall and threatened to strike. Dr. Bundesen told them that the finance committee must consider the matter before he can act. This contented them.

The women receive 6 cents an ounce, which amounts to about 84 cents a day. At this rate the city pays them and others a total of about $555 a month. Other expenses of the milk service total nearly $1,000. They asked for a boost to 16 cents an ounce which, Dr. Bundesen said, would increase the annual expense by more than $25,000. Each woman also receives carfare and a quart of regular milk.

Miss Gertrude Galloway Will Be Fall Bride

BY JUDITH CASS.

TONIGHT at a dinner party in San Francisco Dr. and Mrs. Charles Edwin Galloway of Hubbard Woods will announce the engagement of their daughter, Gertrude Hagar, to Gerald Wayne Carter of Yosemite Park, Cal. Dr. and Mrs. Galloway took a plane last night for San Francisco, where he is to read a paper and give a scientific exhibit at the annual meeting of the American Medical association.

Miss Galloway has just finished her third year at Mills college in Oakland, Cal. She made her debut at a tea last September. She and Mr. Carter, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee Carter of Los Angeles, plan to be married next November.

Dr. and Mrs. Galloway and Miss Gertrude will motor from San Francisco to the Jackson Hole country of Wyoming, where they will meet the three younger members of the family and camp for ten days before returning home.

Reveal Engagement of Miss Ellen Allen.

Romantic news from the east is contained in a note from Mrs. Porter Allen of Still Water, Bowmansdale, Pa., who today is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Ellen, to Oliver Martin of Paoli, Pa. Miss Allen and her family lived in Winnetka for several years, and she made her debut here in 1935, taking part in the Service club play that year. She is a graduate of the Shipley school at Bryn Mawr.

Mr. Martin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl N. Martin of Paoli. He is a graduate of St. George's school at Newport, R. I.

Lake Forest Flower Show Opens Today.

"In case of rain, postponed until June 12" is a line on the tickets issued by the Lake Forest Garden club for this year's flower show, but the request for tickets was so great that the show is going to be on tomorrow whether today be rainy or sunshiny. Every one—the dozens who have arranged the show and the hundreds who plan to attend it—is hoping for good weather on both days.

The show is to be held from 11 to 7 o'clock each day on the estate of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Dean Bevan, 740 North Green Bay road. Tickets, which will be sold at the gate, are one dollar for adults and fifty cents for children. Light refreshments will be on sale inside.

Estate Is Known for Large Gardens.

The Bevan estate is one of the most beautiful on the north shore, with exceptionally large gardens. Just to visit it would be a treat, but regular flower show exhibits will be on display, too, horticultural exhibits in the garage and flower arrangements in the orangerie. There also will be an exhibition of five period rooms, a flower market in the walled courtyard, and a herb shop, which is a new feature of the show. Mrs. Roy Sturtevant, Mrs. Thomas Cassady, Mrs. Lawrence Scudder, and Mrs. Albert D. Farwell are in charge of it. Herbs that have been shipped from Maryland will be on sale.

Mrs. Thomas A. Connors and Mrs. Keith Carpenter are co-chairmen of the committee that has planned the show and Ambrose C. Cramer is the consulting architect responsible for the work that has been done on the Bevan estate to prepare it for the show.

Mrs. Harry M. McIntosh and Miss Harriet Stuart are among the many who have planned luncheons to precede the show today. Mrs. McIntosh's will be at her home in Lake Forest and Miss Stuart's will be at the Shoreacres club. Her guests will be the Colonial Dames.

Art Institute Garden Tour Will Be Today.

Dr. and Mrs. Bevan's gardens will be visited this afternoon by 150 members of the Art institute, who will accompany Dr. Dudley Crafts Watson on his annual north shore garden pilgrimage. The group will meet this morning at 9 at the institute and will go first to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carpenter's home in Evanston. Then to the Langdon Pearse estate and Mrs. Arthur C. Sullivan's place in Winnetka; on to Mrs. John Stuart's and Mrs. Robert Cluett's homes in Hubbard Woods, and then to Mrs. Milton F. Goodman's in Glencoe.

Dr. Watson and his group will have luncheon at the Onwentsia club and after visiting the Bevans' place they will see the gardens of the Walter S. Brewsters, the Alfred E. Hamills, Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson in Lake Forest. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice L. Rothschild and Dr. and Mrs. Watson will open their gardens in Highland Park late in the afternoon, after which dinner will be served at the Shawnee Country club.

Relatives Welcome Visitors to Chicago.

A welcome visitor is Mrs. Walter Ayer who has come from New York to visit her sisters-in-law, Mrs. Cecil Barnes and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase.

Another visitor is Miss Frances Sise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sise of Montreal, who is spending a month in Lake Forest with the Frederick A. Prestons. Mrs. Sise is a cousin of Mrs. Preston.

Mrs. George P. Fisher is entertaining her granddaughters, Ethel Virginia and Gertrude Anne Hardin, daughters of the Reginald Hardins of Nokomis, Fla. They and a Minneapolis school friend came especially to see the Lake Forest Garden club show today.

South Shore Horse Show Opens Today

Miss Phyllis Thompson will exhibit in Chicagoland's first horse show of the season to be held at the South Shore Country club today and tomorrow for the benefit of three centers of the Infant Welfare society—the Beverly Hills, the South Shore and the Kenwood Social Service. Miss Thompson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Thompson. As chairman of the stables committee of the club, Mr. Thompson is in charge of the show.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Three Programs

The South Shore Country club horse show will open promptly at 10 o'clock this morning, with other performances at 2 o'clock and 10 o'clock tomorrow. Reservations for a horse show ball to be held at the club tonight were sold out several days ago.

Adding to the sartorial elegance of the ring will be those well dressed horsewomen, Mrs. Kimball Salisbury, Mrs. William B. McIlvaine, Mrs. Merrill Hubbard and her daughters, Marie and Elizabeth Hubbard, and Priscilla Armstrong.

Fashions in the stands will be enlivened by the presence of a dozen or more mannequins wearing the latest summer creations just as the big French courturiers show their models at the races at Auteuil.

Other entertainment will be provided by members of the 124th Field Artillery, who will parade, and by a trained Dobermann-Pinscher, Jacky, who gives an amusing horse comedy.

Marshall Field and Joanne Bass Select Wedding Attendants

New York, June 10.—[Special.]—John Roosevelt, son of President and Mrs. Roosevelt, who weds Anne Lindsay Clark on June 18, will postpone his honeymoon for two days to be an usher at the wedding on June 20 of Joanne Bass, daughter of former Gov. and Mrs. Robert Perkins Bass of Peterborough, N. H., and Tucson, Ariz., to Marshall Field Jr., son of Marshall Field and Mrs. Diego Suarez of this city.

The Field-Bass wedding will take place at 4 o'clock in the Union church, East Walpole, and a reception will follow at Endean, the East Walpole estate of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird.

Mrs. Frank Adair Bonsal of Green Spring Valley, Md., will be her sister's matron of honor. The other attendants will be Mrs. Anthony Bliss, the former Barbara Field, a sister of the bridegroom; Diana Bird and Mrs. Joanne Shaw Parker of Walpole, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. John T. Harrison and Miss Margaret Altschul of New York.

Edward I. Farley of New York will be best man for Mr. Field, whose ushers will include Archibald D. Foster and Volney W. Foster of Lake Forest, Ill.; George B. Blake, Reginald Boardman, and John Lowell Lyman, all of Boston; Charles S. McVeigh, John Graham, and Anthony Bliss of New York; Thomas W. Bullitt of Louisville, Ky.; Donald McKellar of Garden City, N. Y., and Perkins Bass of Peterborough, brother of the bride.

ENGAGEMENT

Joseph Wertheimer announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage on June 19 of his sister, Bernice, to Milton Morse. The ceremony will take place at the Wertheimer home at 5132 Cornell avenue. A reception following the ceremony will be held at the home from 7 until 10 o'clock.

'Call of Yukon' Is an Exciting Adventure Film

"CALL OF THE YUKON."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"The Call of the Yukon" varies refreshingly a diet of more "sophisticated" fare.

It is a drama of the frozen north, adapted from James Oliver Curwood's good story, "Swift Lightning," and both human and animal actors make the screen version an entertaining and believable one.

The serious animal stuff is carried by two intelligent dogs, Eskimo and Collie. The comedy is put over in a fashion by a pair of the funniest bear cubs you ever saw, and a talking crow.

Of excitement the film has aplenty. Witness the wild dog attack on a herd of moose, the avalanche, the fight for a woman, staged in a cabin by Messrs. Arlen and Talbot—and the ice break. . . . O, without a doubt, here's a movie for all us kids!

As the picture opens you discover natives and a girl author who's gone up in the Yukon wastes to write a book—menaced by wild dogs, that, through hunger, have got out of hand. The natives, believing them devils, refuse to aid in killing them, and flee the place. The girl, Jean, is fearless and plans to stay. She is finally convinced by a ruse perpetrated by stalwart Trapper Gaston that her life's in danger. Starts a long trek over the dangerous wastes to an outpost of civilization.

It is with this journey, during which a man and a woman learn a lot about one another, and a lovely collie, Firefly, becames the mate of a half wild Eskimo dog, Swift Lightning, that most of the action is concerned.

Beverly Roberts is at her best in out of door rôles such as that of Jean; Richard Arlen, always a sincere player, and Lyle Talbot, excellently cast as a Seattle man who learns about the call of primitive forces from unexpected sources, give fine performances.

Under expert direction, and against authentic and fascinating backgrounds, the film unreels swiftly and interestingly.

It's a movie you'd like at any time, but my, my!—how good it's going to look to you on a hot day!

See you tomorrow.

San Francisco to Hear Caricature by Borowski

"Fernando Del Nonsentsico," a caricature of grand opera written by Felix Borowski, Chicago composer and musicologist, will open a week's engagement at the Geary theater, San Francisco, next Monday. The piece was produced in southern California about a year ago. It may be brought east if the San Francisco run is successful.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Inglewood Track Influence.

Hollywood, Cal., June 11.

Charlie McCarthy—Outran termites at Tanforan.

Alice Brady—Starts slow, but kills them of in backstretch.

Danielle Darrieux—French filly is a shapely miss, and in the "rage of Paris" stakes improves over her first start in Mayerling mile. Handicappers say she is best foreign-bred to race here.

George Raft—Stable connections rate him a good honest performer, but didn't give him much help in last outing when he was coupled as an entry with Sylvia Sidney.

Cary Grant—Always running at the wire.

Fred Astaire—Clockers say that he is showing more ginger in morning preps.

Gloria Holden—A clocker's special.

Mickey Rooney—Best of the juveniles.

Katharine Hepburn — Bettors inclined to favor this one again, after early disappointments. Needs blinkers and whip to be at her best.

Robert Montgomery—This son of Night Must Fall out of Yellow Jack is versatile and handy at any route.

W. B. Warner—Consistent.

Priscilla Lane—Formful filly.

John Carradine—Menaces the best of them.

Reginald Owen—This sturdy handicapper is ready for bigger assignments, judging from the way he has handled his weight imposts.

Maureen O'Sullivan—Reaching best form.

Jackie Cooper — Another juvenile who proves that class will tell.

Paulette Goddard — Erratic miss; will improve now that she is in Selznick barn.

Robert Taylor—Training brilliantly.

Darryl Zanuck—Running at Epsom Downs, near Twickenham-on-the-Thames, in the 10,000 guineas.

Walter Pidgeon—A bird of another color.

Louise Rainer—Needs blinkers.

Bette Davis—As temperamental as War Admiral, but, like him, wins all starts.

George Brent—Can't be overlooked. Has improved vastly.

Bruce Cabot—A killer.

WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Mary Jane Frankenstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Frankenstein of 3100 Sheridan road, to Seymour I. Burton, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Bernstein of 551 Roscoe street, took place yesterday at the Belmont hotel.

Daytime Frocks Keep You Smart at Small Cost

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Complaints regarding the lack of good looking daytime dresses that are priced for slender budgets will be muffled after an inspection of some summer specials with price tags that stay around seventeen dollars. Take all your well hoarded pennies and join the crowd and really see something.

Trim, pleated daytime finds in white have the newest shirred bodice tops. The well pressed pleats, that go all the way around the skirt, are stitched down for hip smoothness. Some filmy dark sheers, also plaited, button down the front and have snowy white layers of organdy at the collar and cuff line and a patent lether belt.

If you don't crave plaits you'll find lots of pencil slim affairs with just a few plaits fore and aft, pockets on the chest, and decorative colored buttons in powder pink, baby blue, and a few other pastels to give you variety.

One exceedingly dress parade white crêpe has fancy laced cap sleeves, laced doo-dads to hold the buttons, and a flared skirt tucked in the flares. Snow flake sheers, as cool a fabric as anything you can find, make some slick coat dress effects with contrasting buttons. Bolero's are plentiful with most of them boasting short sleeves. Some of the whites have printed silk contrasts in fringed shoulder flowers and vee necklines and short sleeves outlined with the print. The outlines are detachable.

Budgeteer should also take a look at the dotted swiss dance dresses priced around twelve dollars. These are devastating and made in a "gone with the wind" atmosphere of small waistline, off the shoulder bodices, fluted flounces and a double ruffle for the shoulder. Another model fits as smooth as skin to the low hip line and then bursts in frothy glory into dozens of rows of dotted swiss edged with red or blue to match the tiny dots in the sheer white background. Ribbon sashes, about a half inch wide, complete the distracting qualities of such heart breakers for summer parties.

SYNOPSIS.

Elizabeth Sandal is shocked to find her children, Dorothea and Oliver, resent their father's will that unexpectedly left a fortune to her and did not mention them. She goes off to Switzerland for a change and rest, and meets Andrew Leicester, who was a groom at her wedding. Andrew, a widower, is returning after years of absence in the east to meet his children. William, his son, lives with a bachelor relative; his daughter, Shirley, with his wife's relatives. Shirley was in an airplane accident with a young pilot, Tony Voisin, after which Tony's engagement to another girl was broken. Her mother's people blame Shirley. Andrew hopes to have it out with Shirley before seeing his in-laws. Shirley believes he is aligned with her hated relatives and treats him coolly. Andrew turns to Elizabeth for sympathy. She tries to make friends with the boy and girl. Oliver visits his mother and lingers to fall in love with Shirley. After William flies back to school Shirley enlists Oliver's aid and summons Tony Voisin, who explains to her father that he—not Shirley's actions—broke his engagement.

INSTALMENT XXXVI.

THE BATTLE BEGUN.

Shirley was alone. She stood at the smoking room door looking about her at the wide, pillared vestibule and the glow of the spring afternoon spreading over the floor. Then she noticed the desk and ran to it eagerly, but her telegram had not yet arrived. Oliver, seeing her, came out of the lounge and she smiled at him, her eyes dark in her white face.

"You're all done in," he cried in dismay. "Come along and sit down and I'll order some tea."

She found herself in a moment sitting beside Elizabeth and, recalling the scene here with her father, tried politely to explain it away.

"I am so sorry we rushed off like that, but it was a man I know. They are talking business. . . . He has just come back from America."

"Has he really?" asked Elizabeth with interest. "I suppose he has been flying there."

In an instant she saw what she had done—betrayed to this sensitive child her knowledge of Tony Voisin and Andrew's confidences to her . . . after being so careful, too, and so certain it would be a mistake. She was horrified.

Cynically from past experience Shirley waited for Elizabeth to explain the remark away with a lie, and wondered how she would do it. Leaning back in her chair she looked at Oliver's mother and knew suddenly that this was no Jay Mortimer or any of her kind, but some one who would not cover her slip as meaner persons did.

"I must go and wash before tea," she said. "Just look at my hands."

"I'll ask Oliver to ring up London and see if William's plane is in yet, shall I?" asked Elizabeth eagerly.

"No thanks really . . . because he's going to wire . . . and I must owe Oliver pounds for telephone calls already."

Shirley was on her feet and a moment later off to the desk. Her telegram had come. Tony, her father, Elizabeth and all the world were forgotten.

"London still here. Love, WILLIAM."

She laughed. She could see him flying through the clouds and grinning as he decided what to say—"London still here," and wishing he had room to make it more snappy. Now he would be in the train with other fellows and his gaudy luggage—Paris, Vevey, Haute Savoie.

She must certainly wash before tea, but now she remembered Elizabeth, and turning back to the lounge, smiling but without a word, dropped the message into her lap and ran.

It was a tribute and an apology in one, but to the older woman only a sign that her unfortunate betrayal had gone unobserved, and she breathed a sigh of relief.

"Her mind was full of William, of course," she thought, "and now she will be happy."

Upstairs in her bedroom, Shirley, washing her hands and smoothing her hair, was seeing the older world which had seemed full of decent people recreated before her eyes.

Mrs. Sandal knew about Tony Voisin then? Her father, no doubt, had told her everything, yet not once had she looked scornful or disapproving, but always kind.

"I liked her from the first moment. I might have known," said the girl to herself.

She was furious that she had allowed her enemies to confuse her judgment and her mind.

She was still alone, but that no longer troubled her, for she had too long believed it. She was nearing 20, she could earn her own living, she could deal with her life.

"We shall be quiet here," he said, speaking for the first time since they had entered the lift together.

Tony Voisin had gone off to catch his train, accompanied by Oliver as far as the station. The girl had had only three minutes to say good-by to him, to hear his eager thanks, his hopes of seeing her soon in London and his confidential murmur that her father had been jolly decent.

So, for Tony at least, justice would be done, and that was a weight off her mind, though the immediate summons from her father as soon as the two young men were out of the hotel, had been a little hard on her. She had been up so early packing for William, and seeing him go, waiting for news of him, with Tony's visit and disclosures to harass her between, had tried her mentally and physically.

She needed time to collect her senses, and had not thought the battle would come like this and find her unprepared. She had so little hope of the outcome, however, that even the coldness of her father's voice hardly touched her consciousness. For in her eyes she was the aggressor and not he. She would listen to him but she would plead no cause.

"Sit down," said her father, closing the door.

She shook her head.

"O, very well then. I must stand, too, I suppose."

Shirley said nothing, and after a somber glance at her Andrew exclaimed:

"Well? Have you no excuse to give me for bringing this boy here without any sort of warning?"

"How could I warn you?" she cried in surprise, "and how could I refuse to bring him? He had been libeled to you through doing a kindness to me."

"You rang him up on Sunday night. This is Tuesday and you expect me to believe you brought him here so opportunely from motive of pure altruism. Is that it?" asked her father.

"I don't really expect you to believe anything," said the girl, "however true."

"Don't speak to me in such a tone, Shirley. What do you mean?" he cried sternly. "I haven't brought you up here for recriminations. What sort of coward are you, to hide behind your brother's presence all these weeks, and, directly he had gone, produce this young man to confound me in a matter of which I cannot possibly know the right? What is your explanation . . . if any?"

"I have no explanation . . . to offer any one who thinks of me like that," she said in a low voice.

"Shirley, Shirley! My dear. Can you suppose I want to think it? Though you have been unjustly treated you must know I was no party to it," cried Andrew in distress. "I come all this way as fast as I can to find out what you, for some unexplained reason, had never even written to me. I send for you in Paris so that we may get to the root of the matter without interference, and what happens? You still tell me nothing, and very cleverly give me no opportunity to ask."

"O, that's not true," she cried with indignation. "I came to Paris only too anxious to tell you, and you never asked, never. Not a single word."

Andrew stared at her.

"Good God, the very first evening, when we were talking of William's wish to go into the R. A. F., I tried to open the subject and you froze the words on my lips."

Shirley had retreated to the window and was leaning on the frame, her head back against the dark curtain.

"I didn't know I froze," she said. "You were a stranger and you'd been told filthy things about me . . . and in spite of that you had just said you were . . . going to live with the people who'd said them. . . . What hope had I . . . except to take the one thing I could get—this holiday with William, the first time I'd seen him for more than a few minutes now and then for five years."

June Weddings Hold Interest of Social Circles

Families that have been invited to more than one of today's several weddings will find it difficult to attend more than one because the ceremonies are taking place in Lake Forest, Winnetka, on the north side, and on the south side. Four of the brides are Miss Christabel Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Wheeler of Lake Forest; Miss Susan Follansbee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee; Miss Babbs-Anne Burton, daughter of the Oliver M. Burtons, and Miss Virginia Wiley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Wiley.

Miss Wheeler and William T. Priestley Jr. of New York are being married at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the chapel of the Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, with a reception following at the Wheeler home. Mrs. Edward H. Lihme will be her sister's only attendant. Edwin M. Ashcraft III. will be Mr. Priestley's best man.

Miss Follansbee and Robert Cameron-Smith, son of the Raymond Smiths of Wilmette, will be married at 5:30 o'clock in the gardens of the Winnetka home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. William G. Hibbard, weather permitting. The Rev. Gerald Moore of St. Luke's procathedral, Evanston, will officiate. Miss Margaret Ennis will be Miss Follansbee's only attendant. Mitchell Follansbee Jr. will be best man.

Miss Burton and John Washburn Wastcoat, son of the Washburn Wastcoats of Boston, will be married at 4 o'clock in the chapel of St. Chrysostom's church, the Rev. Dudley S. Stark officiating. Only the families will attend the ceremony, but a larger reception will follow at 5:30 o'clock at the Indian Hill club.

The wedding of Miss Wiley and Alexander S. Persons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Persons of Worcester, Mass., will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the Graham Taylor chapel at the University of Chicago, the Rev. Alfred Wilson officiating. A small reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents in East 48th street.

Miss Peggy Wiley will be her sister's only attendant. Eugene Swigart will be Mr. Persons' best man.

The wedding of Miss Frances Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Warren Payne of Winnetka, to Karl Vincent Rohlen, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Arthur Rohlen of Rockford, will take place at 4:30 o'clock today in the chapel of the Winnetka Congregational church, with the Rev. Samuel Harkness officiating. A garden reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents, weather permitting.

Miss Geraldine Brauer will become the bride of Richard Collington Streeter at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Paul Brauer.

Miss Dorothy Koken, at whose debut in St. Louis last winter Miss Brauer was an assistant, will be the maid of honor. James Streeter will be his brother's best man.

Today in New York Mrs. J. Harold McKee of Chicago and Crystal Lake, daughter of Mrs. Charles Edward Noone and the late Mr. Noone of Chicago, will be married to Ryburn Glover Clay of Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Clay is a son of Mrs. Alexander S. Clay and of the late Senator Clay.

The Warren Wrights, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hertz, and the Charles A. McCullochs today will attend the wedding of the daughter of eastern racing friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Clinton Clark of New York and Binghamton, N. Y. Miss Jean Chatfield Clark is the bride. She is being married at noon in St. Bartholomew's church, New York, to Ewing Butler Hawkins, whose father is William W. Hawkins of New York. A reception will follow at Sherry's.

Student Show at Institute Has a Healthy Tone

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The annual exhibition of work by students in the art school of the Art institute opened yesterday in the east wing galleries to remain on view until July 10. It is a stunning show.

The entire feel of the galleries is different from that of last year or the year before. It is as if a gray curtain had lifted and the sunshine were allowed to enter.

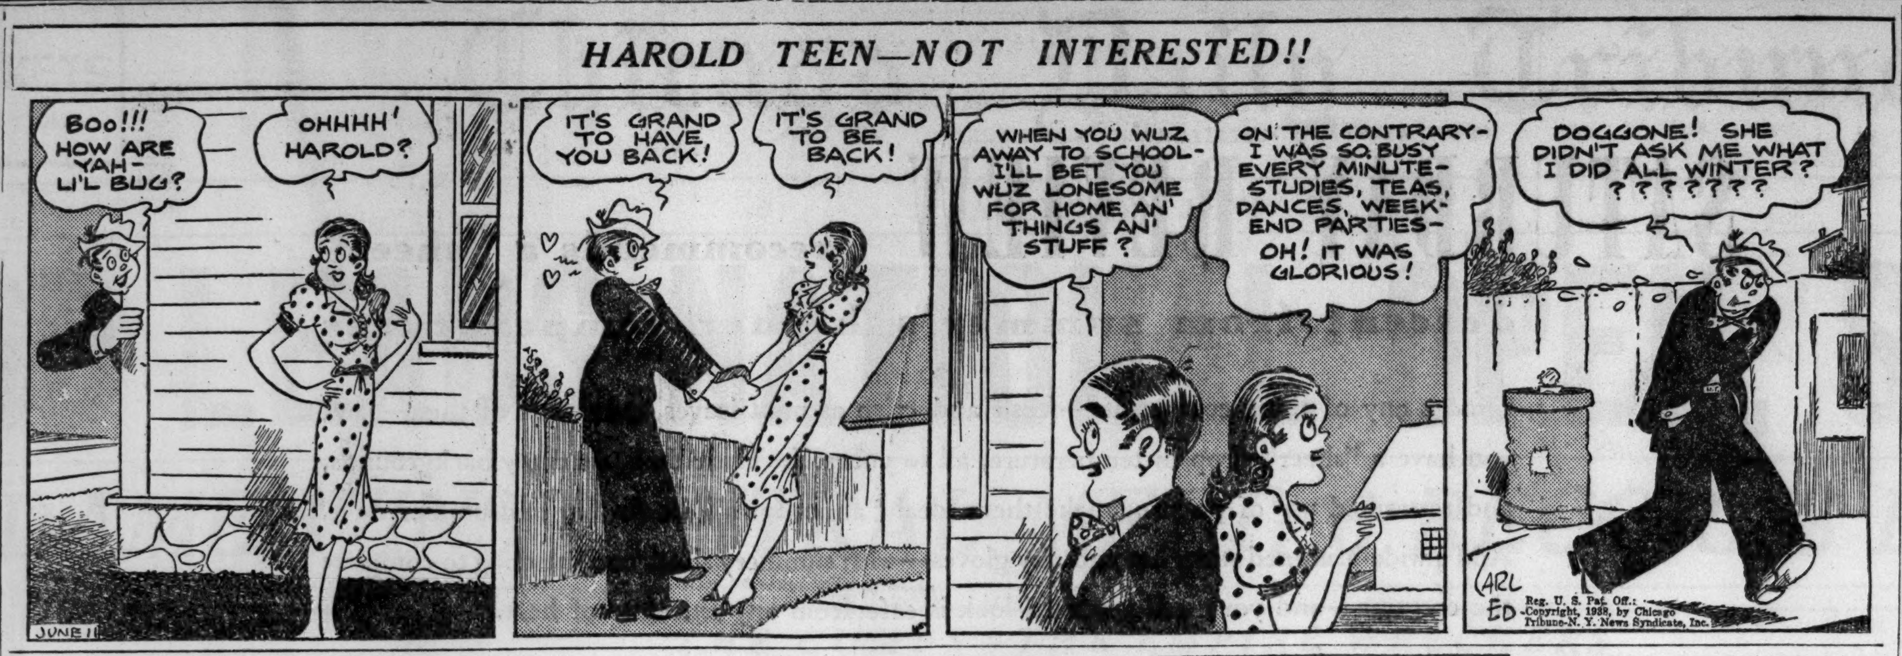
The slightly morbid tendencies of contemporary local modernism are entirely confined to the back hall and stairs space where the Art Students' league is rioting at will, but the school show is healthy, intelligent, and sensitive.

The various departments are well represented. We see the different stages through which a student advances. We find drawings, figure studies, life, portraits, still life, commercial art, and industrial art. Some of the crafts are delightfully illustrated. There is a group of puppets beautifully made and costumed.

There are carvings in wood, work in pottery and fabrics, and a fascinating group of wall paper designs. Note especially the drapery fabric with Persian influence by Frances Frakes and across from it a jolly wall paper for a child's room with a bedspread to match.

If the institute school had done nothing but train Robert Lifvendahl it would have fulfilled its mission. Mr. Lifvendahl has an original talent and a sure technique that stamps his work. He has a flair for color and a sense of the beautiful that should take him far. Besides this he seems to have a sound knowledge of the underlying principles of painting and no fear of work. His portrait of a Negro boy, his nude on the couch, his little still life of flowers and a banana stand out.

Other young artists whose work speaks an original language are Isadore Simon, Henrietta Waters, Arthur Long, and Keith Crown.



HAROLD TEEN—NOT INTERESTED!!

OHHHH! Harold?
It's grand to have you back!
It's grand to be back!
When you wuz away to school— I'll bet you wuz lonesome for home an' things an' stuff?
On the contrary— I was so busy every minute— studies, teas, dances, week-end parties— oh! it was glorious!
Doggone! She didn't ask me what I did all winter?

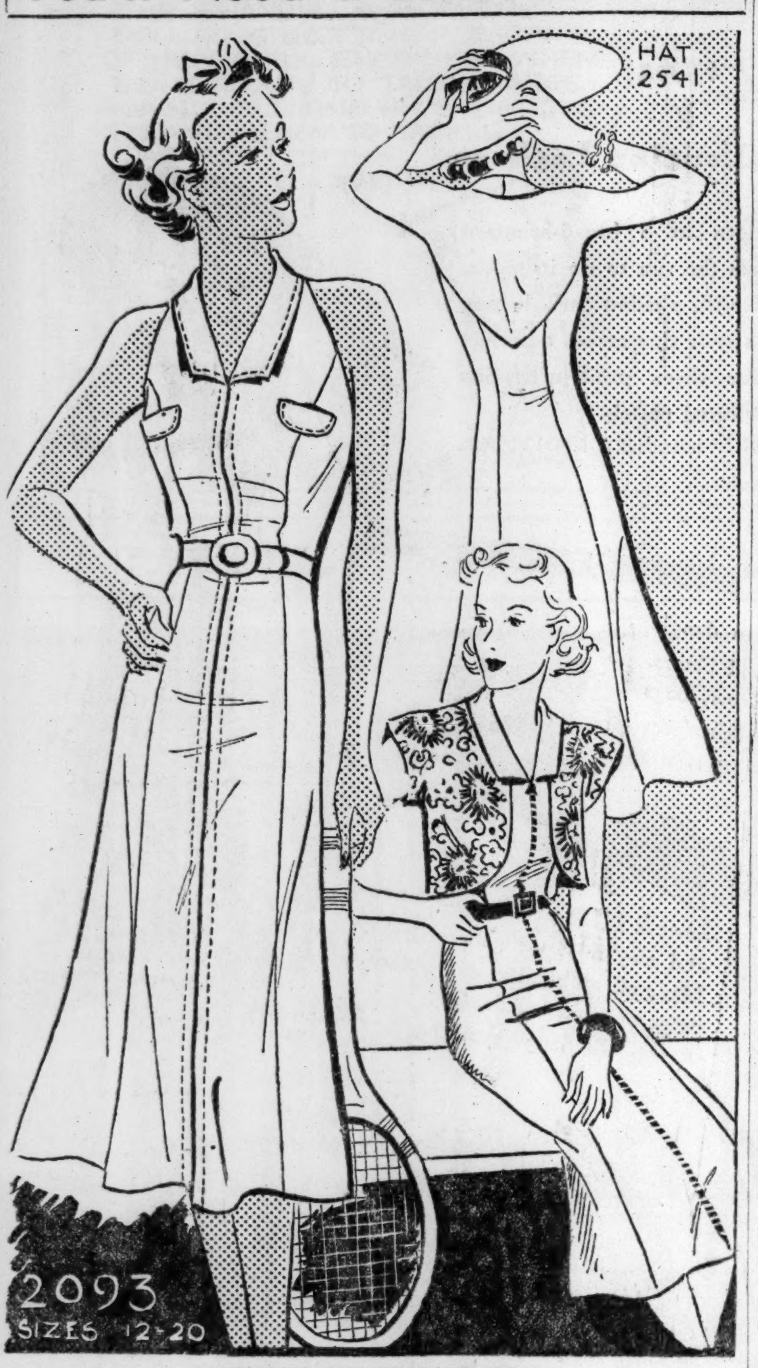
You'll Need a Sunback Frock



WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

The summer sports season makes it imperative to have at least one sunback dress you can wear playing tennis, golf, and when sitting on the beach. While this dress has a perfectly tailored front, its back is virtually nonexistent, so that the sun can get in its good work. Paneling fits the dress beautifully through the waist, as the sketch of the rear view shows you. There is a collar, believe it or not, that frames the V neckline in front. Two little pockets lend an air of chic to the bodice and a nice tailored belt accents the waist.

Good news! There's a bolero jacket with this dress to convert it into a street ensemble, for wear in town and to work, or merely to and from sports events. It should be made of contrasting material, preferably a print.

Style No. 2093 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, and 38 inch bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material for the dress and ⅞ yard of 39 inch fabric for the bolero.

The hat pattern is No. 2541, available for 10 cents extra.

When a defender finds himself in the fortunate position of holding the high trump, he should, in 99 out of 100 cases, get rid of it as though it were a sizzling potato. From the way many defenders hold on to said high trump one might be led to believe that they hoped it would grow into two tricks. Actually a large proportion of throw-in plays becomes possible only because the defender has hugged a high trump to his bosom. Witness today's hand:

The bidding:

West, looking around for a good lead, could find nothing more satisfactory than the doubleton diamond. Dummy played low, East did likewise, and declarer's blank ace won. With no clearly defined plan in mind, but merely with the general idea of getting the opponents to lead, declarer cashed the heart ace and exited with a heart. West ducked, East won with the nine, and cashed the king, then shifted to his top club. Declarer put up the jack, West covered, and dummy's ace won. The singleton spade was returned and, since dummy now was out of entries, East properly split his honors. Declarer captured the jack with the king, cashed the ace, cashed the queen of clubs, and then led the spade ten. East won with the queen and, at this point, of course, had the good nine spot. What purpose he thought he could fill by holding on to it is more than I can say, but hold on to it he did. He laid down the diamond king which, of course, was so much "duck soup" for declarer, who ruffed, and promptly threw East back on lead with the aforesaid nine of spades. East then was under the pleasant necessity of returning a diamond from the J-8 up to dummy's Q-10, thereby permitting declarer to discard his club loser.

Perhaps East was pleased at having defeated the contract 200 points, but his partner, thinking of the other 300 points that had been "booted," was not inclined to be complimentary.

bright] are giving a dinner party at their Lake Forest home tonight. Three members of the bridal party, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chapin and Miss Joan Chapin, have come from Detroit for the party, and are staying with the senior Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morse.

The Jefferson D. Curriers are entertaining at cocktails at home tomorrow for Miss Mary Wood and her fiancé, William S. Farish Jr., who are to be married next Saturday.

Anniversary Party of Charles H. Browns.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Brown are giving their annual anniversary party from 4 until 7 o'clock tomorrow in their Lake Forest home, to celebrate their seventh anniversary. Mrs. Borden Mason of New York, who is on her way to the Valley ranch in New Mexico, will spend the week-end with the Browns. Also here for the party is Mrs. Arnulf Meier of Vienna, who is Mrs. Brown's cousin, and who will spend a month in Lake Forest.

A dinner-dance and a swimming exhibition tonight will mark the opening of the Oak Park Country club's new swimming pool.

A Night in Hawaii is the name of a dance that the Oak Park junior board of the Northwestern university settlement will give this evening in the Boulevard room of the Stevens hotel. Mrs. Edith Lawless is chairman for the party.

Mrs. Norman Gerlach is entertaining the councillors of the Sacred Heart alumnæ at luncheon today at her home, 757 Hutchinson street. Mrs. Walter Smith is chairman of the councillors.

Mr. and Mrs. John Leimert have postponed the "street dance" party that they had planned to give this evening because of the uncertain weather. They expect to give it in July, at the time of a full moon.

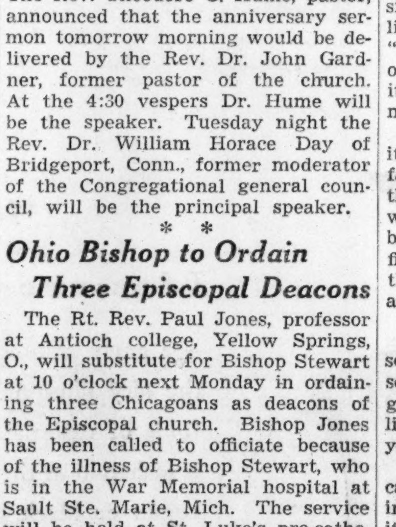
Ohio Bishop to Ordain Three Episcopal Deacons

The Rt. Rev. Paul Jones, professor at Antioch college, Yellow Springs, O., will substitute for Bishop Stewart at 10 o'clock next Monday in ordaining three Chicagoans as deacons of the Episcopal church. Bishop Jones has been called to officiate because of the illness of Bishop Stewart, who is in the War Memorial hospital at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. The service will be held at St. Luke's pro-cathedral, Evanston. The candidates are William Reed, Edmund Ringland, and Chandler Sterling.

Pieced Block Is Important One in Quilt Albums



Maltese Cross.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

An important addition to the quilt album is the ever popular and unusual pieced block, "Maltese Cross." It serves to utilize the patches in the scrap bag, although this was not the original intention of the creator. Today it is pieced in solid colors of lavender, gold, and pale yellow. The assembling of the finished blocks is a matter of individual taste, but the general preference is for an alternate arrangement of pieced and plain ones.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Just to show you which way the makeup winds are blowing:

You can, if you like, use a "sun fair" makeup. You'll find everything necessary for achieving the faint, utterly lovely glow assembled in one box. It's extremely becoming to most women—and as we've said before, most smart women will be taking their tan this year via the makeup route rather than through the sun's rays.

In the "sun fair" ensemble you'll find a beautiful sun tinted base to use, some face powder with the same flattering glow and lip stick, rouge, and eye shadow, all coördinated to make you look sun kissed and pretty, but not baked.

The same house has another makeup assembled for you. This is for those occasions when you want to look "fresh like a flower" and as though butter wouldn't melt in your mouth. It's a good way to look, too. Before we know it we'll all be looking like perfect litte dahlinks again. Anyway, this new makeup is called "sky pink" and nothing could be prettier.

The lip stick is a soft, soft pink—just a shade deeper than the delicate petals in the heart of a pink rose. There is rouge in the same shade, some flattering powder—creamy in shade—and nail polish. You'll be a knockout in this when you wear snowy white or soft pastels.

There's a lot to be said for these already assembled makeup ensembles. The guess work is out of your makeup problems and when the shades are properly styled and coördinated with fashion, as in these, you've really got something.

Child's 'No' Is Often Cause of Parent's Worry

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

I'm sure lots of mothers feel as if some black magic had been worked over their cherubic small child of 2 or 3 when, suddenly, "No" comes popping out upon almost every occasion. Sometimes it's just a bland, quiet little "No"; sometimes its an emphatic "No," and sometimes it's a stubborn or defiant "No." But whichever kind it is, it's a sort of red-rag-to-a-bull to many mothers.

It really shouldn't be. They take it too seriously—certainly at first. In fact, it's only wrong management at the beginning of the "No habit" which turns it eventually into stubbornness or defiance; whereas if those first negatives were quietly ignored the phase [for it is quite definitly and generally a phase] would pass.

You'll realize, if you're a keen observer, that this "no" isn't a serious sort of negativism [to use a psychologist's word] because some time your little child will actually do the thing you suggest while he's saying "No."

Still, though it isn't serious, we can't say that the "No" has no meaning. It is a sort of protest. Perhaps it's the very little child's first assertion of his will. He has widening interests, and so increasing desires, and also increasing powers; and yet he's required to do many, many things at the request of some one else.

Also, he's often expected to do these things on the instant, whether he's busy [and his business is important to him], or whether he's lost in a pleasant haze of just being. His instinctive response, then, is "No." He may mean "I don't want to," but the chances are that he means, "I will, but wait a minute," or "I don't 'specially want to, but I will if you just won't hurry me."

If you'll ignore the "No" as not being final; if you'll use patience; if you'll use tact; if you'll be reasonable and sometimes explain; if you'll not give a lot of unnecessary commands, you'll find that this no habit will quickly melt away.

ODDMENTS ABOUT FOODS AND COOKERY: New on the market are coffee rings. They consist of coffee, packed into hard little rings, and flavor sealed with a "pure food" substance which I assume is gelatin. They fit neatly into your percolator. One ring makes two cups of coffee, so if you want four cups, use two rings. They are convenient and make good coffee, too. Twenty-five cents buys enough rings to make 40 or more cups of coffee. [You get about the same number of cups from a pound of ordinary coffee.] The rings may be used in other types of coffee makers if you break them.

A new way to stretch butter . . . add gelatin and milk. This greatly increases quantity, and you can use the butter for a spread, for sautéeing, and for vegetables. But don't try "stretched" butter in cake!

One of the well known margarines now can boast that it contains vitamin A, important nutritional constituent of butter. The vitamin is added by a scientific process. This increase in food value should do much to overcome the remnant of public prejudice against margarines. The better margarines nowadays are made with refined vegetable oils, pasteurized culture skim milk, and salt, under the most sanitary conditions. They have a fresh, pleasant flavor and can effect kitchen economy in many ways.

In a column of a few weeks ago I talked about shortenings for cakes and mentioned that a special method of mixing should be used in making cakes with lard as shortener. This is the method recommended by the home economist of the Institute of American Meat Packers in a booklet, "Good Things Made with Lard."

1. Use the same amount of lard as you would of other shortening, or perhaps just a little less.
2. Allow one-half teaspoon salt for each two cups flour.
3. Cream together about three-fourths the sugar, all the lard, and two tablespoons of the milk until light and fluffy. Stir the egg yolk into the remaining milk and add flavoring. Beat the egg whites until stiff, but not dry, and then beat in the rest of the sugar until it barely disappears. Add flour and remaining dry ingredients alternately with milk in the usual way, and then fold in the beaten egg whites.

The Housewife

One of the most successful furniture polishes [it's been on the market for years] cleans as well as polishes in one operation. Unless you are renovating old pieces that have not been cleaned for years it is not necessary to use soap and water ever, if you start with this liquid.

And if you apply it properly it never leaves an oily film. You'll find the surface of your table will be perfectly dry and free from grease and that the walnut or mahogany will have a lovely soft luster.

New Symphony by Stock to Be Done in Color

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

The degree of doctor of fine arts which the Art institute conferred upon Frederick A. Stock yesterday afternoon promptly was fruitful. For, in acknowledging the honor, the director of the Chicago Symphony orchestra said:

"I shall work this summer upon a subject to which I have given a great deal of thought—the writing of a color symphony, a symphony of pictures."

Details of his project Dr. Stock did not impart.

Henry E. Voegeli, close associate of the director in the affairs of the orchestra, said:

"It is impossible to say when we shall hear in public performance the work which Dr. Stock now announces. He soon will get under way with it at his summer home in Ephraim, Wis. Often he composes with great rapidity, but his way is to set aside work thus composed to let it cool. As he is his own strictest critic, the changes which follow the cooling often occupy him a far longer time than did the original effort."

Mrs. Stock agreed with Mr. Voegeli that her husband's color symphony cannot be promised for next season, "because," she said, "though Dr. Stock often works with extraordinary rapidity in the first flush of inspiration, there is no hurrying him in the tasks of revision and emendation."

The honor conferred upon Dr. Stock yesterday brought him his fifth doctorate, Northwestern university having so honored him in 1915, the University of Michigan in 1924, the University of Chicago in 1925, and Cornell college, Iowa, in 1927.

The director wore the purple hood of Northwestern when he rose from his place on the stage of the Goodman theater to hear from Potter Palmer, president of the institute, and Russell Tyson, one of its vice presidents, courtly praises in tribute to the memorable work he has been doing for 33 years as director of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. After those greetings, by which Dr. Stock visibly was affected, the crimson and white hood of the institute doctorate was placed upon his shoulders by Park Phipps, marshal of the impressive academic procession of faculty and students of the institute's art school. Upon 77 students bachelors' degrees in the fine arts and diplomas for work in painting and design were conferred.

"And above all," said Forbes Watson, editor of the Magazine of Art, who came from New York to deliver the baccalaureate address, "above all, avoid the bane of publicity. To seek it is a fearful temptation; to receive it as a result of seeking is the most perilous thing that can happen to an artist. I have seen artists become coarsened by it and lose their talent. Whistler, a great artist and a great publicity hound, invented illicit publicity in art and I think it weakened his art."

Young Artists Give Imposing Concert at Sherwood Exercises

To the lordly strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," played by the Sherwood Music school symphony orchestra, the members of that institution's 1938 graduating class took their places last evening on the stage of Orchestra hall. The occasion was the school's 43d annual commencement.

Preceding the awarding of degrees, diplomas and certificates came an imposing commencement concert played and sung by the cream of the school's young artists. Among the more novel items was a performance of the Vivaldi-Bach A minor concerto for four pianos, with Gladys Zerbel, Velta Press, Frances Ross, and Dennis Andal at the four keyboards.

Marie Saviniemi sang the air, "Der Hölle Rache" from "The Magic Flute" and Vernon Skoog the "Flower Song" from "Carmen." Piano soloists of the evening were Katheryn Dyer [Mendelssohn Capriccio Brillante], Jane Sears [slow movement and rondo of the third Beethoven concerto], and Charles Richard [Liszt Hungarian fantasie]. Elizabeth Hagen, violinist, played a movement of the Lalo Symphonie Espagnole.

Accompaniments and an independent number [based on Schubert's "Rosamunde"] were provided by the Sherwood School Symphony orchestra under P. Marinus Paulsen. Walter Keller, musical director, was programmed for the address and for the conferring of degrees. A large and friendly audience applauded the young soloists generously.

James Delton Cunningham, chairman of the board of trustees of the Armour Institute of Technology, and Mrs. Cunningham are giving a tea and reception from 4 until 6 o'clock this afternoon in their Winnetka home at 44 Woodley road for President Henry Townley Heald of the institute and Mrs. Heald. The faculty and staf members of the institute have been invited.

U. of C. Honor Degree Given Justice Stone

Justice Harlan Fiske Stone of the United States Supreme court was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws by the University of Chicago yesterday at the 192d convocation. Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the university, made the convocation address and conferred 907 degrees at services in Rockefeller Memorial chapel.

At the same time 224 graduates of the University of Illinois college of medicine in Chicago received their degrees at the commencement exercises in the Civic Opera building. In addition, 122 certificates in medicine were awarded to students who will automatically receive their degrees after a year of internship and 34 women graduates received nursing certificates.

The honorary degree granted to Justice Stone was conferred in recognition of his eminent ability as a lawyer and teacher and in appreciation of his statesmanlike service, said Dean Harry A. Bigelow of the University of Chicago law school in presenting the candidate.

"Justice Stone's opinions are well known not only to lawyers but to all interested in our modern problems of governmental structures and function," Dean Bigelow said. "Sometimes these opinions have expressed the decision of the majority of the court, sometimes they have expressed a dissent. They all display a well thought out theory, clearly and vigorously expressed, of the relations between the states and the nation as a unit and among the various branches of the government that marks the possessor of them as a legal statesman of a high order."

President Hutchins, in his address, asserted that demagoguery is the greatest danger to religion, education, and the state in the world today.

"Demagoguery," he said, "is essentially the appeal to the nonrational elements in man on the part of those who know better but make the appeal nevertheless for their own purposes. Events about us confirm the view that a sentimental humanitarianism is not enough to repel the onslaughts of prejudice, selfishness, and greed. . . . The endless task of education is to make rational animals more truly rational; to subdue the passions and appetites to the rule of reason, to extend the domain of the intellect."

In his address to the University of Illinois medical students, Dr. D. J. Davis, dean of the college of medicine, discussed the economic and social changes produced by the advance of medicine.

"While we are manifesting much excitement and concern about wars and rumors of war, we may well direct more of this concern to our preventable diseases which so insidiously, though less dramatically, still destroy far more than any war in the future is likely to do," he said.

The "Air Light" sennit straw

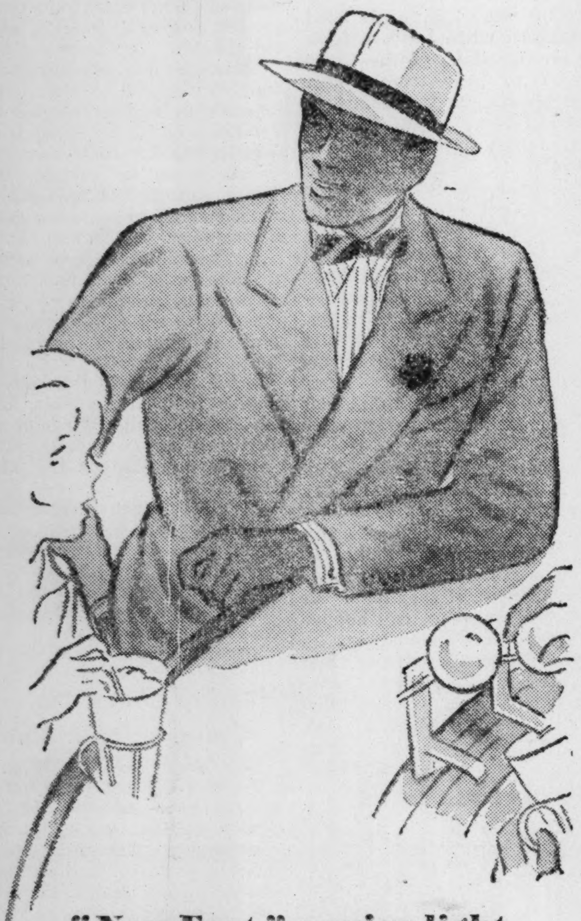
Everything about these straws is lightweight—from the straw itself to the leather headband. In addition we've ventilated them wherever possible, equipped them with the new lower crown, wider brim style, and interchangeable striped bands.



"Nor-East," a crisp light suit for business in town

$32.50

It's the suit you'll wear on the days when your office feels like the anteroom of a Turkish bath. It's in the 8 to 10 oz. weight class and if you know anything about summer clothing you'll realize how very light its imported fabric is. For such a lightweight suit its firmness and resistance to wrinkling are exceptional, and make possible the Bond St. smartness of its drape styling.

A 2 pc. suit

$6.75

A wing tip, genuine white buckskin oxford with a white welt designed to keep unsightly after-cleaning marks to a minimum. It's an all around oxford, traditional with the yachtsman's blue coat and white flannels, and is a definite contribution to your turnout either in town or country.

recommends a "sheer" descent from summer's higher temperatures

Choose any of these cool prints—fresh and crisp as mint leaves, every one of them—and you have a "sheer" drop in temperature, all to yourself. Their dark, shadowy backgrounds, and restrained use of pattern, make them ideal "about-town" frocks for midsummer days. Add a wide-brimmed straw hat and airy gloves—with summery shoes and handbag to complete the costume—and your well-groomed look is safe from any extremes of heat.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 10.—Fred Wolcott is the greatest college hurdler in the United States. The slender blond from Rice institute, who once this year had bettered 14 seconds for the 120 yard high hurdles, won two hurdle events tonight in the Central Collegiate meet in Marquette stadium.

Each time Wolcott flashed away to a Central Collegiate record. His brilliant races, the last over the 220 yard low hurdles with a south wind driving rain in his face, accounted for one-third of the six new marks written into the record.

Wolcott conquered his field in the high hurdles in 14.2 seconds. Those of the crowd of 8,000 who remained in the open stands, drenched by the sudden rainstorm, gave the Texan a cheer after he had splashed down the cinders for his second championship and record, a mark of 23.3 seconds in the high hurdles. Bob Lemen of Purdue suffered his first defeat of the year.

Michigan State Second.

Notre Dame's well balanced team, which placed in 12 of the 16 events, scored 37 points to win the Central title for the first time since 1931. It is the first time Notre Dame has gained possession of the Knute Rockne trophy placed in competition in memory of the late Irish coach, who with Ralph Young of Michigan State and Con Jennings of Marquette founded these games in 1926.

Michigan State finished second with 28 points, failing to press Notre Dame more closely principally because of the failure of Harvey Woodstra, double hurdle winner in the Eastern Intercollegiates last week. Woodstra could not be blamed, because he was opposing Wolcott and Lemen.

Pittsburgh, when its great star, Johnny Woodruff, did not compete in the quarter mile, had to be satisfied with 27½ points and third place. Wisconsin was fourth with 25½.

Ohl High Point Man.

Although Wolcott was the star of the meet Frank Ohl, Pitt sprinter and jumper, was high point man with twelve points. Ohl won the 220 yard dash and the broad jump and placed fourth in the 100 yard dash. Ohl also competed on the Panthers' victorious mile relay team which was anchored by Woodruff.

The mile relay, final event, was held before nearly empty stands, and the runners ran over a track that was under water on the stretches. Even so, Pitt covered the distance in 3:21.7, with Iowa's Milton Billig pushing Woodruff on the last quarter. The high jump was the only event not finished. Ed Burke of Marquette and P. C. Bennett of Pitt deciding to call it a tie at 6 feet 4 inches.

In addition to Wolcott's records, new marks were set in the javelin, the discus throw, the mile run, and the half mile.

Fenske Easy Winner.

Chuck Fenske, Wisconsin's Big Ten mile champion, set his record in the opening event of the evening. After permitting William Southworth of Butler to make the pace for the first lap, Fenske took up the job and came home the winner by 30 yards. His time of 4:10.6 desplaced the former record of 4:13.4 which Indiana's Don Lash established on this track last year.

In the Western conference meet last month, Fenske ran the mile in 4:10.9, but failed by one-tenth of a second of equaling Lash's Big Ten record which Fenske, in his sophomore year, had helped create by chasing the Indiana star stride for stride through the last lap.

Turns on Speed.

Tonight Fenske took no chances. Southworth set a fair pace, covering the first quarter in 63 seconds. Fenske then took over the lead and never relinquished it.

Woodruff contributed a record even though he loafed through the half mile in 1:52, taking the lead just before the start of the second lap and never being pressed.

The most exciting competition came in the afternoon preliminaries in the discus. On his first throw Bill Faymonville of Notre Dame broke the old meet record with a throw of 154 feet 2¾ inches. Then Hugh Wolf, senior

Cubs to Start Cavarretta on 1st Base Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Something new in a lineup will be presented by the Cubs today when, and if, they play the Brooklyn Dodger opener, which was washed away yesterday. Three stinging defeats by the champion Giants made it obvious that Manager Charles Grimm must contend with the same light hitting that made his last season's chores a nightmare.

In the hope that the move will prove a slight remedy Phil Cavarretta, who was billed as the regular first baseman this spring until a pre-season injury forced him out and gave the job to Rip Collins, will be returned to his old post today. The Ripper hasn't been hitting. This is the only alteration for the time being, but there will be more unless the attack revives.

Lazzeri May Go to Field.

The next experiment probably will involve Tony Lazzeri, the ex-Yankee who helped the Cubs at the start of the season but gradually melted into the status of a forgotten man. Tony will get busy immediately on a course of training for a job as a left fielder. He did some fly chasing in his younger days, so it won't be entirely strange to him. It is Grimm's idea that if Lazzeri can get around at all under fly balls he may be of some value because of his hitting.

One redeeming feature of the three trimmings experienced at the hands of the Giants, at least for the manager, was that it kept his mind off Diz Dean, the $185,000 problem. Since Diz came up on Thursday with another announcement that his arm was sore, Grimm has had little to say about the case. He probably wants to keep his mind off the ailing chattel, a fact which indicates the manager's patience is about exhausted.

Lee Will Pitch.

Diz doesn't know, and he is the only one who could know the truth, whether his new complaint is a recurrence of the original ailment, or just the usual soreness which frequently develops in a pitcher's arm when he bears down the first few times.

For today's meeting with the Dodgers the Cubs will offer Bill Lee, the pitcher who has been a phenomenon for the last four weeks during which he has allowed only three runs in six victories. To capture his seventh in a row Lee may be called upon to hurdle Van Lingle Mungo.

Ladies' day tickets issued for yesterday will be honored today.

WHITE SOX GET 20 HITS; CRUSH BOSTON, 15 TO 2

Stratton Hits Home Run with Bases Full.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., June 10.—You've got to believe today's statistics on the White Sox. We, who were pouring out a lot of skimp numbers about the Sox a week ago, were here today and saw it all. We had no adding machine, but we have checked carefully. First, the scoring totals:

Chicago White Sox, 15 runs, 20 hits, 0 errors; Boston Red Sox, 2 runs, 5 hits, and 0 errors. Now the total bases on Chicago hits, 37. And the Chicago home run total, 4.

The thumping victory sent the Sox into sixth place over the Athletics, who were overcome by the Browns.

Monty Stratton was the big hero, coming and going. Since he is employed as a pitcher we'll give you something of his accomplishments on defense, though that wasn't the biggest part of his work. Monty pitched hits to the first two batters to face him for one run. He didn't allow another until the fourth, and it wasn't really a hit.

Sun Bothers Steinbacher.

Joe Cronin lifted an easy fly to Hank Steinbacher, who lost it in the sun just as he was about to make the catch. Joe Vosmik made the third legitimate hit in the sixth. In the eighth Wilfred Lefebvre, late of Holy Cross and signed yesterday by the Red Sox, who had gone in as a surrender pitcher, made his first professional appearance at bat and hit a homer. That rounded out the hits and runs off Stratton.

Stratton, who contributed a double and two singles to his pitching effort which ended the Sox's ten game losing streak in Philadelphia Sunday, was so pleased with his batting record then that he rapped out an enormous homer with the bases full in the second inning today to drive in the first Sox runs. He followed up with two more singles later in the game.

Kreevich Also Can Hit.

Mike Kreevich was next among those who celebrated a big day. Mike knocked his fourth and fifth homers of the season after warming up with a double. Jackie Hayes had a homer,

In the Wake of the News

JIM ASBELL, the Cubs' rookie outfielder, steadily is crowding to the front as the club's best eater. . . . He warms up to a meal by eating all the rolls on the table, sometimes as many as ten. . . . Sammy Frager of Chicago will make the gloves Joe Louis and Max Schmeling will wear in their title fight June 22. . . . Schmeling requires special gloves because his hands are unusually large. . . . Charles Fenske of Wisconsin is expected to win both the mile and half mile runs in the dual track meet in Dyche stadium June 25 between the Pacific Coast and Big Ten conference stars. . . . His performances of 4 minutes 10 6/10 seconds for the mile and 1:52 9/10 for the half mile are better than any marks established by coast athletes this season. . . . Maybe Gee Walker hasn't put as much punch in the White Sox attack as had been anticipated, but he at least has brought a new sartorial note to the team. . . . He affects slacks, polo shirts, and short jackets in lieu of coats, in daring color combinations not previously seen on the Sox. . . . Joe Kuhel goes for white flannel pants and a blue coat, the old reliable summer twain. . . . Marv Owen, born and reared near San Francisco, where it is never summer, sticks to semi-somber raiment. . . .

Dallas E. Patt and James A. Curtis each shot a hole in one in a recent tournament of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation at the White Pine Golf club. . . . Of the seventy-six players on the squad at the end of spring football practice at Wisconsin nineteen were from Milwaukee or its suburban high schools. . . . Sixteen came from outside the state. . . . Illinois led with eight and Pennsylvania was next with five. . . . Iowa, which until recent years sent numerous athletes to the Badger campus, was not represented. . . . Emil Andres, who was critically injured when his car threw a tire during the 500 mile Memorial day race at Indianapolis, is back at his Chicago home. . . . Mauri Rose, another race pilot, drove him up from Indianapolis yesterday. . . . Andres is recuperating from jaw and rib fractures, but is well enough to be on his feet again.

Or Trying to Make the Wake.

Why do mothers proudly point to junior and sigh, "Who knows, some day he may become President," and then razz dad for buying a sweepstake ticket? —Bebe.

Ten Years Ago Today—Ted Blankenship pitched the White Sox to their second straight victory over the Yankees, 3 to 0. . . . Otto Von Porat knocked out Tony Stabenau in the second round at the Midway Gardens.

METZ COMES IN WITH 68; RUNS SECOND AT 141

McSpaden Earns Tie for Third with 67.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Denver, Colo., June 10.—Henry Picard, the lean, Hershey, Pa., professional, who swung his first golf clubs in the cranberry patches around Plymouth, Mass., has been suspected more than once of an innate Yankee firmness. Today he proved it again by taking the halfway lead at the forty-second national open championship at Cherry Hills club with a thirty-six hole score of 140, two under par for the distance. He held a convincing grasp on first place by shooting his second consecutive 70 of the tournament.

Picard and all but a few stragglers had hied themselves into dinner when the last twosome of the starting field of 165 players hove to off the eighteenth green. That twosome consisted of Tony Manero of Peabody, Mass., the 1936 champion, and a young Chicagoan named Dick Metz, who came to our town by way of the Ozark country. None had paid much attention to Master Metz until he holed out his last putt for a sixty-eight and a thirty-six hole aggregate of 141, just a shot back of Picard, going into tomorrow's final thirty-six holes.

Overcomes Hard Luck.

The Metz card was the most popular of the day, for Richard, in the last fifteen months, has survived a round of misfortune which would have caused another youth to rack up his sticks. An auto accident a year ago this spring presented him with an ankle injury which so plagued him that he was unable to compete in last year's open at Detroit. He made certain of his presence this year by shooting a 141 in the Chicago qualifying round on May 31, a 141 which included a course record of 66 on the No. 4 course at Olympia Fields.

The handsome Metz's 68 this afternoon was no course record. The business of setting that up was attended to by Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Winchester, Mass. This crag chinned native of Kansas batted out a 67, four under par, and a new record for the Cherry Hills acreage under present conditions. Jug's 67 gave him a halfway total of 143, whereat he remained until he was joined by a novice to the open, Emery Zimmerman of Portland, Ore.

Guldahl Scores 144.

The bespectacled Emery is the younger member of the brother team which just about runs the show in northwest golf. Forgetting that he was playing in his first national open, Zimmerman tacked a well wrought par 71 to his 72 of yesterday.

Ralph Guldahl, the Texan of the curly locks, who won last year's title with a world record total of 281, also decided to make his move on a day in which weather conditions generally made Cherry Hills a trifle easier to solve. Guldahl wrote himself a 70 which sent him into his last day of defense of the title with a 144 and third place.

One stroke behind Guldahl was a foursome well able to make up the five shots between them and Picard. It included Harry Cooper of Chicago, standing favorite in every tournament; Olin Dutra of Los Angeles, 1934 champion; Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, N. Y., co-leader of the first round with Picard, and Willie Hunter, British veteran from Pacific Palisades, Cal. Cooper burned up the first nine with a 31, even as McSpaden had, but needed a 38 coming home for a 69. Dutra reported with a 71, a shot better than Hunter's 72.

Greens Are Soaked.

The sudden switch in the weather found a majority of the field playing through a sultry calm, from which frisky mountain zephyrs of the first round were quite absent. The greens were liberally soaked by the club sprinklers after yesterday's play, after which a steady nocturnal shower contributed its share of water to the carpets which many players had found too hard to hold. A shower late this afternoon caught Picard on his last three holes, Guldahl on the eighth, and greeted Metz as he teed off. This rainfall was followed by a shift in the wind, but it failed to annoy Metz.

Among those who found the course to their liking today were a number of favorites who had fared none too well on the first day. Johnny Revolta, of Evanston, Ill., trimmed two shots off of his first round 74. Butch Krueger, the Beloit, Wis., baseball pitcher, reared back with a 69 after yesterday's 79. Tommy Armour, of Medinah, 1927 champion, and winner of all a professional can win, put on a personal show with a 70 climaxed by a birdie three at the 18th, where sixes and sevens have been sprouting like dandelions.

Nelson Shoots 71.

Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa., bore out his reputation for grit by shooting a 71 after an initial 77 which had including a nine and two sixes. And Jamie Thomson, who had come down with an 82 yesterday, fought back with a 70 this afternoon.

ROBERTSON AND C-NOTE KEEP UP WINNING WAYS

Mrs. Mars' Horse Scores Handy Victory.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, her horse C-Note and her Jocky A. Robertson were the headliners again at Lincoln Fields yesterday afternoon.

It is getting to be an old story as far as Jocky Robertson is concerned. When he rode Mrs. Mars' 3 year old C-Note to victory in the Poinsettia purse at 6 furlongs he completed a triple for the afternoon. This boosted his total number of winning mounts at Lincoln Fields in less than two weeks to eighteen. He's so far ahead of all his rivals for riding honors that it isn't even a race any longer.

By beating the crack band of 3 year old sprinters in the Poinsettia C-Note served notice that he was back in the thick of the fight for sprint honors this year. It was his second victory in three starts at Lincoln Fields and the third he has scored in five trips to the barrier since he returned to his best form.

Dolly Val Challenges.

He never left the result in doubt in this one. Cross Keys, a fleet Kentucky filly, kept pace with him for a half mile. Then she dropped out of it soundly whipped. Dolly Val made a challenge in the stretch but she still was two lengths back of C-Note when it ended. Wise Barrister finished third.

C. Note, because he comes from a noted mud running family, was made the favorite and eventually paid off at $3.80 for a two dollar mutuel ticket. Robertson's other victories came on Dark Sun in the fifth race and on the favorite, Unselfish, owned by Billy O'Toole in the third.

The quarrel between horsemen and the racing commission flared again at Lincoln Fields yesterday over the new high weight rule. At 10 o'clock yesterday morning only seven horses had been entered for today's eight race program, most of them in the Joliet Stake for 2 year olds.

For a time it looked like the program could not be filled. A committee from the horsemen talked to Walter Peacock, member of the commission. Later in the day George Foster, secretary of the commission, issued a letter from the commission in which horsemen were assured the weight rule would be so adjusted that horsemen would not suffer a hardship as a result of it.

Then the entries began to fill. Within twenty minutes the program was complete.

It is understood there will be a meeting of the commission over the week-end to adjust the situation.

◆

Everybody at Lincoln Fields yesterday was talking about the $5,000 Joliet stakes to be run this afternoon and hardly any one ventured an opinion on the outcome. Most of the horse fans were even afraid to say who might be the post time favorite.

Thirteen were named overnight for the race which is the first 2 year old stake of the year to be run in Chicago.

Pricemakers made Warren Wright's Calumet farm entry of Beau James and Sure Off the choice at 5 to 2, Thomas D. Taggart's Yale o' Nine the second in line at 3 to 1, and the Cincinnati filly Perimetric third choice at 6 to 1.

◆

Wright, the master of Calumet farm, most certainly will be at the track this afternoon. He will be there not only to see his 2 year olds perform but also to see his handicap star, Count Morse, make his first start of the season. A year ago this time there wasn't a better handicap horse in the country than Count Morse. He won stake race after stake race.

He meets Nation's Taste, Reaping, Candescent, Black River and Leading Article in today's Calumet Farm handicap at 6 furlongs.

NORTHWESTERN AWARDS BIG TEN MEDAL TO ZEHR

Dan Zehr, captain of Northwestern university's swimming team, was awarded the Western conference medal for proficiency in scholarship and athletics at the Illumination night festivities in Patten gymnasium last night.

Tom Robinson, Northwestern's veteran swimming coach, was presented with a plaque from the College Coaches Swimming Association of America "in recognition of his capable and inspiring work with students and associates over a period of 25 years."

SMILIN' JACK—SPY SCARE
MISS GALE, THIS NEW X-13 SHIP SURE IS A SWEET LOOKER --- I CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHY THE ORIGINAL MODEL CRACKED UP!
NEITHER CAN I -- MY ENGINEERS ARE THE BEST IN THE COUNTRY--
--IT MUST HAVE BEEN SOME STRUCTURAL FAULT THAT CAUSED THE WINGS TO GIVE WAY!
IT'S A SHAME! IF IT HAD STOOD UP OUR ARMY WOULD HAVE HAD THE FASTEST PLANE IN TH' WORLD---SAY! MAYBE IT WAS SABOTAGE!!
WITH WAR CLOUDS BOILING, SOME FOREIGN POWER MAY BE TRYING TO MAKE YOUR SHIPS APPEAR TO BE FAILURES---
SPIES?! YOU'RE LETTING YOUR IMAGINATION RUN AWAY, JACK --- THAT'S FANTASTIC!

6 Marks Fall as Notre Dame Wins in Meet

half back on the Texas football team last fall, bettered Faymonville's mark with the championship throw of 156 feet 11⅝ inches. Faymonville later crept up to a mark of 155 feet ⅝ inch, but neither could surpass his preliminary effort in the final round tonight.

The greatest individual achievement of the meet was the javelin record set by Larry Bell of Miami university, Oxford, O. The Miami senior, whose best mark before today was 218 feet 8 inches, which gave him the Buckeye conference title, threw the javelin 231 feet 7¼ inches in the preliminaries. It not only broke the former mark of Iowa's Mark Panther for these games, but it also surpassed the best mark ever made by an American.

Rain Pelts Two Milers.

During the rainstorm, which broke while the two mile field was less than half way on its eight lap journey, Greg Rice of Notre Dame defeated Walter Mehl, Wisconsin, in a grand battle which was timed in 9:16.6. Either Rice or Mehl might have broken the meet mark except for the storm.

Dan Gibbs, the other Notre Dame man to win a championship, probably was kept from a meet record by the rain. He won the pole vault with a leap of 13 feet 9 inches, one-eighth of an inch below the meet record of Bill Hawthorne of Michigan State and Al Haller of Wisconsin.

Summaries:

MILE RUN—Won by Fenske, Wisconsin; Rice, Notre Dame, second; Southworth, Butler, third; Francis, Notre Dame, fourth; Halla, Yankton, fifth. Time, 4:10.6. [New meet record; former mark of 4:13.4 established by Don Lash of Indiana in 1937.]

Lake Trout Are A. W. O. L. During Summer Months

BY BOB BECKER.

With the lake trout that live in Lake Michigan out from the Illinois and Wisconsin shore now coming up from the bottom and spending a few weeks pretty close to the surface, Chicagoland fishermen have their best chance to hook these fish while trolling from a power boat with big spoon lures. After the trout enjoy their good time near the surface, which gives the Wisconsin commercial fishermen a chance to catch them on long strings of float hooks set only 18 feet below the surface, the fish do not give fishermen much of a break.

According to Henry W. Smith, Waukegan fisherman, the trout move on. Where they go is a big question. Smith would like to know where they are during the summer months.

March—Trout out about 15 miles in 30 to 35 fathoms of water [180 to 210 feet].

April—Fish start moving in as spring comes on. Get trout in nets about 10 miles out from Waukegan.

May—Begin to leave the deeper water depending on the advance of the spring season. Fish start to scatter and commonly spend their time above the nets placed on the bottom of the lake during late May and in early June.

June—Lake trout may be in 18 to 30 feet of water. This is the best time of the year for trolling and connecting with them.

July—The fish have disappeared.

August—Generally no fish, although occasionally they get a few about 5 miles from shore in 100 feet of water.

September—Same as August.

October—The lake trout are back after their summer "vacation." Find them in 30 fathoms of water in about the same place where nets caught them in March—some 15 miles out from the shore. Catches increase through the month and into November.

11 PHILADELPHIA PREPS QUALIFY IN CATHOLIC MEET

St. George of Evanston Places 9 in Finals.

Notre Dame, Ind., June 10.—[Special.]—Rain delayed trials in the fifth Notre Dame national Catholic interscholastic track meet today, but it did not prevent West Catholic of Philadelphia, the defending champion, from sweeping into tomorrow's finals with eleven qualifiers in six events.

The shot put and broad jump trials were held in the gymnasium, while the discus and javelin preliminaries will be held tomorrow morning. All final events will be tomorrow afternoon.

Record in Shot Put.

Dominic Montere of Salesianum High school, Wilmington, Del., established a new meet record in the shot put of 50 feet 5½ inches, nearly a foot better than the former record of 49 feet 8½ inches set by Hippo Palmer of Philadelphia's Northwest Catholic High in 1936.

The standings of the teams follow:

West Catholic, Philadelphia, 11; St. George, Evanston, Ill., 9; Fenwick, Oak Park, Ill., 4; De Paul, Chicago, 4; St. Ignatius, Chicago, 4; Mount Carmel, Chicago, 3; St. Rita, Chicago, 2; Leo, Chicago, 1; St. Mel, Chicago, 1; Salesianum, Wilmington, Del., 1.

St. George a Threat.

St. George High, Chicago city [illegible]olic champion, appears as the [illegible] threat to West Catholic, which won the championship four years in a row. Qualifiers for tomorrow's finals follow:

SHOT PUT—Montere, Salesianum; Albarvich, St. Rita; McParland, St. George; Powers, St. George; Kruger, Fenwick; Miller, West Catholic; McKerman, West Catholic; McGurn, St. George. Best distance, 50 feet 5½ inches, by Montero. [New meet record. Old record 49 feet 8½ inches by Palmer of Northwest Catholic, Philadelphia, 1936.]

120 YARD HIGH HURDLES—Carey and Graham, West Catholic; Bartnik, De Paul; Crouse, St. George; Basko, Mount Carmel; Keehan, St. Ignatius. Best time by Carey, 16.4 seconds.

BROAD JUMP—Sharkey and Murphy, West Catholic; Patrick, Leo; Mongeau, Mount Carmel; Geralts, St. Rita; Van Goethem, St. George; Brock, St. Mel; Hilgartner, Mount Carmel. Best distance by Sharkey, 20 feet 8 inches.

100 YARD DASH—Schiewie, St. Ignatius; Dougherty, De Paul; Wieland, St. George; Maloney, Fenwick; Callaghan and McFalls, West Catholic. Best time, 10.2 seconds by Schiewie.

200 YARD LOW HURDLES—Read and Carey, West Catholic; Bedesseo and Weiland, St. George; Bartnik and Dougherty, De Paul. Best time, 23.6 seconds by Carey.

220 YARD DASH—Schiewie and Sheridan, St. Ignatius; Maloney and Thomas, Fenwick; Huster, St. George; McFalls, West Catholic. Best time, 22.2 seconds, by Schiewie.

U. S. Leads in WightmanCup Matches, 2 to 1

WIMBLEDON, England, June 10.—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody, supremely confident, brought her terrifying forehand drive back to Wimbledon's center court today and led the United States as it took a 2 to 1 lead over Great Britain in the opening day's battle for the Wightman cup.

Returning at the age of 33 and after a two year absence, Mrs. Moody played fourteen minutes of tennis which the crowd in general and Peggy Scriven in particular won't forget. Ten minutes before Kay Stammers had beaten Alice Marble, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3. So Helen took no chances.

Peggy Waves at Shots.

She fairly battered the ball to the deep corner, clipped it just inside the sidelines, and drove it to Peggy's feet—and Peggy just ran and waved at the shots as they went by. After that first set, which won, 6-0, Mrs. Moody, with her sweater still on, took it easy, and Peggy got in a few good left handed swipes before losing the second, 7-5.

Once the Americans had drawn level as the result of that match, Miss Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Boston put them in front with a 6-4, 6-2 doubles victory over Margot Lumb and Freda James.

Odds on Americans Drop.

Favorites at 5-1 before today's matches, the American girls tonight had dropped to 2 to 1.

Tomorrow's first match sends Mrs. Fabyan against Miss Lumb. Then follows the Moody-Stammers encounter, another singles match between Miss Marble and Miss Scriven, and the concluding double with Mrs. Moody and Dorothy May Bundy facing Evelyn Dearman and Joan Ingram.

HORSE SHOW TO BEGIN TODAY AT SOUTH SHORE

One hundred and eight show horses, representing every prominent stable in the Chicago area, will compete today and tomorrow in the South Shore country club show. There will be morning and afternoon sessions today, beginning at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Tomorrow's program will open at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The event, revived last year after a two year lapse, will be held in an exhibition ring built on the lake front. Horses will be exhibited by their owners or members of the owners' families. No professional handlers can be used.

GOMEZ'S HURLING, DICKEY'S HOMERS BEAT INDIANS, 8-2

Yankees Cut Cleveland's Lead to 2½ Games.

New York, June 10.—(AP)—The New York Yankees today whipped the league leading Cleveland Indians, 8 to 2, and took second place, two and a half games back of the leaders.

Lefty Gomez regained his hurling form, allowing the Indians eight hits, and made two of the Yanks' thirteen hits, by all odds the game's most miraculous clouting. Bill Dickey, his battery mate, dropped his eighth and ninth homers into the lower deck of the right field stands and added a single. Lou Gehrig also hit a circuit drive, his seventh of the season.

TIGERS WIN, 7-6.

Washington, D. C., June 10.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers came from behind to win a 7 to 6 victory over the Washington Senators today in ten innings.

A collision between Second Baseman Ossie Bluege and Rookie Centerfielder George Case, both going after Rudy York's pop fly, let in the winning run. The ball dropped safely for a double, and York traveled the rest of the way around the bases on Fox's sacrifice and Laabs' grounder to the infield.

MOON MULLINS—HAIR IN EMMY'S SOUP

6-11
YEH-I TOLD HER WHAT DID SHE WANTA GO PLAYIN' AROUND WITH A OLD GUY LIKE HIM FOR WHEN I AIN'T GOT ANYTHING TO DO.
SHE SAID FOR ME TO COME OVER TO THE "SOAKMORE" AND SEE HER SOME TIME.
GEE! SHE'S SWELL BLUE EYES, RED HAIR AND—
OH, IS THAT SO? WELL, I THINK I'LL GO SEE IF THAT RED HAIR OF HERS IS REAL.
THE "SOAKMORE," DRIVER.
FER TH' LOVA MIKE! WHAT'D SHE THINK A LITTLE KID, SIX YEARS OLD, WOULD BE WEARIN' A WIG FOR, ANYWAY?

LINDBLOM NINE PLAYS CALUMET TODAY FOR TITLE

Calumet and Lindblom will meet in Comiskey park today for the Chicago Public High School league baseball championship. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock.

McGreal of Calumet and Harder of Lindblom, both right handers with records of seven victories each in league competition during the past season, are expected to be the opposing pitchers.

Calumet has never won the city title, but Lindblom has been champion twice—in 1923 and 1928. Both teams were runnerups in their section this spring, Lindblom finishing second to Tilden in the Central division and Calumet placing behind Harper in the south section.

Lyons Assigned Task of Halting Red Sox Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., June 10.—Ted Lyons has been announced as the White Sox pitcher for tomorrow's game here. Gunboat Marcum has been named for the Red Sox.

Manager Jim Dykes, who remained in New York last night to talk trade with Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees, rejoined the team this morning, but fetched no Yanks along.

It was ladies' day, and many beautiful women were present. The lady crashers here are a great deal like they used to be in Chicago years ago—sorta green in baseball matters. When Mike Kreevich's fourth inning homer bounced back on the field the girls thought it didn't count, and hollered mysteriously.

Luke Appling was restored to the active list today after 60 days on the voluntarily retired list. No date has been set for his return to action.

his first of the year, two doubles and a single, all knocked when he was not fiddling around with sly hit and run business which has had him tangled up so many times this season. Marv Owen rang up two doubles and a single and Rip Radcliff had three singles.

Pennant mad Boston had visions of a soft touch the first few seconds of the Red Sox offensive. Cramer smacked Stratton's first pitch for a double to left and Vosmik cracked a single off Monty's second pitch to score Cramer. At this juncture Stratton really started his big afternoon as pitcher and slugger. He retired the next three batters with the greatest of ease, then went over and got his bat.

After picking up his bat Monty had to wait a bit to use it. But he wasn't impatient and sat quietly by as the scene was set for his impending brutality. Radcliff opened the big second with a single to center and Walker walked. Every time Hayes has come up with men on bases recently he has wildly and publicly waved his hit and run sign. But somehow he restrained himself and bunted. Moreover, he beat out his intended sacrifice for a single, loading the bases. Sewell popped to Doerr.

Then Up Comes Monty.

Then Monty went to the plate. He liked Wagner's first pitch. He cut at the ball with great force and accuracy. It was a zooming line drive which cleared the left field wall. Radcliff, Walker, and Hayes trotted around to the plate and waited there for Monty to arrive. Then they escorted him gleefully toward the reception committee which rushed out from the Sox bench.

When the game resumed Berger didn't quite get into the spirit of things. Boze whiffed, but Owen came through with the first of his doubles after which Steinbacher walked, the fourth ball being a wild pitch on which Owen reached third. Kreevich then doubled, scoring Owen, but Steinbacher was out at the plate trying to score from first.

The White Sox made five more hits in the third, but they were held to two runs. Radcliff again opened with a single, and after Walker had flied out Hayes put on his hit and run semaphore, then failed to get a piece of the ball. On the flashing of the sign Doerr had gone to second to await Radcliff and get him on the throw from Desautels. Jackie, no longer hampered by inside baseball, socked the second of his four hits, a double, and he scored on Sewell's single. Stratton singled, putting Sewell on third, and Berger singled, scoring Sewell. Owen lined to Foxx.

Kreevich Drives One Out.

Kreevich's first homer, his fourth of the year, gave the Chicagoans their eighth run in the fourth, and in the fifth one was added on Hayes' second double, Sewell's sacrifice, and a balk.

The sixth was good for two runs, accomplished on Steinbacher's single, the slight wounding of Kreevich by a pitched ball, Radcliff's third single, and a long fly by Walker, the only White Sox who did not get a hit during the game.

Owen's second double and Kreevich's second homer accounted for two runs in the eighth, and in the ninth Hayes' homer and singles by Stratton, Berger, and Owen rounded out the Chicago total.

Londos Tosses McMillen; Dempsey Fails to Referee

Henry Picard Leads National Open with 140

tonight who wondered if they might not still be on the grounds Sunday for the first open play-off since 1931. This opinion grows out of the fickle nature of the elements attendant upon Cherry Hills and the fact that men of the calibre of Metz, McSpaden, Guldahl, Cooper, Hines, and Dutra will not be overawed by Picard's name as a competitor. On the other hand, the Picard public points out that once Henry gets his teeth into a lead he's a hard one from whom to wrest it.

The qualifying limit for the final thirty-six holes, restricted to the low 60 scorers and ties for the first two rounds, was 155, and an even sixty managed to equal or better that figure. Among those who barely made the grade at 155 were Lawson Little of San Francisco; Al Huske of De Kalb, Ill., and Neil Christian of Yakima, Wash.

Chicago Delegation Is Cut.

The Chicago delegation of eighteen was reduced to nine for the double round tomorrow. The qualifiers included Dick Metz of the Mill Road Farm course, 73—68—141; Harry Cooper, unattached, 76—69—145; John Revolta, Evanston, 74—72—146; Jimmy Foulis, Ruth Lake, 74—74—148; Tommy Armour, Medinah, 78—70—148; Art Doering, Westward-Ho, 75—77—152; Bob Stupple, Skokie, 78—74—152; Horton Smith, Oak Park, 80—73—153, and Al Huske, De Kalb, 76—79—155.

Outstanding failure of the Chicago troupe was Ky Laffoon of Northmoor who finished outside with 81—76—157. Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis., the western amateur champion, who qualified from the Chicago district, was the leading amateur in the field with 150, based on a 74 yesterday and a 76 today.

Metz holed a six footer for his first bird at the third and, after dropping an eight footer for another at the eighth, he drove the rough off the ninth for a bogey. A four footer fell at the tenth and he was on the eleventh in two. Dick ran down a twelve foot try at the thirteenth, and he would have matched McSpaden's 67 except for the fifteenth, where he missed the green.

17 Indianapolis Race Drivers in Auto Field

Six of the first ten money winners and seventeen of the drivers who started in the 500 mile automobile race in Indianapolis on Memorial day are ready to perform tomorrow in the opening standard car races of the season on the Fair Grounds speedway, River road and North avenue, tomorrow.

Among the first ten prize winners who will be on hand are Floyd Roberts, the winner of the Indianapolis race; Ted Horn, Chet Miller, Chet Gardner, Tony Willman, and Frank Wearne. In addition Wilbur Shaw, 1937 winner and second this year, will be present to do the announcing.

26 Entries Listed.

Roberts will drive an exhibition against time in the same car which carried him to victory in Indianapolis. Another feature is the match race between Jimmy Snyder and Ronny Householder. Snyder holds the record for the fastest lap ever driven in Indianapolis, while Householder marked up the fastest qualifying time in the 1938 race.

Trials Begin at Noon.

Time trials will begin at noon. Racing will get under way at 2:30 o'clock. Nine events are on the program in addition to the time trials. The 14 fastest cars will be eligible for the 50 lap feature event.

Fight Decisions

At Dallas, Tex.—Wesley Ramey beat Al Manriquez [10].

HOLD REGATTA TOMORROW FOR SMALL CRAFT

Star Boats Race Today Off Jackson Park.

A small craft regatta for every type of sailing dinghy, paddling canoe and kayak, rowing shell, and aquaplane used in Chicago's harbors and park lakes, will be held tomorrow at Diversy beach, starting at 10:30 a. m. The program will be directed by the beach and golf section of the Chicago Park District. It is the first time craft from all parks and harbors have been brought together for a carnival. There will be no admission charge.

California Crews to Work Out.

The crack crews of the University of California will take a workout in the lagoon and lake during the regatta. The California oarsmen are on their way east, for the Poughkeepsie regatta.

Karl Hofinger, leading klepper kayak paddler of Chicago, will lead a small fleet of racing and cruising kayaks. Frostbite dinghies of the Park District's Rainbow fleet for boys, and from the Columbia, Chicago and Jackson Park yacht clubs, will compete.

Opening Star Class Series.

It will be the opening series for Star class yachts this season, with 22 foot entries from four yacht clubs, Jackson Park, Chicago, Columbia, and Sheridan Shore. Harry Nye Jr., who won the regatta last year, will defend his title with a new boat. The regatta will be completed tomorrow, when two races, at 10 a. m. and at 2:30 p. m., are sailed off Jackson Park Yacht harbor. The twenty advance entries received by R. A. Hess of the Jackson Park Yacht club, yesterday, follow:

Mrs. Hill, Patty Berg to Play in Trans-Mississippi Final

Tulsa, Okla., June 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City and Patty Berg of Minneapolis will meet tomorrow for the championship of the twelfth women's trans-Mississippi golf tournament. Mrs. Hill eliminated the 1937 champion, Betty Jameson of San Antonio, 4 and 3 in the semi-finals today. Miss Berg won from Mrs. Patty Newbold of Wichita, Kas., 1932 champion, 2 and 1.

FREIGHT TRAFIC IS REDUCED BY MEMORIAL DAY

Decline from Year Ago Total Is Narrower.

Reflecting inactivity of the Memorial day holiday, freight trafic declined sharply in the week ended June 4, but was not as far behind year ago figures as in the preceding week, according to the report of the Association of American Railroads yesterday.

A total of 502,624 revenue freight cars was loaded throughout the country last week, or somewhat better than preliminary estimates, which had put the total as low as 496,000 cars. The figure represents a decline of 59,437 cars, or 10.6 per cent, from the total of 562,061 cars in the preceding week. That total, in turn, was 3 per cent ahead of that in the week ended May 21.

Narrower Decline Shown.

Loadings were 186,363 cars, or 27.4 per cent, less than in the corresponding week of last year. The decline from two years ago amounted to 27.7 per cent. In the week ended May 28 loadings were 28.9 per cent less than a year earlier and 13.1 per cent under the 1936 figure. Totals were 29.6 and 20.2 per cent under year and two year ago figures in the week ended May 21.

Ore was the only class of freight to be moved in larger quantities last week than in the preceding week. The largest declines were in miscellaneous and less than carload freight.

Grain Exceeds Year Ago.

	Wk. ended. June 4.	Change from— Prev. wk.	Change from— Yr. ago.
Mdse L C L	130,036	−18,489	−19,298
Coal	86,599	−11,474	−18,258
Grain and prods.	26,332	− 7,012	+ 4,208
Live stock	11,366	− 684	+ 943
Forest products	24,503	− 2,338	−12,945
Coke	4,204	− 171	− 4,997

The Dow-Jones seasonally adjusted loadings index declined to 65, the lowest level this year, compared with 68 in the week ended May 28 and 90.8 a year ago.

Pittsburgh Sells Notes; Yield 4-10ths of 1 Pct.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 10.—(AP)—Pittsburgh today sold $425,000 one-year notes to the Chemical Bank and Trust company, New York, at a net interest rate of four-tenths of 1 per cent. The actual interest rate was one-half of 1 per cent, reduced by a $594 premium.

Reading Company.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information on the Reading company—E. S.

Answer: The Reading company operates a railroad system which serves a highly concentrated industrial, agricultural, and mining territory located in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware. About 1,456 miles of main track are directly operated and another 1,169 miles are operated by controled or jointly owned companies.

Lines of the system extend from Bound Brook, N. J., to Philadelphia, Reading, Harrisburg, Shippensburg, Williamsport, and Bethlehem, Pa. Other lines radiating principally from Philadelphia and Reading reach Wilmington, Del.; Lancaster, Pa.; Atlantic, N. J., and other cities. A connection from Bound Brook to the main New York City area is provided by the controled Central of New Jersey railroad.

Products of mines, chiefly coal, normally supply about 70 per cent of gross revenues. Manufactured goods and miscellaneous freight, usually rather profitable items, ordinarily supply another 20 to 25 per cent of revenues.

Bus and trucking service provide additional sources of income. The company also operates about 84 miles of electrified suburban passenger service in the Philadelphia suburban area.

The Reading has in the past been a good earner. Operations were in the black for every full year during the depression years. This year, however, has not started out in a very promising manner. Loss for the first quarter was $189,073, compared with net income of $2,049,796, or 96 cents a common share, in the corresponding 1937 period. April net operating income fell to $497,192 from $1,598,277 in April, 1937. The record of earnings in recent full years follows:

1935	51,373,733	5,714,173	2.08
1934	53,078,431	5,682,054	2.06
1933	49,464,052	6,715,523	2.80
1929	97,196,955	15,508,741	9.08

The Reading company has outstanding 559,824 shares of $50 par 4 per cent noncumulative first preferred, 839,413 shares of $50 par 4 per cent noncumulative second preferred, and 1,399,782 shares of $50 par common. The common is paying $2 a year at present. Large holders of the common include the Baltimore & Ohio and New York Central railroads.

The road reported current assets of $11,547,490 and current liabilities of $11,677,809 on March 31.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Top light hogs rose to a new two months' peak of $9.15 on yesterday's 5 to 10 cents higher opening market for stock under 225 pounds. However, the general market for butchers and sows remained unchanged. The average for the session was steady at $8.70.

Light receipts offset the effects of bearish reports from wholesale markets for fresh pork, which was weakened again as the result of warm weather and growing resistance from consumers.

Lamb prices declined again yesterday in Chicago as competition of southern shipments increased. The top for new crop natives dropped 35 cents to $9.65. Not enough cattle were received to put the market to a test yesterday. The supply of 500 changed hands at about steady rates.

"MERCY" DEATHS

Why they are not a medical issue

Is death preferable to living agony? Should so-called incurables be "put out of their misery"?

In tomorrow's COLOR GRAPHIC, Guy Murchie Jr. reviews the attitude of modern medical practice toward "mercy" killings—describes the conquest of today's incurable ills—tells many instances where the doctor by courage and skill has snatched a sufferer from the very jaws of death. RECORD WHEAT CROP FORECAST IN U. S. REPORT

1,046,000,000 Bushel Yield Predicted.

Wheat production in the United States this year promises to exceed all previous records, the department of agriculture reported yesterday in its monthly appraisal of crop prospects.

The government report forecast that the winter wheat crop, now being harvested, will total 761 million bushels, which, if realized, will be the largest yield since the record crop of 825 million bushels in 1931. The spring wheat crop, the department says, promises to yield 260 to 285 million bushels, indicating a combined harvest of possibly 1 billion 46 million bushels. The largest previous yield was in 1915, when the combined winter and spring crops aggregated 1 billion 9 million bushels.

Record Surplus Indicated.

The estimated 1938 crop, together with wheat remaining from 1937, is about 500 milion bushels in excess of probable domestic requirements, indicating the largest surplus in the history of the country.

The government estimates are based on conditions existing on June 1. Since that time reports on yields in Kansas and other states in the southwestern producing belt have proved to be below earlier estimates, suggesting that the government may find it necessary to revise its figures.

The estimated winter wheat yield of 761 million bushels compares with the final 1937 return of 685 millions and an average crop of 546 millions in the ten years from 1927-'36, a period which included four crop failures.

The department said it is too early to give more than a tentative estimate on spring wheat production, harvesting of which will not begin until August.

Basis for Spring Wheat.

It added, however, that the acreage sown and the condition of the crop on June 1 suggested that the yield would be between 260 and 285 million bushels. This would compare with the 1937 crop of 189 million bushels and a ten year average yield of 207 million bushels.

The United States normally consumes 625 to 675 million bushels of wheat a year, the amount varying according to the quantity fed to live stock. This year's indicated harvest will exceed prospective domestic needs by about 350 million bushels. In addition 200 million bushels were carried over from the 1937 crop, suggesting that the aggregate surplus this year will be between 500 and 550 million bushels. This is far in excess of the prospective export demand.

Crop Larger in Southwest.

The chief factor in the big increase in the prospective winter wheat yield is the condition of the crop in the southwestern states, whch in recent years have been on a subnormal production basis because of drouth. The estimated yields in these states are well above last year. The prospective crops in Illinois, Indiana, and certain other states are smaller than reported 1937 production.

The following table shows estimated 1938 winter wheat yields in bushels in the principal producing states compared with the government's May 1 estimates this year and the final production figures for 1937, with last three ciphers omitted:

	June 1, '38.	May 1, '38.	Fin. '37.
Pennsylvania	20,292	20,292	23,346
Indiana	33,728	34,720	34,592
Illinois	40,630	40,630	45,150
Michigan	19,580	18,690	18,426
Missouri	33,462	38,610	41,097
Nebraska	71,660	65,145	45,654
Kansas	192,777	192,777	158,040
Oklahoma	72,400	69,719	65,462
Texas	39,400	39,860	41,600
Montana	16,660	15,190	6,301
Idaho	16,038	15,309	14,388
Colorado	13,082	11,628	11,151
Washington	32,448	31,200	16,625
Oregon	15,392	15,065	16,580
California	13,579	13,946	16,758

A rye crop of 55 million bushels compared with 49 million bushels in 1937 was forecast by the government experts. In the ten year period 1927-'36 rye production averaged 36 million bushels.

The following table shows the government's rating of crop conditions on June 1 compared with the conditions existing on the same date last year and the average condition over a ten year period:

All spring wheat	77	69	87
Durum	73	77	88
Other spring	72	67	87
Oats	77	82	87
Barley	78	80	87
Hay, all	77	77	84
Hay, all tame	77	78	84
Hay, wild	74	68	83
Hay, clover, and timothy	77	79	85
Hay, alfalfa	81	79	85
Pasture	78	76	85
Apples	63	77	55
Peaches	60	66	59
Pears	61	68	67

The government reported that 50,677,000 acres of winter wheat will be harvested this year, an increase of about 8 per cent over 1937. The average yield of the 1938 crop was placed at 15 bushels, compared with 14.6 bushels per acre last year.

Argentine Corn Lower.

Washington, D. C., June 10.—(AP)—The agriculture department received cable reports today that the Argentine government's second official estimate placed that country's 1938 corn crop at 179,000,000 bushels, the smallest in fifteen years.

Such a yield, the department said, would be about half as large as last year's crop and 46 per cent below the average production for the 1931-'36 period. The short crop was attributed to drouth.

The department said Argentina would have an exportable surplus of less than 100,000,000 bushels, compared with 270,000,000 bushels exported during the season which ended March 31.

Wheat Steady Awaiting U. S. Crop Estimate

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .74⅝	$ .74⅝	$1.10¼
Corn	.57⅜	.57⅜	1.13⅞
Oats	.26½	.26½	.39⅝
Rye	.53⅜	.53⅜	.86⅝
Soy beans	.87	.86¼	1.47

Wheat futures closed about unchanged on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday after moving within a range of 1⅜ cents a bushel throughout a listless trading session. Price movements in most other grain contracts also were inconsequential.

Trading was restricted by the fact that the government crop estimate was to be released after the close. The activity of professional traders was confined mostly to evening up transactions and few appeared willing to make new commitments until the federal figures were known.

After opening about unchanged, prices moved up early in the session to new highs for the current movement on short covering and moderate strength in some outside markets.

Rallies Halted By Selling.

Realizing sales soon halted the advances, however, and prices dropped back. Other rallies also met with ample offerings throughout the day. Final prices were ⅛ cent a bushel lower to ⅛ cent higher.

Less pessimistic crop reports from Kansas and other southwestern wheat areas also tended to diminish buying enthusiasm. Good rains in the prairie provinces of Canada also made buyers cautious. Recent dispatches from western Canada have indicated the need of rain there.

Sales of wheat shippers were 154,000 bushels, bringing total sales so far this week to 558,000 bushels and so far this month to 668,000 bushels. Export business was estimated at 300,000 bushels, all Canadian wheat.

Wheat Higher at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg wheat futures gained 1⅜ to 3⅛ cents a bushel despite the beneficial rains in the western provinces, October and December contracts making the best gains.

Corn futures closed unchanged to ⅛ cent a bushel higher after moving with a half cent range throughout the session. Oats finished unchanged to ⅛ cent a bushel higher. Rye was unchanged to ⅛ cent a bushel higher. Soy beans closed ½ to ¾ cent a bushel higher.

ESTIMATE SALES OF STORES 16 PCT. BELOW YEAR AGO

The federal reserve board yesterday announced that sales of approximately 265 department stores in all sections of the United States were 16 per cent less in the week ended June 4 than in the corresponding week of 1937. A decline of 16 per cent from year ago figures also was shown for the four weeks ended June 4.

The department of commerce announced that daily average sales of variety stores during May were about 9 per cent less than in May, 1937. Sales recorded a decrease of 6 per cent, more than the estimated seasonal amount, compared with April, which this year included Easter business. Volume for the first five months this year was about 5½ per cent less than in the corresponding period in 1937.

Business Books

"When Capital Goes on Strike," by Arthur Dahlberg. [Harper & Bros., 49 East 33d street, New York, N. Y. Price $2.50.]

This book aims to show how and why it is that capital is said to be on strike at the present time. The author concludes that a limit is rapidly reached to the amount of further indebtedness which the government can incur by borrowing to create purchasing power. He suggests a tax against the holding of money as a solution of the hoarding problem. Dr. Dahlberg is the author of "Jobs, Machines, and Capitalism," and was for two years an economist in the research and planning department of the NRA.

"Investment Policies for Commercial Banks," by J. Harvie Wilkinson Jr. [Harper & Bros., 49 East 33d street, New York, N. Y. Price $2.50.]

Written primarily for bankers, this book is nevertheless a readable discussion of the fundamental policies of sound banking which the casual student of banking theory will find interesting.

"British Unemployment Policy—The Modern Phase Since 1930," by Ronald C. Davison. [Longmans, Green & Co., 114 5th avenue, New York, N. Y.]

The Problems of unemployment in Great Britain and the attempts at solution by the British government are discussed. The background period from the end of the world war to 1930 is sketched briefly in the first four chapters, with the rest of the book devoted to what has been done since that date, how and why it was done, and how it has worked in practice.

"Service Charges in Gas and Electric Rates," by Hubert Frank Havlik. [Columbia University Press, 2960 Broadway, New York, N. Y. Price $2.75.]

The author, an instructor in economics at Columbia university, presents a study of the theory and practice of gas and electric rate making, dwelling particularly on the problem of services charges. He presents arguments both for and against such charges, and suggests alternatives to the service charge, as well as the history of the development of these charges.

Jordan Urges Business Men to Save Nation

Declaring that America as well as the rest of the world has been brought close to disaster by events resulting from the world war, Dr. Virgil Jordan, president of the National Industrial Conference board, yesterday asserted before the Union League club that it is up to business leadership to save the nation. His talk was given as a part of the club's 'America, Wake Up" campaign.

Dr. Virgil Jordan.

Dr. Jordan said that the whole force of this country's private enterprise system—which might have been able to get it out of the troubles created by the world war—in the last five years has been paralyzed by the "academic incompetence, political confusion, and malicious persecution of government."

Urges Active Campaign.

Warning that it is impossible to make the American people respond to their duties by mere negative criticism of the Washington administration and its leaders, Dr. Jordan presented for the consideration of American business leadership a definite program which he said he believed would help bring the nation back to its feet.

Dr. Jordan said business should mobilize itself and proceed to its definite task in the traditional American way by industrial and local organization along state lines under the supervision of a national reconstruction council of business leadership. In each state existing business and labor organizations and the state government should create a state reemployment council which should assume three specific responsibilities of action.

Outlines Three Chief Aims.

These are, he said:

1. Securing from all employers in the state pledges of reëmployment during the next two years of a determined number of employable persons.
2. Establishment and operation of adequate facilities for retraining and rehabilitating workers not employable because of loss of skill and long unemployment, using in part private resources and in part public work relief funds for this purpose.
3. Establishment of business leadership as an advisory and supervisory agency to assist in the effective administration of public funds for direct relief and work relief within the state, with coördinated sub-committees in each community.

Would Guide Government.

"When these state and local organizations have been established and this mechanism of private action is in operation," Dr. Jordan said, "then, and then only, the national council should present to congress and to the public a specific statement of the assistance which is required of the federal government for the effective accomplishment of this effort."
ment of currencies," Dr. Jordan explained.

If America is to be saved from the danger of losing the liberties of its citizens and of insolvency, he declared, business must act quickly to take over the job at which government has failed. The next two years will be the decisive test of business capacity for leadership, he said.

The National Industrial Conference board, of which Dr. Jordan is the head, is a fact finding, economic organization supported by many of the nation's leading industrial companies.

AUTO INDUSTRY IS CHEERED BY RISE IN OUTPUT

Detroit, Mich., June 10.—(AP)—Ward's Automotive Reports noted a "more cheerful air" over the automobile industry today in estimating production for the week at 40,175 units, compared with 26,980 last week and 118,798 for this week a year ago.

The survey said that "orders coming to the factories since the first of the month have been better than expected in many cases and as a result schedules were being lengthened."

"It now appears," the publication added, "that there will be no complete shutdowns of consequence before the middle of July."

ITALIAN SHIPS LOAD ASPHALT AT PLANTS SEIZED BY MEXICO

TAMPICO, Mexico, June 10.—[Special.]—The merchant ship Arsa of Trieste, flying the Italian flag, is expected here to load a cargo of asphalt from what were formerly the American owned Pierce and Sinclair refineries. The Arsa will be the third Italian ship to take asphalt since the expropriation of American and British properties in Mexico.

Despite the fact that Mexican officials try to keep such shipments secret, it is known that the Italian-registered ship Tuscania loaded 20,000 barrels of asphalt on May 28 and the Italian-registered Livenza 15,000 barrels on April 21.

A large part of the Mexican oil shipments has gone to Germany. Two tanker loads of oil have gone to Brazil, which has nationalized oil refining, and others are expected to go there.

Crude oil production in Mexico during April was below 700,000 barrels, or about 15 per cent of average monthly output prior to expropriation of foreign oil properties in mid-March.

MAY DROP PLANS TO REORGANIZE ROCK ISLAND RY.

Indications that the reorganization plan of the Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific railroad may be dropped because of the delay in getting it into operation were given yesterday by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson when he entered an order directing that the trustees pay $11,000 franchise tax for 1935 to the state of Missouri. A reorganization plan is now before the interstate commerce commission.

"Reorganization proceedings have been pending for almost five years," Judge Wilkerson said. "A plan of reorganization has not yet reached the court. It is not a remote possibility that the proceedings may fail because there has not been a speedy reorganization of the debtor. In this situation it is important that the debtor corporation keep its house in order and be ready to assume the duties cast upon it by statutes if this suit is dismissed."

The suit referred to by Judge Wilkerson was the bankruptcy action. The judge explained that he was ordering the trustees to pay the $11,000 franchise tax in Missouri so that its title to operate could be kept unclouded.

FORD PERMITTED TO APPEAL LABOR BOARD'S ORDER

Covington, Ky., June 10.—(AP)—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals permitted the Ford Motor company today an appeal to the Supreme court a national labor relations board order of Dec. 22 requiring compliance with the Wagner labor act. The court refused the board permission to withdraw records in the case until the appeal is disposed of.

The court overruled five Ford motions, including one seeking leave to interrogate labor board members and federal administration advisers, relative to formulation of the original order. Petition for oral arguments was denied.

Ford had proposed questioning J. Warren Madden, labor board chairman, and Benjamin Cohen and Thomas Corcoran, advisory aids of President Roosevelt; attachés of the Detroit and Washington offices of the board, witnesses, and others.

The court also overruled Ford's motion for a "confessed judgment" against the board through the latter's failure to answer certain questions.

U. S. STEEL MAY SHIPMENTS DIP TO 465,081 TONS

Shipments of finished steel by the United States Steel corporation during May totaled only 465,081 tons, a decrease of 36,891 tons from April shipments and a drop of 838,958 tons from the 1,304,039 tons shipped in May, 1937, the company announced yesterday.

May shipments were slightly under 32 per cent of capacity, the lowest so far this year. Average daily shipments in May were 18,603 tons, compared with 19,306 in April and 52,162 tons in May, 1937.

For the first five months of this year, shipments aggregated 2,532,297 tons, compared with 6,345,724 tons in the corresponding period of 1937, a decrease of 60 per cent.

Singer Sewing Machine Cuts Extra Dividend

The Singer Manufacturing company, sewing machine maker, reduced its usual extra dividend and four other corporations reduced ordinary dividend payments yesterday. Two dividend omissions also were announced.

The payments to be made June 30 by Singer are $1.50 quarterly and $1.50 extra, compared with $1.50 quarterly and $2.50 extra on March 31 and in each quarter of last year.

The California Packing company, after maintaining common dividends on a regular 37½ cent quarterly basis since 1934, cut its Aug. 15 payment to 25 cents. Other dividends reductions were ordered by the Hinde and Dauch Paper company, the International Vitamin corporation, and Plough, Inc.

Two Dividends Omitted.

Pacific American Fisheries, Inc., directors voted to omit the July dividend. The Consolidated Coppermines corporation also took no dividend action.

An interim common dividend of 10 cents was declared by Reed Drug company, operating in Illinois and Wisconsin. The company said the last half of the year usually is better than the first half and that further dividend consideration will be postponed until late this year.

Among those declaring usual dividends was the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, which will make its $1 semi-annual payment on the 1,500,000 common shares outstanding since the 25 per cent stock dividend on Feb. 1.

BALTIMORE-OHIO WILL ADD TWO DIESEL ENGINES

Two new 3,600 Diesel-electric locomotives will be placed in service soon by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad between Washington and New York, the road announced yesterday. Built in the La Grange plant of the Electro-Motive corporation, one of the locomotives will be turned over to the Baltimore & Ohio today and the other will be delivered in a few days.

These new locomotives, which cost $360,000 apiece, are duplicates of the Diesel-electrics which draw the Capitol Limited between Chicago and Washington, D. C. They will bring to a total of eight the number of Diesel-electrics now in service on the road.

The two new locomotives will haul the streamlined Columbian and Royal Blue trains between New York and Washington.

TRUST LOOTING BLAMED ON BIG STOCKHOLDERS

Sale Forced, Former President Asserts.

New York, June 10.—[Special.]—Five large stockholders of the Insuranshares corporation of Delaware forced its sale to the men alleged to have looted it, Harry M. Blair, former president, testified today at the Securities and Exchange commission's hearing on charges of investment trust stripping.

Blair identified the shareholders as the Continental Bank and Trust company, Arthur G. Logan, receiver for the Seaboard National bank [both of New York], and three banks in Philadelphia.

"I didn't want to sell," he said. "I was getting a salary of $7,500 a year. As a matter of fact, I would have blocked the sale if the Philadelphia banks had stood by me for a fight."

Charges Barnes "Looted."

Except in size, Blair told Adrian C. Humphreys, the SEC trial examiner, there was virtually no difference in the way Howard F. Hansell Jr., S. Leo Solomont, Thomas W. Morris, and Ralph H. Robb treated Insuranshares in 1938 from the way Frank H. Cohen and Julius H. Barnes, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, treated it in 1932.

In that year, said Blair, the Founders group [in which United Founders corporation controled American Founders] sold the management stock of this $15,000,000 trust to three individuals, including Barnes and Cohen, who incorporated as the Insurance Equities corporation. The management stock was sold to them on the instalment plan for about $1,500,000, of which they paid all but $175,000.

On the day the deal went through Insurance Equities sold $650,000 of its preferred stock to Insuranshares. It then took securities from the Insuranshares portfolio and turned them over to a bank to retire the loan which had made possible the original instalment.

Sold Good Stocks.

"They [Barnes and Cohen] continued selling the good dividend paying stock in banks and insurance companies and buying what they supposed would be control in insurance companies," said Blair, who joined the board of Insuranshares shortly after the events described. "They paid control prices for minority holdings, most in nondividend paying stocks which they had gone out and acquired at the lowest prices in the history of insurance companies."

Cohen and Barnes, he said, took losses of $11,834,189 on the portfolio. By the end of 1933 the portfolio could have been liquidated at not more than $300,000. The technique, Blair admitted, was exactly the same as that employed by those who took over his company from him in October last year.

Blair estimated that the value of the marketable securities in the Insuranshares portfolio at its transfer was $500,000.

"And for that," said Schenker, "the trust now has $175,000 in Bond and Share Trading corporation and $375,000 in the preferred stock of Northern Fiscal.

"The big stockholders did it; not Harry M. Blair," Blair asserted.

Witnesses Provide Surprises.

Under the rapid questioning of David Schenker, chief of SEC counsel on the case, today's witnesses provided surprises. William A. Gutekunst, former president of the Bond and Share Trading corporation, told how he had sold control of it, receiving $12,000 in cash and $131,000 in securities out of its own portfolio.

Irving T. Rossi, now president of Reynolds, told of his injection into the deal by which Alexander B. Beverly and the Continental Securities corporation were buying the secured notes of the South American Utilities corporation from a group headed by the Chase National bank.

Rossi quoted Wilford Binch, Beverly's lawyer, as saying that "We are anxious to clean out the people who put up the money and after that come back into the situation and get the advantage of the money put up."

Received Only $22,000 Cash.

Gutekunst said he, Frank U. Irwin, and C. F. Coombs had founded the Bond and Share Trading corporation, which was sold on Jan. 8 through former Sessions Judge F. X. Mancuso. At that time, Gutekunst said, it might have been liquidated for $185,000 to $225,000. The selling price of control was $153,000, but Gutekunst said he had agreed to buy back from Insuranshares, the purchaser, $131,000 worth of the securities in the portfolio. He therefore received only $22,000 in cash and had to turn $10,000 of that back for transfer stamps.

Corn Grind Is Increased, but Runs Below Year Ago

The Corn Industries Research Foundation reported yesterday that 5,202,725 bushels of corn had been ground during May for use in products of eleven refiners of starches, sirups, and sugars. This compared with a grind of 5,141,138 bushels in April and 6,572,464 bushels in May, 1937.

Call U.S.Slump Worse than in Other Nations

Washington, D. C., June 10.—[Special.]—The present business depression is more severe in the United States than in any other industrial country in the world, the federal reserve board said today in its monthly bulletin on conditions.

The manufacture of war materials in other countries was pointed out, however, as one of the principal supports to business activity, many other industries showing almost as poor results as in the United States.

"Neither England nor any other industrial country abroad is experiencing a recession as precipitous as that which developed in the United States last autumn," the report said, "although the business decline in Belgium—particularly in the iron and steel industry—has been marked and minor downturns are in evidence elsewhere.

Germany, Japan Gain.

"Among the major industrial countries the situation is mixed. There has been no interruption, other than seasonal, to the steady advance of German production. In Japan, output of heavy industries has continued to grow under the impetus of war needs, while production of several consumption goods, especially of textiles, has declined."

The report pointed out that in England armament production has to a great extent merely replaced normal activity, with construction, automobile, and textile indices pointing downward. France, it said, never has recovered from the depression lows except for occasional monthly upturns.

The political unrest in France has helped to prevent any semblance of a sustained recovery in that country, the board indicated.

Fear Foreign Trade Drop.

Doubt was cast on the ability of the United States to maintain its recent $100,000,000 monthly excess of exports over imports, which Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau recently cited as proof of the success of "managed money" in the United States through use of the stabilization fund.

Countries which produce raw materials continued to buy large quantities of manufactured goods in the United States for some time after American manufacturers started to reduce raw material purchases last fall, the board said, but added:

"A review of the current situation in the raw material countries, which took considerably more than half the exports of the United States in 1937, shows that their purchases of foreign commodities, although maintained for some time after exports declined, have in many cases started to decline."

Foreign Money Withdrawn.

On the international flow of money the board said:

"The withdrawal of foreign funds from the United States, which has been in progress with few interruptions since last September, was intensified early in May by French developments. . . . However, little gold left the country because the withdrawal of funds was "offset by a continued surplus of merchandise exports."

AM. TELEPHONE QUORUM TAKES 40 PCT. OF SHARES

New York, June 10.—(AP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph company has increased the amount of stock necessary to constitute a quorum at stockholders' meetings to 40 per cent of the total outstanding, from 25 per cent, it was disclosed today.

The action was taken at the suggestion of the New York Stock exchange in line with that organization's effort to induce corporations generally to give shareholders adequate representation at meetings. The drive of the exchange was directed particularly at companies which fixed a low percentage of total stock as constituting a quorum.

In the case of American Telephone, however, it was pointed out that even under a 25 per cent quorum the company invariably had more than a majority of its stock represented at stockholders' meetings. Its approximately 18,600,000 shares of capital stock are held by more than 600,000 individuals.

Dividends Paid Credit.

The dividends paid credit allowable on corporation incomes in computing federal income tax is composed of the basic surtax credit, the dividend carry-over, the accumulated deficit, and amounts used to pay debts contracted before Dec. 31, 1937.

The basic surtax credit is the sum of dividends actually paid to stockholders, the "consent" dividends credit, and the credit for any net operating loss of the preceding year. Consent dividend credits are the amounts which stockholders have agreed, in writing, to include as income received in their personal tax schedules, without actual payments being made by the corporation. Such amounts are treated as dividends paid and then reinvested in the corporation.

The total basic surtax credit may not be in excess of the net income. Then net operating loss credit is applicable only for years beginning after Dec. 31, 1938. It is the amount by which deductions allowable for tax purposes exceed gross income of the preceding year, the gross income including any tax-exempt interest.

U. S. FORMS UNIT TO STABILIZE BUTTER MARKET

Uses 'Ever Normal' Granary Plan.

Formation of a government financed corporation, with headquarters in Chicago, to stabilize butter prices by applying the "ever-normal granary" surplus storage plan to butter was announced yesterday by Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace. The new agency is the Dairy Products Marketing Association, Inc., an organization of dairy producer coöperatives. It will be headed by John Brandt, president of the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., a coöperative marketing agency.

RFC to Advance Funds.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation, under commodity loan provisions of the new farm act, will advance funds to the association for purchase not to exceed 50 million pounds of butter between now and April 30, 1939.

The "ever-normal granary" program calls for buying and storing of butter when prices are low and unloading it on the market when supplies have fallen and prices have advanced. Transactions will be made on commodity exchanges and in the open market.

Officials of the department of agriculture said that the step had been taken because butter production this spring has substantially exceeded normal output. As a result, butter prices have moved almost steadily downward despite the supporting prop of the Federal Surplus Commodity corporation, which since Feb. 14 has bought some 13,000,000 pounds of butter for distribution through government relief agencies.

Lets Price Peg Slip.

The FSCC first purchased "extras" [92 score] butter in February at 29½ cents, but it has gradually let the peg slip to a 24¼ to 24½ cent range. Whether buying for relief distribution will be lessened, eliminated, or unchanged because of the new organization's formation was not announced yesterday. The FSCC, unlike the new association, was not permitted to resell butter. The new resale program provides that the butter is not to be sold until prices are high enough to cover the purchase price, handling and storage costs, and a small additional amount, officials in Washington said.

Predicts Halt in Decline.

Brandt, in Minneapolis, predicted that the purchase program, combined with a nation-wide drive to increase consumption of dairy products, would halt the price decline of butter.

Butter futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange, stimulated by reports of the new plan, yesterday gained ¼ cent a pound to the best closing level since June 2. Novembers finished at 25½ cents a pound. FSCC buying was confined to 14,000 pounds of 89 score butter at 23 cents.

RENEWED RUMOR OF DEVALUATION WEAKENS DOLLAR

Renewed rumors of dollar devaluation caused American currency to depreciate in value in foreign exchange transactions yesterday. The devaluation rumors were linked with the heavy buying of gold in the London market, where $5,650,802 of the metal was reported taken by undisclosed buyers.

The British pound showed the most strength, rising a full cent to $4.96⅛. The French franc advanced 0.005 cent and other European currencies made moderate gains.

Aside from the heavy gold purchases there were no developments to indicate that President Roosevelt is contemplating the exercise of his power to effect a further devaluation of the dollar. Specific denial that such a move was considered was made earlier this year by the President.

The commerce department confirmed the reported arrival in New York last week of $2,150,000 of silver coins from the loyalist Spanish government. The Spanish coin was part of the $7,912,736 imported last week, one of the largest totals for several months. The Franco government in Spain has started legal action to obtain title to the coin.

New Financing Declines; Still Exceeds Year Ago

New York, June 10.—(AP)—New financing this week amounted to $41,103,505, compared with $208,695,000 the preceding week and $10,685,000 the corresponding week last year, a compilation of Poor's Publishing company showed today. The comparative table showed:

Chesapeake Meetings Scheduled for June 14

Baltimore, Md., June 10.—[Special.]—The special and annual meetings of Chesapeake corporation stockholders scheduled for today again were postponed until June 14.

United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, Washington, D. C., June 1, 1938. Notice is hereby given that the Secretary of Agriculture, under authority conferred on him by the Plant Quarantine Act of August 20, 1912 (37 Stat. 315), as amended, has promulgated a revision, effective July 1, 1938, of the rules and regulations supplemental to Notice of Quarantine No. 63, on account of the white-pine blister rust. This revision makes extensive changes in the requirements relating to the interstate movement of five-leafed pines and currant and gooseberry plants. Copies of the revised regulations may be obtained from the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 10.—The stock market today encountered resistance following yesterday's abrupt run-up and prices gave way fractions to a point. The majority of net changes was of the fractional variety, however. Although there was no selling of consequence, offerings were sufficiently heavy to force concessions.

A number of adverse developments served to keep Wall street sentiment at low ebb, according to observers. Foremost was said to be the delay in the adjournment of congress because of squabbles over the wages and hours bill.

Steels sagged after opening steady. United States Steel, Bethlehem, and Youngstown incurred losses of a point or so. Coppers worked fractionally lower.

Superior Oil was moderately active in its group and a shade higher, but regularly active stocks in the group ruled unchanged to fractionally lower.

General Electric in the electric equipments was the most actively traded issue of the day and dropped a substantial fraction. Westinghouse lost 2⅛ points. Losses in the farm machinery group ranged from a fraction for Allis-Chalmers to 2⅞ points for J. I. Case.

New York Bonds.

New York, June 10.—(AP)—United States government issues and utility liens held a good part of the buying interest in today's bond market. Rails retreated.

Extending their recent upturn, the federals closed 1-32d to 6-32ds higher. Firmness of utilities was associated with reports some important companies were planning to take advantage of the capital market revival for debt refunding which would cut interest charges.

Rails were offered in small volume, but support was poor and the Associated Press average dipped through the March low to a new minimum since June 2, 1932. The drop was attributed to discouraging word from Washington on the status of proposed legislation to enlarge the lending powers of the RFC.

Polish, Italian, and Belgian loans led an upturn in the European sections of the foreign list. Japanese issues were heavy.

Chicago Stocks.

Showing only fractional changes, Chicago stocks moved irregularly in listless trading yesterday. Commonwealth Edison rights continued to hold the center of speculative interest, and made up 49,100 of the day's volume of 59,000 shares. Volume on the preceding day was 60,000, of which 49,300 were Edison rights.

Of the fifty-eight issues traded, sixteen were unchanged and the remaining forty-two were evenly divided between advances and declines. THE TRIBUNE average of twenty stocks finished at 8.21, off 0.14 for the day.

Edison rights moved within a 27 to 33 cent range and closed off 3 cents at 28. Merchants and Manufacturers stock closed ⅛ higher at 4⅛ on sales of 1,100 shares. Zenith Radio climbed ⅜ to 11¼. Commonwealth Edison stock slipped ¼ to finish at 25⅛; Marshall Field common, reacting from the preferred dividend omission on Thursday, dropped ⅝ to close at 7.

Bank Stocks.

Northern Trust company stock advanced $5 a share yesterday, being quoted at $495 bid, $503 asked. Harris Trust and Savings stock also recovered some of its recent losses, advancing $3 a share to $263 bid, $275 asked. City National eased $1 a share and other principal Chicago bank stock quotations were unchanged from Thursday.

Commodities

Trading in commodity futures was quiet yesterday after the decisive advance of Thursday, and closing prices were irregular. Cottonseed oil, tin, lead, and sugar contracts extended their gains of the preceding day, but rubber, cocoa, hides, and copper futures reversed their course to slip downward. Coffee and wool tops moved upward, but silk eased.

Raw hide futures fell 0.37 to 0.39 cent a pound. Crude rubber contracts were 0.04 to 0.08 cent a pound lower. The nominal price for spot smoked ribbed rubber advanced 0.04 to 12.06 cents a pound.

In the metals markets the spot price of export copper ranged up to 8.80 cents. Lead, zinc, and domestic copper prices were unchanged. Copper futures finished unchanged to 0.09 cent lower. Lead closed 0.04 to 0.05 cent higher, tin gained 0.85 cent, and zinc contracts were unchanged.

Cottonseed oil contracts, after advancing 0.06 to 0.11 cent a pound, slipped under profit realizing to close unchanged to 0.04 cent higher. Santos coffee gained 0.08 to 0.10 cent a pound and Rio was 0.03 to 0.05 cent higher.

MORE COMPANIES SHOW MODERATE DIP IN EARNINGS

International Telephone Has Gain in Quarter.

Moderately lower earnings were shown in most interim reports issued yesterday, largely by utility companies, including the United Light and Power company, Electric Power and Light corporation, the New York Telephone company, and the United Gas corporation.

An exception in the utility group was the International Telephone and Telegraph corporation which had an increase in earnings for the March quarter over the first three months of 1937.

Among nonutility firms reporting First National Stores, Inc., showed a substantial drop in profits for the fifty-three weeks to April 2. Losses were recorded by the Pines Winterfront company for the year ended April 30 and the Reynolds Spring company for the March quarter.

Phone Company Gains.

March quarter net income of International Telephone, excluding income or losses from Spanish subsidiaries, climbed to $2,299,336, or 36 cents a share, from $1,658,438, or 26 cents a share, in the first three months of 1937.

United Light and Power company and three units in its system showed lower net income for the twelve months to April 30, despite moderate increases in gross operating revenues. With gross rising for the period to $89,533,597 from $86,563,380 in the preceding twelve months, United Light showed a drop in net profit to $4,772,940, or 33 cents a common share, from $5,216,036, or 46 cents a share, in the preceding twelve months.

Reports Profit Downturn.

April net income of the New York Telephone company, a member of the Bell system, dropped to $2,577,993 from $3,181,955 in April, 1937. Gross revenues for the month were slightly lower, totaling $17,063,599 against $17,420,885.

First National Stores, Inc., had net profit for the fifty-three weeks to April 2 of $2,705,191, against $3,647,002 in the fifty-two weeks to March 27, 1937. Earnings fell to $3.14 a common share from $4.24.

Pines Winterfront company, Chicago, maker of automobile radiator shutters, had a net loss in the year ended April 30 totaling $186,019, compared with loss of $316,308 in the preceding fiscal year. Net sales increased to $808,730 from $730,465.

Universal Pictures company, Inc., for the thirteen weeks ended April 30, had consolidated net loss of $199,487, against loss of $105,069 in the corresponding 1937 period.

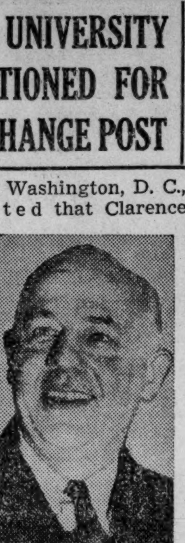
WISCONSIN UNIVERSITY HEAD MENTIONED FOR STOCK EXCHANGE POST



Clarence A. Dykstra.

A dispatch from Washington, D. C., yesterday reported that Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin, has been added to the list of persons from which the paid presidency of the New York Stock exchange may be selected.

Paul H. Davis, Chicago, who was said to have submitted Dykstra's name, said yesterday that the suggestion had not originated with him. Davis, a member of the committee to make recommendations for president, explained that Dykstra was one of many suggested to the committee by letter, and passed on to the board of governors for consideration.

Dykstra was city manager of Cincinnati for seven years, leaving that position last year to step into the University of Wisconsin presidency.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Flora of Chicagoland

[Fleur de lis.]

June 10, 1938.

THE gayly colored fleur de lis, or wild iris, and the dark purple spiderwort contribute a lot of color to the woods of THE TRIBUNE's Du Page county farm this week. Both are growing along the little creek which flows through the woods. These two wild flowers, both predominantly purple, present an attractive contrast to the yellow and white ox-eye daisies which now are in blossom in the fields.

When June appears on the calendar we make a point of visiting one corner of the woods where we know the fleur de lis grow.

Boasts Several Names.

The other day we made this annual hike and found the purplish-blue flowers sticking their heads up from the stream bed, as well as from moist spots near the banks. It often is called the wild iris, and in some localities is known as the blue flag.

Its long, thin leaves are like those of the cultivated irises, and its graceful flowers also are like the garden variety.

The name fleur de lis which we commonly use for the stately wild iris has been borrowed from the French, and means "the flower of Louis." The name is derived from its selection by Louis VII. of France as the emblem of his reign. First named the fleur de Louis, the spelling later became corrupted to fleur de lis.

The fleur de lis may grow from one to three feet high. It is an interesting wild flower not only to the outdoor fan who admires its showy beauty but also to the botanist who regards it as a conspicuous example of a wild flower that has guarded itself against self-fertilization.

Enlists Aid of Bees.

The construction of the fleur de lis is such that outside help must be had in order to bring pollen of the stamens to the stigmas. But the fleur de lis doesn't have to worry.

Its blossoms are so large and attractive that they are certain to arrest the attention of passing bees. Then, too, its color is bright and conspicuous. And when a bee does land on a flower it drops to the only convenient landing place—one of the broad petals. Then the bee crawls deep into the base of the flower. And in so doing he just can't help but brush against the pollen and carry some away with him to the next flower, thus fertilizing it.

AID RAILROADS NOW, DECISION OF ROOSEVELT

Means Congress Will Be Kept in Session.

Roosevelt, however, took the ball away from congress and appointed his own committee, consisting of three I. C. C. members. Their recommendations were forwarded to congress, without recommendation, by Mr. Roosevelt a few weeks ago, when it was too late to begin consideration of a long range program. And as late as this morning he insisted that he had nothing to recommend; that it was up to congress.

Desired Law Seems Doomed.

With the administration finally decided upon stop-gap, emergency legislative program, it appeared that the legislation which the railroads desire more than anything else is doomed. That is the Pettengill long and short haul bill which would permit the roads to make special rates for through hauls and compete more advantageously with other forms of transportation. The legislation also is demanded by shippers, by important agricultural organizations, and by all the railroad unions.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis [D., Ill.] has been urged to make a motion for the senate to take up the long and short haul bill, which has passed the house and is on the senate calendar. He said today, however, that the railroads themselves were not in harmony and were blocking the legislation. Lewis also said he was reluctant to "go over the heads" of the interstate commerce committee of which he is not a member. He said he would urge Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.], who filed the majority report, to make the motion next week.

GREYHOUND CORP. SEEKS CONTROL OF TWO LINES

Washington, D. C., June 10.—(AP)—The Greyhound corporation asked the interstate commerce commission today for permission to acquire control of a majority of the voting stock of Northland Greyhound Lines, Inc., and Central Greyhound Lines, Inc.

The Greyhound corporation proposed to purchase in the open market 1,500 additional shares of Northland Greyhound common at a price not exceeding $27.50 a share, or a maximum of $41,250. Greyhound now has 49.57 per cent of Northland Greyhound's voting stock and an additional 1,500 shares would give it 50.57 per cent. The Great Northern railway has 45.83 per cent of Northland Greyhound's voting stock. Greyhound corporation plans to increase its 50 per cent holding of Central Greyhound to 55 per cent.

Greyhound corporation entered into a contract with the New York Central railroad to sell it 100,000 shares of class B common at $5 a share. It proposes to reduce this sale to 90,000 shares. The New York Central has agreed to the reduction, the company said.

LOSS REPORTED THIS YEAR BY N. Y. CENTRAL RY.

The New York Central railroad yesterday reported that it had a net loss of $2,940,000 for April after taxes and charges, against a net income of $1,158,397, equal to 19 cents a share on the common stock. For the first four months of this year the road had a net loss of $13,136,695, against a net income of $6,453,491, equal to $1.08 a share, in the like 1937 period. Other roads to report yesterday on net incomes included the following:

British Rail Speedster to Tour American Cities

New York, June 10.—(AP)—The "Coronation Scot," a streamlined locomotive which ran 114 miles an hour in a test, will make a tour of 38 American cities next year, Lord Stamp, chairman of the Associated British and Irish Railways, Inc., said today. Speaking at a luncheon given in his honor by transportation executives of this country, the baron said the itinerary included Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago, and Detroit.

U. S. Steel's Stockholders Are Increased to 171,456

New York, June 10.—[Special.]—United States Steel corporation common stock holders of record May 31 totaled 171,456, an increase of 4,184 since March 5, the company reported today. Preferred stock holders of record April 28 totaled 65,188, an increase of 1,322 since Jan. 28.

BOARD OF TRADE CHIEF DEFENDS GRAIN PRICE RULE

Predicts Early Accord in Controversy.

Kenneth S. Templeton.

Kenneth S. Templeton, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, yesterday defended the operation of the exchange rule governing price bidding of members for grain to be shipped to Chicago. The rule has been the subject of a controversy among members, some asserting that it is resulting in the loss of business to firms that are not members of the Board of Trade.

The rule restricts the bidding of members for grain in the country. The Cargill Grain company, recently expelled from membership on the exchange, has been buying grain at country points by outbidding exchange members who were limited by the exchange ruling.

What Rule Provides.

The rule provides that a member cannot offer a higher price for grain in the country than the posted price unless he gives notice to other members. It also fixes minimum commission charges on grain purchased in the country for shipment to Chicago. The rule is known among traders as the "call" rule, or "to arrive" rule.

Templeton based his defense of the rule on the grounds that it assures the farmer and country elevator operator a better market and higher prices for grain. A petition asking a vote of members on rescinding the rule was presented to the Board of Trade directors last Tuesday.

"I believe that many persons outside of the grain trade are of the opinion that the 'to arrive' rule tends to compel the farmer or country elevator operator to accept a lower price for his grain than he otherwise would receive if the 'to arrive' rule of the Chicago Board of Trade were not in existence," Templeton said. This impression is erroneous.

Makes Bids Public Records.

"The 'to arrive' rule, like any commission rule, merely provides for the orderly conduct of business in 'to arrive' grain. It does not prevent a member or non-member of the Board of Trade from bidding all he choses to bid for grain to arrive. It merely requires him to make such bids a public record, which in my opinion is the best procedure for all concerned, including the farmer.

"It is my opinion, too, that the 'to arrive' rule tends to give the farmer a better price for his grain than he otherwise would receive. The bids which go out to the country are bona fide bids and those making them must accept a certain amount of grain on their bids as registered. This provision in our rules on 'to arrive' grain assures the current terminal market price for the farmer's grain and makes a constant market at all times. The farmer is thereby provided a means of receiving the highest prices consistent with the law of supply and demand."

Predicts Early Agreement.

Templeton also asserted that the variance of opinion in regard to the rule among Board of Trade members is not as great as most persons outside the market believe. He predicted an early settlement of the differences.

A court battle over the old "call rule" of the Board of Trade was carried to the United States Supreme court where it was found not to be in restraint of trade. The majority opinion was handed down March 4, 1918, by Justice Louis D. Brandeis.

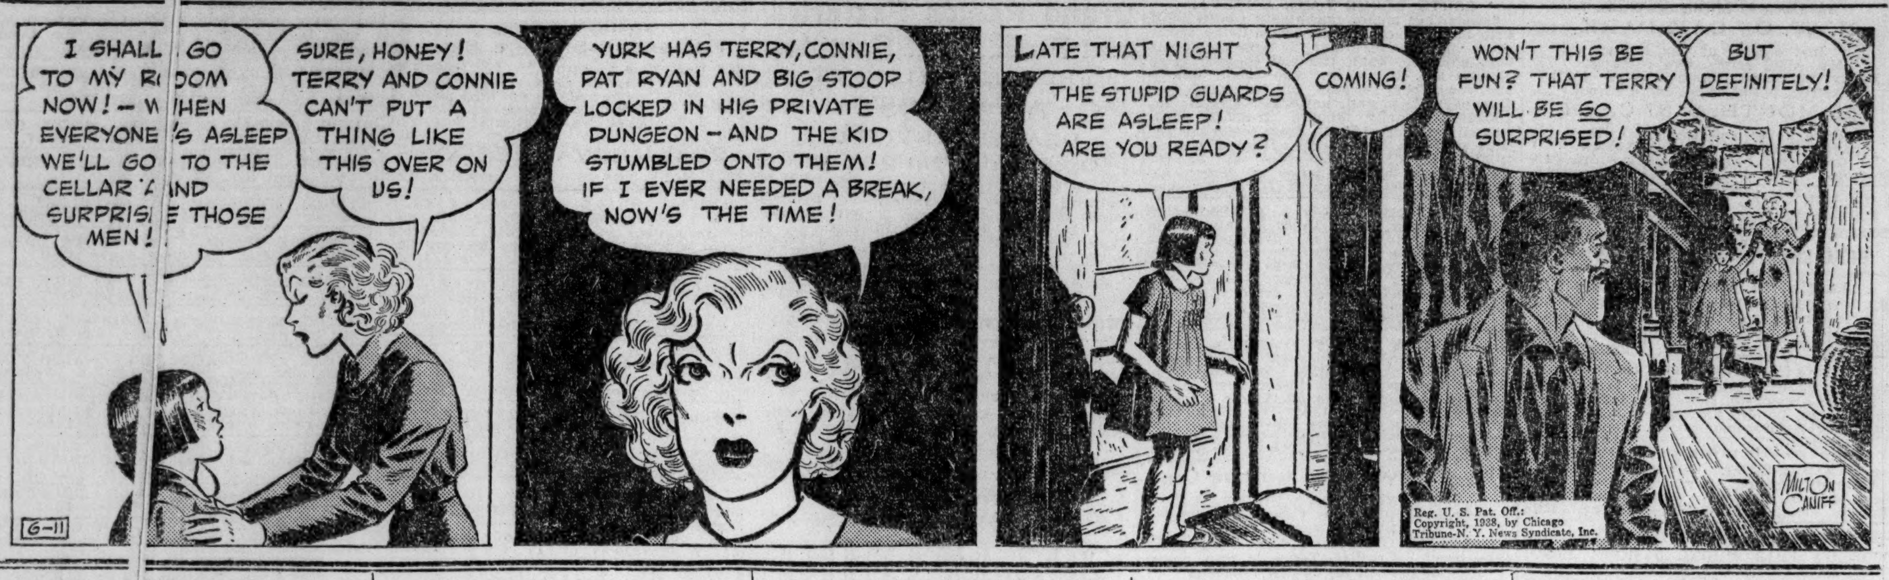
TERRY AND THE PIRATES: He's Not the Only One



I SHALL GO TO MY ROOM NOW! — WHEN EVERYONE'S ASLEEP WE'LL GO TO THE CELLAR AND SURPRISE THOSE MEN!
YURK HAS TERRY, CONNIE, PAT RYAN AND BIG STOOP LOCKED IN HIS PRIVATE DUNGEON — AND THE KID STUMBLED ONTO THEM! IF I EVER NEEDED A BREAK, NOW'S THE TIME!
LATE THAT NIGHT
THE STUPID GUARDS ARE ASLEEP! ARE YOU READY?
COMING!
WON'T THIS BE FUN? THAT TERRY WILL BE SO SURPRISED!
BUT DEFINITELY!
MILTON CANIFF

[Daylight Savings Time, 10 o'clock, Central Standard Time], at the location of the property of Chicago Heights Brewery, Inc., 1300-08 McKinley-avenue, Chicago Heights, Illinois, sell at public auction to the highest and best bidder, upon the conditions hereinafter specified all and singular the premises and real estate situated at 1300-1308 McKinley-avenue, Chicago Heights, Illinois, of Chicago Heights Brewery, which real estate is 150x293 feet, and is improved with a brewery consisting of power house, brew house, cellars, cooperage shops, and office buildings; machinery and equipment; power plant, refrigerator systems, tanks, kettles [cap. 10,000 bbls.], tools, fixtures, pumps, cooperage and switch track. Said sale shall be free and clear of liens and encumbrances as provided in said order of June 7, 1938.

Acceptance of any bid made at the said auction shall be subject to the approval of the United States District Court. Each bid must be accompanied by a deposit of twenty-five [25%] per cent of the purchase price, to be deposited with the undersigned, as liquidating trustee. The purchaser whose bid is approved by the court will receive an owner's guarantee policy of Chicago Title & Trust Company, subject only to the usual stock objections, and free and clear of all other liens and encumbrances.

JOSEPH STENSON,
Liquidating Trustee.
